

THE CRIMSON BLIND

BY FRED M. WHITE

"Lord Littimer was furiously angry when he heard that Frank and Claire had got on speaking terms. He imperiously forbade any further intercourse, and General Carfax did the same. The consequence was that these two foolish young people elected to fancy themselves greatly aggrieved, and so a kind of Romeo and Juliet, Montague and Capulet, business sprang up. There were secret meetings, meetings entirely innocent, I believe, and a correspondence which became romantic and passionate on Claire Carfax's side. The girl had fallen passionately in love with Frank, whilst he regarded the thing as a mere pastime. He did not know then, indeed nobody seemed to know till afterwards, that there was insanity in the poor girl's family, though Hatherly Bell's friend, Dr. Heritage, who then had a practice near Littimer, warned us as well as he could. Nobody dreamt how far the thing had gone."

"Then those letters of Claire's fell into Lord Littimer's hands. He found them and locked them up in his safe. Frank, furious at being treated like a boy, swore to break open the safe and get his letters back. He did so. And in the same safe he took the safe-drawer, was Prince Rupert's ring. When Lord Littimer missed the letters he missed the ring also and a large sum of money in notes that he had just received from his tenants. Frank had stolen the ring and the money, or so it seemed. I shall not soon forget that day."

"After taking the letters Frank had gone straight to Moreton Wells, and it looked for a little time as if he had fled. Within an hour of the discovery of his loss Lord Littimer met Claire Carfax on the cliffs. She was wearing Prince Rupert's ring. Frank had sent it to her, she said. Anybody but a man in a furious passion would have seen that the girl was not responsible for her actions. Littimer told her the true circumstances of the case. She laughed at him in a queer, vacant way and fled through the woods. She went down to the beach, where she took a boat and rowed herself out into the bay. A mile or more from the shore she jumped into the water, and from that day to this nothing further has been seen of poor Claire Carfax."

"Or the ring, either," David asked. "Or the ring, either. The same night Lady Littimer started after her boy. Littimer was going to have Frank prosecuted. Lady Littimer fled to Longbeach Grange, where Frank lived. Her then my uncle turned up, and there was a scene. It is said that Lord Littimer struck his wife, but Frank says that she fell against his gesticulating fist. Anyway, it was the same as a blow, and Lady Littimer dropped on the floor, dragging a table down with her, flowers and china and all. You have seen that table in Longbeach Grange. Since then it has never been touched, the place has never been swept or dusted or seriously cleaned. You have seen my aunt, and you know what the shock has done for her—the shock and the steady persecutions of Reginald Henson.

"Who seems to be at the bottom of the whole trouble," said David. "But do you think that was the real ring on the poor girl's finger?"

"I don't. I fancy Henson had a copy made for emergencies. It was he who sent the copy to Claire, and it was the copy that Littimer saw on her hand. You see, directly Frank broke open that safe, Henson, who was at the castle at the time, saw his opportunity. He could easily scheme some way of Frank had failed he would have invented another. And the unexpected suicide of Claire Carfax played into his hands. Henson has that ring here, and it will be our task to find it."

"And when we have done so?"

"Give it to Lord Littimer and tell him where we found it. And then we shall be rid of one of the most pestilential rascals the world has ever seen. When you get back to Brighton I want you to tell this story to Hatherly Bell."

"I will," David replied. "What a weird, fascinating story it is! And the sooner I am back the better I shall be pleased. If you will excuse me, I will go up and see. Ah!"

There was the sound of somebody moving overhead.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL.

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with indigestion—are compelled to "diet"—and eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 30 cents a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

ILL IN THE WOODS

Sportsman Was Borne by Indians Many Miles on Stretcher.

Greenwich, Conn., June 10.—Ill with typhoid in a dying condition, Charles P. Geddes, of New York City, has traveled more than seven hundred through the woods, fifty miles in a canoe and the remainder by rail.

New York sportsmen were taking out with the Laurentian Club, at Lake Lapache, Canada. He became seriously ill, and as there was no chance whatever of his making medical aid his friends made haste to convey him to some place where he could get treatment.

Placing him on a stretcher borne by eight Indians they hurried him along the rough trail through the thick woods until Three Lakes was reached. A part of the time Mr. Geddes was delirious. Doctors say he will recover.

PIMPLES AND BOILS HEALED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mr. Joseph Arsnauld resides at Cassam, P. E. I., and says: "About five months ago sores broke out on my body. They came in the form of small pimples which discharged. These sores would grow until they got as large as a nickel. I used Carbolic Salves without effect. I saw Zam-Buk advertised in the papers and secured some, and daily applications of this healing balm for one week effected a permanent cure. Since then I have recommended Zam-Buk to my brother or boils on his knee, and also used it again myself for a poisoned finger, in both cases with marvelous results. I cannot recommend Zam-Buk too highly."

Zam-Buk, the great skin healer, can be obtained at any drug or general store for 50 cents a box, or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

LOBO TOWNSHIP SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Seventeenth Annual Convention Held in Poplar Hill—Year of Progress.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Sunday School Association was held in the Disciples Church, Poplar Hill on Tuesday, June 2. The number present at both afternoon and evening sessions and the interest that permeated the whole assembly surpassed any of the preceding years. Much of the success of the convention was due to the untiring efforts of the worthy president, Mr. S. P. Zavitz, and also to the real of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ella Zavitz, who keeps the subject on her mind during the whole year. Luncheon was served in the basement of the church. The choir (instrumental and vocal) added much to the enjoyment of fall present.

Teachers' Study Meetings.

Messrs. D. Campbell and McVicar, visitors of schools, gave a comprehensive account of the standing of each school. This was followed by an open discussion, the main point being the lack of teachers' meetings to prepare the lesson. Tact in studying the lessons, it was held, would create an enthusiasm that would be an important factor in presenting the lesson subject to the class.

No Rewards.

Rev. Mr. Moore spoke on "Rewards." He was not in favor of any rewards, not even church entertainments for trying to secure good attendance. The increased attendance on Sunday school because it often encourages selfish motives. It takes time to learn that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Jesus Christ gave His life a ransom for sinners, and there is a rich reward in the spirit world for all who follow the teaching of Scripture. Diplomas for repeating Scripture portions of the Scripture may be all right, but the good comes not from the diploma but from committing to memory the Scripture. Well-doing brings its own reward.

The Round Table.

The round table conference was led by Rev. Mr. Fowler, who said it was not a round table unless the answers came from all around. So they did. Listen: "Can a Sunday school be successful without a teachers' meeting to study the lesson?" It is essential for a friendly discussion of the lesson. You get enthusiastic about the lesson and you go to the class better prepared to teach."

"How can we get our scholars to bring their Bibles to school?" By doing away with the reading in the Sunday school helps. It is often necessary to refer to passages not on the hymnals, it cannot be done without the Bible."

"How can we induce our scholars to study their lessons before coming to Sunday school?" Teachers should teach in a way as to interest the scholars in the lesson. Much responsibility rests on the parents."

"Should the superintendent summarize the lesson at the close of the school?" Yes, unless some one else is better qualified. Teachers and superintendent should both summarize."

"What is the best way to increase the regular weekly attendance and offerings?" The parents to come. Teachers should look after the absent ones. Let the parents know that they have an interest in the little ones."

"How is it best to teach temperance in the Sunday school?" Teachers should themselves be temperate or they cannot teach temperance. Actions speak louder than words cannot be heard."

Aim of the Sunday School.

"The Aim of the Sunday School" was the subject assigned Rev. Mr. Fowler. He said the Sabbath school was the best cause on earth, because it sought to bring the children into the kingdom. Jesus Christ was much interested in children when on earth. Earnest and warm of today are interested in getting the Scriptures into the hearts of young people. The nation is interested in the boys and girls, because of what they will be when men and women, and if the Scripture is implanted in the heart of the child, his aim will be to bring others into the kingdom.

The Adult Bible Class.

A very important address on "The Adult Bible Class" was given by Rev. Mr. McEwen. He said that only 20 out of 100 people attend Sunday school, but he hoped the number would soon be when only 20 out of the 100 would be found outside of the Sunday school. Every member of this class should feel responsible for the success of the class.

The president, secretary-treasurer and committees should do everything in a businesslike way. The teacher should be a man with insight into God's own plan of saving sinners. Keep everyone in the class busy, so that they will not rust.

A vote of thanks was given to the president, secretary and to the church workers, who made such efforts for the comfort of all present. The next meeting will be held in Beechwood Church in East Williams.
