

Church in another part of our town. These several propositions have been considered, but it was not until the meeting of 17th Aug., presided over by the Bishop, that it was finally resolved that the third proposition was the one best adapted to the end. Nor must we omit to mention, among the signs of progress, by which the past year has been marked, the enlargement and manifest improvement of the Room in which we are assembled here. The old one had been found far too small to accommodate our increasing Sunday School, and hence it was that a generous and persistent spirit among us resolved that the room must be enlarged, and sympathised with and aided by another of a kindred mind, their efforts are realized in the comfortable and convenient Room in which we are assembled. Subscriptions in furtherance of this object are now being made.

On the 28th of August, the Bishop held an ordination in St. Thomas's Church, New London, when the Rev. J. A. Richey was admitted to the order of Priesthood.

During his visitation of the Island, the Bishop delivered his charge to the clergy; presided over a meeting of the clergy and lay delegates, and also at a church meeting in Charlottetown; admitted 179 persons into full communion; delivered thirteen addresses to the confirmed and to the several congregations; preached twenty-one sermons; consecrated three churches and a burial ground, and admitted a Deacon to the order of Priesthood.

The departure of the Rev. R. T. Roach from Georgetown, for the more genial climate of the Delaware, and of the Rev. J. A. Richey for a station in another portion of the Diocese, had caused a vacancy in two of our missions.

The Committee would express their cordial sympathy with the late Missionary at Georgetown for the cause which induced him to quit, after twelve years of faithful and laborious services, the sphere in which he had been located. The parishioners generally have felt their loss, if we may judge from the
