

WORKS ROUTED BY GREEK ARMY

Little Near Molinta When Over Hundred Turks Were Killed—Four Greeks Wounded.

ATHENS, March 1.—Heavy losses were inflicted on a Turkish detachment which was routed yesterday by Greek force near Molinta, to the north of the fortress of Janina, after severe battle according to dispatches published here. The fight is said to have lasted six hours and the Greeks declare that they buried on the field 112 Turks, including eight officers, beside taking prisoners. The Greek losses are given as "only" wounded, but independent observers here regard the story with some scepticism.

MADERO FAMILY WILL REUNITE

Brothers and Sisters of Late Mexican President Will Decide on Future Course Soon.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 1.—Alfonso and Gabriel Madero, brothers of the late president of Mexico, said last night that a family reunion would take place here soon, when the future of the several members would be determined. They said members of the family now in Cuba and in the United States, would congregate at San Antonio at some future date, which, he said, had not been decided on.

Alfonso is the eldest son of Francisco Madero. He was with his brother, the late president, during the revolution two years ago, but since then has been engaged in business at San Antonio. He left Mexico when officers turned against his brother, Francisco Madero, Jr., was one of 13 children—nine boys and four girls.

AURIER LITTLE CANADA MAN

London Standard Says Liberal Chief Once Trod Very Path He Now Condemns.

LONDON, March 1.—(C. A. P.)—Aurier's speech on the naval bill has the success of a little Standard. "He was not over there. At one time he trod the very path now trodden by Borden. Now, under political pressure, his tone has changed, but in Canada adheres to her program. The man who once declared that Canada has had ten times more liberty under England than she would have had under France, need not suspect us of wishing to encroach on one of Canada's self-government." The Sheffield Telegraph notes that the progress of the Canadian naval program seems a little uncertain, and it is impossible not to feel a little disillusionment over the Liberal's attitude. Premier Borden did not make his offer in a fit of reckless generosity, and Liberals seem to show a sinister desire for a general election. The ministry, however, says The Telegraph, will probably survive.

Tate Electric Cars

The electric pleasure car has now reached a point of perfection which has won the appreciation of the automobile world at large, and the man who enjoys the sport of motoring, but who desires to operate on his own car, may now do so with the use of the Tate electric. It presents no mechanical difficulties. The chauffeur or driver is dispensed with and even the children may operate it with safety, while the extreme simplicity of design has been made possible by the adoption of a straight drive, connecting the motor to the rear axle by two universal joints and shaft, and there is an absolute accessibility of all parts. The especially smooth acceleration of speed of the Tate electric is due to the auxiliary, or foot control (a new and novel attachment of more than usual interest), attached to the service brake, thus permitting the starting or stopping of the car from any speed without altering the position of controller, and affording the maximum protection in case of emergency. As is generally known, the power is usually applied by a lever either at the side of the seat or on the steering wheel, but in the Tate electric the lever is on the wheel, and it also has a regular service brake equipped with an automatic or foot control. By this means it is possible to set the main controller on the wheel, at any desired speed, after which the entire regulation of the speed is maintained by releasing or pressing down the regular service brake with the left foot. By pressing the foot on the brake the power is automatically cut off, the brake applied and the car brought to a full stop. It will be seen that this ingenious method of the free use of both hands is available for the steering wheel, and at the same time the operator has the car constantly under perfect control. As the auxiliary control has three extra speeds between each of the five main controller speeds, it will be seen that the Tate electric has in all 15 speeds, ranging forward in the coupe from 5 to 22 miles per hour, and in the roadster from 3 to 30 miles per hour.

Dr. Vincent Lorente, physician to the Spanish royal household, has returned home after completing a two months' study of methods employed in America institutions for the deaf and dumb. He was sent here by the Queen of Spain to collect data regarding the education of Miss Helen Keller.

'Women's Work'

The little corner sketches are intended to show the countless steps that are taken in preparing meals in a kitchen without a "Hoosier" Cabinet.

Think what it means to repeat this unnecessary tramp, tramp, tramp every day, for 365 days each year, when one dollar a week will quickly end it.
