GORMAN, NOT LEVINE

The mystery about "James Levine," whose picture was in Saturday's Times, has been solved. That was the picture of Louis Gorman, son of Mrs. James Gorman, 80 Broad street, and he has neither been killed nor wounded thus far, although in hospital for a short time on account of illness.

Mrs. Neirin, whose husband's picture appeared with the other in the Times on Saturday received a letter from her husband, to the effect that the photograph was of himself and James Levine, and that he was wounded and Levine killed. The statement was not true, for the second figure in the picture was Louis Gorman, and he is alive and well, although he had been in battle and took part in severe fighting.

SURPRISED WOMEN SHOULD KEEP MEN FROM THE WAR

Sergeant A. Ellis of St. John Writes of Germans' Treatment of The Women and Children

"I am surprised to hear that the women are keeping the men back," writes Sergeant A. Ellis, who left St. John at the outbreak of war and has been in France ever since. "If such women only could have been on the American road in last October to have seen how helpless women and innocent little children were given along like so many straws; women with newly born babes in wheelbarrows; poor old white haired women who could hardly drag one foot after the other. All night long this sad procession went on; there must have been thousands of these poor souls. If the Germans can treat in this manner people against whom they have nothing, how would they treat the women of the British Empire?"

"I wrote you the day we finished up that gruesome little job at Neuve Chapelle, which I can assure you was rather hot. Now we have just come out of another day's bout at Passchendaele. Our losses were heavy but not nearly so heavy as the Germans'. Our artillery, assisted by the artillery of the first Canadian division, did terrible execution. I shall never forget the awful din as, hour after hour, they sent shells over our heads into the German positions. I felt as though my nerves were being rubbed with sand-paper and now the French have started a bombardment which promises to be heavier than ours."

"I have quite a pile of souvenirs, but I cannot get them away. I picked up a nice helmet last Thursday but as it contained half of the former owner's head, I threw it away again."

The letter was sent to Sergeant Ellis' former pastor here, Rev. R. J. Haughton.

A SOLDIER'S COMPLAINT

Private William Oliver of the 58th Battalion called at the Times office this morning to tell the following story.—He enlisted with the 62nd on Dec. 7. On March 14 he went with the detachment that was sent to St. Croix on guard duty. On May 29 he joined the Medical Corps of the 63th and went to Sussex. There he remained until last week, when he was told he had not passed the medical examination owing to defective sight, although he had been passed by the doctor before going to Sussex. He came to St. John on last Tuesday, and was told that he would get his money and discharge here. He has not received a cent since May 29, and is still waiting. He has a mother in England to support, and he says he could have passed and gone with either the 26th Battalion or the Railway Construction Corps, and feels that he has a grievance.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Andrew Arsenault was arraigned for preliminary hearing on charges of drunkenness, and assaulting Mrs. Ralph Dobson in her home in Brunswick street on last Saturday morning. The complainant testified that the defendant came to her house three times on Saturday morning and once took hold of her. The prisoner was then remanded, after being arraigned that he was liable to five years in Dorchester.

Archie Patterson was remanded on a charge of drunkenness and interfering with girls in Brunswick street on Saturday night. He was warned that he was liable to nine months in jail.

One man arrested on a drunkenness charge was fined $8 or two months in jail.

CHISHOLM-JOHNSTON

(Portland, Me., Press, June 29)

A very active wedding was solemnized on Monday morning at eight o'clock in St. Dominic's church, when Miss Margaret Eva Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Johnston of St. John, N. B., became the wife of Alexander Chisholm. The bride was prettily gowned in king's blue taffeta and a white picture hat with ostrich trimmings. Her attendant was of white roses. Miss Sarah Chisholm of Peabody, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and was moodily dressed in a white net over blue silk with powder hat and carried Jack roses. The best man was Timothy Dwyer of Peabody. A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Clark and at the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Bartley Peeney of Clark street, to which the intimates of the family were bidden. Beautiful presents were received and at noon, the young people left for a motor trip to Peabody and Niagara Falls, the bride traveling in a Palm beach suit and on the return they are to reside at Fulmouth Foreside, where they have leased a bungalow for the summer. The bride's gift from the groom was a gift of gold and the attendant's gift was a diamond pendant, the best man having from the groom a gold knife. Mr. Chisholm is golf instructor at the Country Club and the bride has been lingerie buyer at the Porteous, Mitchell & Braun store. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howe and son Leo of Somerville and Mr. and Mrs. George Harding, also of Somerville.

How, Where, When?

James Zohian, the advertising expert, recently made this interesting comment that answers an old question:

"Where, when and how much ought a retail dealer to advertise? The answer is simple: He ought to advertise where he has a store. He ought to advertise when he is in a position to supply the demand eventually created by his advertising."

"He ought to advertise as much as his business, stock of goods and margin of profit warrant."

And the medium he should use?
