

FEDERAL CHIEF HERE THIS WEEK

J. Groves Smith to Speak
Here on Fire Protection

Educational Work Having Good Effect, Says Provincial Marshal McLellan.

J. Groves Smith, chief of the fire prevention officials under the Federal Government, will visit New Brunswick this week to inaugurate united efforts in various parts of the province in behalf of his work during the next ten days or fortnight. Next week will be Fire Prevention Week in New Brunswick, in fact throughout all Canada, but this province alone will be the leading ground and special scene of Chief Smith's labor. He selects one province each year in which to spread his gospel with special emphasis in the Fire Prevention Week.

TO ADDRESS CHILDREN.

Mr. Smith, assisted by Fire Marshal H. H. McLellan, of this city, and his staff, will conduct a mass meeting for school children from the Grade V. ago upwards in Imperial Theatre Saturday morning. This meeting will begin at 10 o'clock and the scholars will be admitted free. It will be a gathering similar to that held on a previous occasion during Fire Prevention Week and will be addressed by Mr. Smith. Appropriate moving pictures will be shown and the lesson of fire prevention and forest conservation through this agency will be trenchantly told.

BEARING FRUIT.

Fire Marshal McLellan states that the educational work being done through Mr. Smith's department and its subsidiaries is having a wonderfully fruitful effect upon the public mind, beginning with the quite young children. Not only is there now a greatly reduced risk in forest fires but structural fires have been much reduced.

SEE NEED FOR CARE.

By steadily plodding in this educational work, a careful and thorough distribution of forcibly written literature and through the co-operation of local governments, insurance bodies, public school teachers, the press, and other powerful agencies, the people as a whole are duly sensing the importance of exercising care and caution against the destructive fire element so close at hand on all sides.

USE RADIO IN BOSTON.

Last year Fire Prevention Week was heartily entered into by the public schools and the public in general. Even former residents in Boston joined in the propaganda campaign, one of whom employed an American radio station through which to address the folks at home and which he did very effectively.

Late W. B. Snowball Is Seen in Pictures

By singular coincidence a note of sadness was struck in connection with Imperial Theatre's program last night when movie scenes of the unwearying of the late W. B. Snowball, as a memorial to the late British Premier, Bonar Law, gave several glimpses of the late W. B. Snowball sitting on the platform smiling and chatting with his lifelong friend, Richard O'Leary, of Richibucto. This was Mr. Snowball's last public appearance and the unwearying eye of the camera caught him amongst prominent friends and at a function devotedly British in its purpose—something which the late Chatham citizen always delighted. At the showing of the picture last night announcement was made from the stage calling attention to Mr. Snowball's picture.

Pyorrhea, dread disease of the gums, attacks four persons out of every five past forty because they are careless of Nature's warning.

It starts with tender bleeding gums. Later the teeth loosen in their sockets and poison is spread throughout the system, often causing rheumatism, neuritis and other sickness.

If you have pyorrhea go to your dentist at once for treatment. He can help you. To prevent pyorrhea consult your dentist at least twice a year, brush your teeth night and morning with Forhan's for the Gums.

Forhan's is the formula of a registered dentist. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea.

If used regularly and used in time, Forhan's for the Gums will prevent pyorrhea or check its progress. It is a pleasant dentifrice which serves a dual purpose: it cleanses the teeth and wards off dread pyorrhea. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Is Found Dead As His Wedding Neared

PATERSON N. J., Sept. 29.—Instead of sailing for Italy to marry a childhood sweetheart, Adolph Homel, 28 years old, will be buried. He was found dead from carbon monoxide poisoning in the bath room of his home at 70 Cross street. Doctors said that a gas heater had caused his death. Homel was a veteran of the World War.

THRILL DRAMA IS GAIETY FEATURE

Frivolous Sal Proves Taking Picture Story, With Prominent Players.

In producing "Frivolous Sal," his latest First National picture, which opened at the Gaiety Theatre yesterday, J. K. McDonald has given the screen a worthy successor to "Boy of Mine." The cast includes Eugene O'Brien, Mac Busch, Ben Alexander, Tom Santachi, Mitchell Lewis and Mildred Harris. O'Brien takes a difficult role—that of a weak but lovable character brought to his senses only when his son lies to absolve him from complicity in a crime. Mac Busch as the girl he marries justifies the tribute of Charles Chaplin when he spoke of her as the greatest actress on the screen.

Ben Alexander shows more of his ability in "Frivolous Sal." Tom Santachi is seen in the role of a big western hero. Mitchell Lewis leaves nothing to the imagination in making an audience hold him. Mildred Harris, wearing a black wig over her natural blonde hair, looks even more lovely than she does in real life. The story was photographed upon a background of scenic beauty. Tonight will be the last chance to see "Frivolous Sal."

NOTABLE PLAYERS ON PALACE SCREEN

Are Seen in "Married Flirts" Pauline Frederick and Conrad Nagel in Leads.

"To 'Married Flirts' the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Production which opened at the Palace Theatre last night, there are four principals, a husband and wife, Nelly and Pen Wayne are happily married, comfortably so at least, and she loves sight of the fact that she is growing fat and slowly under the spell of a girl many times his junior. This girl, fearful of showing too much regard for a young bachelor, turns to coaching on another woman's preserves. Nelly comes to an awakening, pleads with the girl, Jill Wetherell, for the return of her husband and receives only an insolent reply. A divorce follows, after which Pen discovers he doesn't care a tuppence for Jill and she realizes she never has loved him, and so elopes with the real man of her choice, Percy Rex. Pauline Frederick as Nelly Wayne gives a vital performance. Conrad Nagel, as Percy Rex is handsome and fascinating. Huntley Gordon is perfectly cast as Pen Wayne, and Mac Busch as Jill Wetherell gives a notable performance. "Married Flirts" will have its final showings tonight.

CHARGE HELD RIDICULOUS.
CALGARY, Sept. 28.—"The charge that the Alberta wheat pool has quoted foreign buyers the same cargo at three cents a bushel less than Vancouver exporters could get the same grain for is ridiculous," stated George MacIvor, Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers western sales manager, today when shown a published item to this effect.

STRONG DRAMA AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Carroll Players Give Fine Presentation of "Simon Called Peter."

Presenting for the first time this season a play which demands of the members of the company a performance of a more highly dramatic nature than previous ones, the F. James Carroll Players last night enacted the play, "Simon Called Peter," dramatised by Jules Eckert Goodman from the novel by Robert Keable. It is a story which finds its foundation in the world war, the great human aggregation which was a part of the conflict, and the reaction of the war's influence on the souls of those whom burning flame had touched.

There will be, no doubt, some who, reading their judgment on the superlative action and lines of the drama, will object to it on the grounds that, perhaps, it casts a shadow over religion. Others, however, diving deeper, will see in the play a wealth of human lessons, each one different as the mind of the witness is bent, but all revolving themselves into one whole, representing a phase of life developed in that great world struggle. Without, however, sitting in judgment on the play itself, it is safe to say that those who are interested in its presentation last evening, gave a wonderfully clever performance.

This is especially true of the two leading roles, Edna Cullen, cast in the role of Rev. Peter Graham, and Miss Helen Louise Lewis, as Julie Gaudy, a nursing sister. These two divided the principal honors and their work was rewarded with generous and frequent applause. Miss Lewis demonstrated her ability to develop to the hilt a role which called alternately for serious and light treatment; she gave a performance which was in all respects finished and graceful. Mr. Cullen's role was a difficult one and he demanded all the sympathetic treatment which he so ably gave to it. One again Irene Hubbard covered herself with glory in the most exacting role of Madeline, a French child, and besides interpreting it in a realistic manner, Miss Hubbard gave it a vivacity, accompanied by just the gestures and dialect which lent to the above the ordinary role of its kind. There was little in it to exact sympathy from the audience; nevertheless, her portrayal was given the applause which it deserved.

Miss Allys Dwyer appeared in two roles, Hilda Lessing, fiancée of Peter, and Louise, a French girl, in both of which she did well. Owen Coll, as Captain Mackaye; Gordon Anderson, as Lieutenant Jenks; and G. C. Hansen as Lieutenant Donnan—all British officers, filled their parts in a true-to-life manner, while William Townshend, as Major Langton, gave a very realistic performance of the old soldier type. Miss Emma DeWeale, as Wilkins, a servant; Forrest Cummings, as George Lessing; and J. Russell Wetherell, as Charles, as well as minor roles, all in an acceptable manner. The stage settings were well carried out and the electrical and other effects good, particularly those representing an enemy air raid over the British base at Havre, France. Some of the old war favorites were among the numbers given by the orchestra under the direction of J. Bayard Currie, and they received the approval of the audience, as was manifested by the hearty applause.

PRISCILLA DEAN AT UNIQUE THEATRE

Is Seen in "Crimson Runner," Apache Thriller, With Good Supporting Cast.

Exotic Viennese cafes, beautiful women, intoxicating music, Vienna's fascinating underworld, tempestuous, terrifying, entrancing—all these and too much more to tell about here, are the contributing reasons why "The Crimson Runner," the attraction at the Unique Theatre is among the best of European country, but this time the working people are Apaches and the country is Austria. It is a vibrating tale of a daring female Robin Hood who rose out of the chaos and anarchy of a post-war Vienna, terrifying the aristocracy and tormenting the police, until a handsome young count won her love, and she found happiness and peace in the repose that wealth and leisure brought her.

Miss Dean at one time reflects all the cruelty and all the softness which the author intended "The Crimson Runner" to possess. She has caught the spirit of this romantic drama and carries it along to the very end. In this she is assisted by a very capable cast, among them Alan Hale, Ward Crane, Taylor Holmes, James Neill, Mitchell Lewis, Charles Malles, Bernard Siegel, Arthur Millet and Ipsa de Landt.

INSURANCE RATES CUT AGAIN SOUGHT

Removal of Discrimination Against Saint John Asked by Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Efforts will be renewed shortly by the Dominion Government to persuade the British Maritime Underwriters of the justice of its demand for removal of the discrimination in rates against certain Canadian ports, notably Saint John, N. B. Some weeks ago it was announced that the Imperial Shipping Committee had agreed upon a recommendation that the port of Saint John be placed on the same basis as Halifax in the matter of marine insurance rates. So far, however, the British underwriters have not seen fit to act upon that recommendation and the discrimination against Saint John continues.

Davis, former United States under secretary of state.

"LIGHTNIN'" HERE IN SCREEN PICTURE

Jay Hunt Has Lead in Picturization of Noted Play at Unique.

"Lightnin'" struck town last night at the Queen Square Theatre and proved one of the sensations of the season. It is a William Fox picture, a worthy successor to the stage version in which Frank Bacon starred. Jay Hunt of the Fox picture is almost an exact "double" of the beloved Frank; even his mannerisms, his smile, the curve of his lips and jaw, the twinkle of his eye. The story is simply told, yet it strikes a deeply human note. Jay Hunt in the title role carries the burden of the story, and his acting is smooth and natural and at all times elicits sympathy. Edythe Chapman as "Mother" Jones, his wife, gives her usual capable performance.

The romantic leads of the picture are played acceptably by Madge Bellamy as Millie, daughter of "Lightnin'", and Wallace McDonald as John Marvin, the young lawyer from the city. Miss Bellamy is appealing in her beauty, and she shows a keen appreciation of the character. She lends a piquant charm to the romance that is woven through the story. "Lightnin'" will continue its run to-night and tomorrow.

IMPERIAL STARTS WEEK WITH GOOD ONE

Bebe Daniels in "Wild, Wild Susan"—Laughs, Shocks and Thrills.

The summertime turn in the weather attracted vast throngs to Imperial Theatre last night, where Bebe Daniels and Rod La Rocque held the stellar positions on the screen in a snappy story from Liberty magazine entitled "Wild, Wild Susan." The Pathe News budget was a most interesting subject matter, including the Prince of Wales' visit to South America, the unveiling of the Bonar Law memorial cairn at Rexton, N. B., marvellous aeroplane drills in England, etc. There were comedy and topical reels as well and the orchestra discoursed a delightful program.

"Wild, Wild Susan" is a girl who can't live without excitement; in the Paramount picture by that name which was directed by Edward Sutherland. Its characteristics are comedy, speed, romance, pep, thrills and general fast-moving entertainment. Rod La Rocque has a featured role opposite the star and Helen Holcomb, whom Ernst Lubitsch, director of "Passion," "The Marriage Circle," etc., called "the girl with the Mona Lisa smile," has a prominent part in the supporting cast—that of Susan's prim and proper sister, whom Bebe's parents in the picture advise her to imitate.

One gets a pretty good idea of the type of picture "Wild, Wild Susan" is from the very first scenes. A fire engine shoots around a corner, blowing and clanging for all its worth. Every thing gives way except a sports racing car. It's Bebe! Even pacing fire engines are too tame for this up and going metropolitan miss who, in the ensuing scenes, takes to trailing shop-lifters and bond thieves after reading a correspondence school book on detective work.

The closing scene of the production is that of a haunted house on the outskirts of the city. It's midnight, and there's nothing quite as creepy as a haunted house at midnight. But this is a riot of laughs. This same excellent show is on again tonight and tomorrow. Tomorrow Bebe Lyell and Irene Rich appear in the splendid domestic drama, "Eve's Lover."

3 Dead, 42 Injured; 20 Are Held in Riot

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 28.—More than 20 alleged communists were imprisoned in Vera Cruz Monday, following the acts of terrorism which Reds committed Sunday night in connection with the municipal elections. Three persons were killed and 42 wounded and troops and police intervened to suppress the Red agitators, who had seized the ballot boxes and attacked their political opponents.

THOS. MEIGHAN IN TONGUES OF FLAME

Has Strong Support in Attractive
Theatre.

"Tongues of Flame," Thomas Meighan's newest Paramount starring picture, which opened yesterday at the Empress Theatre, is that kind of a production that sends one out of the theatre with the conviction that all's well in the movie world after all—so far as Tom's concerned, at least. It is a picturization of Peter Clark Macferran's last novel, produced by Joseph Henabery, who made "The Guilty One" and "A Sainted Devil."

Meighan is always pleasing on the screen, at times more so than others—and this is one of those more so. And then there are two very beautiful young leading women playing opposite Meighan in "Tongues of Flame," Bebe Lyell and Eileen Percy. Manipulative, feminine charm and a story that smacks of pell-mell action throughout mark the picture.

Also a snappy comedy added spice to the programme. It will be repeated tonight.

SHORTAGE OF BEAT.

MARTGATE, Eng., Sept. 28.—As a result of the slaughter of young lambs, calves and pigs for the markets, England is face to face with a meat shortage, and the government has been asked to investigate the situation. Since 1918 stock has declined in England from 18,000,000 to 14,000,000 head. Scotland has 200,000 head less and Ireland almost 1,000,000 less than in 1914.

The Big Race was on! The horses flew 'round the curve. Blind Lady Belle was holding her own. A wee child tottered out on the track. Pat O'Brien's face grew white. CAPE-CAIRO AIR LINE SOON WILL START

Preliminary Arrangements Are Made, Khartoum Service to Open.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Preliminary arrangements have been made for the completion of the Cape to Cairo air route, it is announced this morning. The first step will be the establishment of an experimental service between Khartoum and Mismia, which is situated at the head of the Uganda railway and the primary object of the establishment of such a service is the opening up of hitherto undeveloped tracts of land in Central Africa. When the line is established it will be boomed as a "health" line, in that it will enable travelers to escape the malarial swamps through which they are now forced to pass under the present system of transport. If this branch is successful the service will be extended until eventually a regular Cape-to-Cairo route will be in operation. Special eight passenger Amphibian machines will be used for the journey, ordinary land planes being unusable from the fact that Papyrus Grass 20 feet in height flanks the rivers and borders the lakes. It is claimed that the route will be coverable in two days and the greatest commercial value is predicted for it.

Scottish Harvest Heaviest In Years

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The in-gathering of the Scottish harvest was completed last week. The crops this year are the heaviest and best in quality of the crops in recent years. Experts say that the yards in which the grain has been stacked, have not been so full within the memory of any person in Scotland, and in some cases there is almost double the average yield of grain stored away. Some of the Scottish farmers held Thanksgiving services in the open fields on Sunday.
