DR MEN
DISAGREE IN MONCTON MEETING

Varley Says Railway Men
Made Great Mistake — Spokesman Denies It.

(Moncton Times.)
A public labor meeting in the city tonight developed some decided differences of opinion, and at times was lively.
Varley gave it as his opinion — did not care who liked or disliked — that the great mistake Moncton ever made was to vote against the three-day week. Every man who stood up to the labor movement, he said, lay in keeping every man at work and so shortened the hours that the products of labor would be poor. What the great steel trust is to do, is to lengthen hours and pay men idle. He appealed to the workers to remedy their mistake as soon as possible, and divide with all their comrades. Division was just what the enemies most desired.
Rogers, president of the Rail-Federated Trades, took exception to Varley's concluding remarks. The U. S. railwaymen working days a week?
Varley — If there are any U. S. men working four or five days while part of their comrades have k, they, too, had made a mistake. Rogers said that a family could not live on three days' work a week. It was the duty of the government to see that the idle men were provided with employment. A family of five could not live on less than $24 a week. The government must devise means of livelihood for all.

W. N. Goodwin, president of the Building Trades, said that many of the building workers had to live on less than $24 a week all last winter. The Federated Trades had no business to turn part of their own men on to the street to increase the already flooded condition of the labor movement. All men had to live.

RICHEST NEGRESS
IN UNITED STATES

Is Decreed Owner of Big Tract, Enormously Rich in Oil and Gas.

New Orleans, La., May 4.—Lillie Taylor is probably the wealthiest negro woman in the United States as a result of a decision handed down today in the supreme court in the suit of Lillie G. Taylor vs. Angellina Allen, state of Louisiana and George West, decreeing her to be the rightful owner of a big tract of land in the southwest section of Claiborne Parish, enormously rich in oil and gas deposits, and the value of which now reaches into the millions.

The question of her ownership hinged on whether or not an illegitimate child can inherit from its parents. Article 238 of the Civil Code, declaring that illegitimate children "belong to no family and have no relatives."
The district court in Claiborne Parish recognized Lillie Taylor as the heir of her mother, Lous McGee, however, and as such ordered her sent into ownership of the tract of land which her mother inherited from her father, Isom McGee.

The state of Louisiana tried to get into the matter by intervening in the suit of Lillie Taylor against Angellina Allen, an action brought merely in order to have Lillie formally and legally declared owner and sent into possession, the attorney general contending that the land was the property of the state, because Lillie Taylor, being an illegitimate child, could not inherit. Subsequently, George West also intervened, contending that he was owner of and occupied the land.
While the suit was dragging in the courts the value of the land and its products of oil and gas grew steadily further up into the millions until now, when Lillie Taylor has finally been declared the owner of the lands, of the oil within them and of the oil in tanks and pipe lines that has been pumped from them, it has attained a fabulous figure.
It is rumored that the attorneys for Lillie Taylor are to receive a fee of upwards of $450,000 for services rendered.

Of the 800 professional hunters employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to aid stockmen in protecting their stock from wolves, bobcats and coyotes, Mrs. Ada Tingley of Idaho is one of the best. In the last seventeen months she has killed 278 stock-killing animals.
