Dr. Gibbs Has Returned After Taking Special Courses in His Profession.

(From Monday's Daily.) pitals of Europe, Dr. Gibbs has re-turned, and will be ready to meet his patients at the old office on Govern-ment street.

During his trip the doctor has been making a special study of diseases o will specialize along these lines, and Everett Hooligans Thirsting for the whole of his visit to the centres of medical lore have been for the purpos of getting the very latest words i these lines. The greater part of the time was spent in Vienna, the hospital of which city has the oldest teaching faculty in the world. For years it has had the reputation of being the leading insti-tution of its kind. It is the Mecca of all medical men who wish to qualify for special work. The hospital is a govern-ment institution, and no expense is spared in making it the best equipped in every way. A large staff of special ists make a particular study of the dis-caleses which Dr. Gibbs is intending to devote his life-work to curing. Besides the stay in Vienna, Dr. Gibbs spent some time in London, both at St. Peters and St. Mark's hospitals. In fact so assiduously did he attend the hospital work that he scarcely say anything of the city, the only places of public interest he had time to visit the world. For years it has had the Speaking of the customs of the French people, Dr. Gibbs was interested in the way the people live in public, They take tea or drink wine right on the sidewalk in front of the hotels and the sidewark in front of the notes and houses. The tipping system is very much in vogue. In a restaurant one person takes the order, another brings it in, a third clears it away and a fourth collects the fee. All four of these expect to be tipped, so that the tipping is about as expensive as the eatables. In Vienna most of the people live in apartment houses, and those living there have to pay a fine of twenty hellers every time they leave or enter the building after 10 o'clock. Although the heller is only about one-hundredth party of twenty cents, the fines some
