JOE CANTILLON IS DEAN OF ACTIVE BASEBALL MEN.
Minneapolis, Minn., July 3.—Joe Cantillon, manager of the Minneapolis American Association baseball team, is now regarded as the dean of active baseball men. Cantillon is not adverse to discussing baseball stars who were unborn when he broke into the game, and he also admitted recently that he received a dispatch this Spring from Clarence Rowland manager of the Chicago Americans, congratulating him on beginning his "thirty-fifth season."

THE GERMAN NOTIFIED U.S. OF DEATH OF ONE

Frank C. Baylies of New Bedford Loses His Life and His Friends the Enemy Bury Him With Honors—Had Good Record.

By Wilbur Forrest.
(Special Cable to the New York Tribune and St. John Standard.)
With the French Armies—Pilot Baylies' death, bringing down an enemy airplane in a brief combat, Parsons was flying alone when he saw the machine which appeared to be French. It swooped down on him firing incendiary bullets. When within fifty yards Parsons saw the regulation French red, white and blue card on the wings although painted inside the circle was a small black Maltese cross. The fight then began in earnest. Parsons gained the position above the camouflaged enemy and firing a brief burst of not over ten shots. The enemy dropped and occasionally dodging in order to destroy the accuracy of anti-aircraft fire from below. The flyer dropped a small weighted ball to which were attached long paper streamers.

His last two citations, just published in the "Journal Officiel," follow:
"Frank Baylies, sergeant Foreign Legion Pilot Escadrille, spat three, was an excellent chasing pilot, on March thirty with his airplane struck in vital parts he landed between the lines. Assisted by a French infantry patrol Baylies freed himself from the debris of his machine and despite the enemy fire returned to his lines, bringing his valuable flying instruments. March sixteenth, he shot down his third enemy airplane in flames."
His last citations repeats his brilliant qualities as a pilot and adds: "The ninth and tenth of May he shot down his seventh and eighth enemy airplanes."
His six previous citations were equally eloquent.
Though the German note announcing Baylies' certain death is without details indications are that the American ace was killed by machine gun fire. His airplane was on the ground two days under French balloon observation before it was removed by the Germans. Though its upper wings appeared to have been burned it remained intact.

INEXORABLE TRUTH OF RAEMAEKERS' CARTOONS MAKES HIM HATED BY FOE AND AN INSPIRATION FOR THE ALLIES

Artist's Power Derived From His Deep Convictions and Loathing of German Atrocities—Work Won Instant Recognition.

The Dutch cartoonist, whose sketches of "Schrecklikheden" are now appearing in newspapers in the United States, has made mental neutrality impossible for every one who believes that he has a message. It is a trite saying now that for the allies Raemaekers, who was almost unknown before the war, is as good as an army corps, or that the Germans would rather lose a great battle if, by that loss, they could lay hands on the artist-Dutchman. It cannot be too often reiterated, however, that the reason why "Kultur" has placed a high price upon him is not merely because, with brutal frankness, he has depicted Germany as the Cain of nations, but because there is no gaining the mere pictorial truth embodied in his cartoons.
Louis Raemaekers spent his early years at Roermond, in Holland, and afterward studied art in Amsterdam and Brussels. Before the war he was living quietly with his family in Haarlem, the heart of tulip-land, where he was contentedly painting the canals, and windmills of his beloved Dutch countryside.

Investigated Belgian Horrors.
Four days after the war began he drew his first cartoon, "Christendom After Twenty Centuries." He investigated the horrors in Belgium personally. Since then his chief thought has been of the war and how best to aid the cause of the allies. His early cartoons appeared in the Telegraaf, of Amsterdam, and at once attracted general attention.

From his sketches he revealed something more than the humorous or ironical power of the caricaturist; they showed him to be the mere student of comment on the war was a man who thought and wrought with a deep and uncompromising conviction as to right and wrong. The leading newspapers of first of Holland, then of the continent and England, reproduced his sketches. Quick to recognize the significance of his work, the German authorities did all in their power to suppress it, and failing in this, used every form of intrigue at hand to silence him. They charged him with endangering Dutch neutrality; they put a price on his head, and he was continually threatened with the vengeance of the central powers.
Lionized at the Sorbonne.
Then Raemaekers removed with his family to a suburb of London. The English public accorded him a warm welcome. Great crowds thronged the galleries where his cartoons were exhibited. Later, in Paris, he was presented with the cross of the Legion of Honor, and was given a reception at the Sorbonne, which is said to be the highest purely intellectual honor Europe can confer.
He has a wonderful record for industry, for he has drawn more than 600 cartoons since the war began. There is scarcely a phase of it, political, military, or naval, on which his brush and pencil have not made their comment, and a line once placed is seldom altered.

To understand Raemaekers fully, one must first understand the Germans. Civilization expects implicit obedience to the accepted code by all its devotees. Now, some of us have had a glimpse of the German, surviving from long, long ago, as a peacefully inclined, industrious folk, as students, one must first understand the Germans. # THE EMPRESS OF AUSTRIA DEFENDED

It Is Denied That She Is To Blame For Delayed Drive and Defeat in Italy—Partly Desires Peace.

Amsterdam, July 9.—Denying rumors which have been circulating in Austria-Hungary regarding Empress Zita, the correspondent at Vienna of the Tifd says:
"It is true that the Austrian Empress partly desires peace and had with proper dignity advocated it, but the rumor that an energetic Austrian offensive against Italy was delayed by her influence is slanderous, also is the rumor that the Empress was to blame for one or two setbacks which followed the offensive."
"It is still more slanderous to involve her honor as a woman with imperial statesmanship and the imperial house. The Empress, whose sensitiveness is well known, suffered not a little under the imputations which have driven her to a sick bed."
"The slander is more painful as it even assailed the wedded fidelity which so distinguished the conduct of the imperial couple, while the non-existent correspondence which was said to contain utterances of the Empress regarding peace is reported to be the first cause of the difference between the Emperor and the Empress."

There is no mistaking Raemaekers. No matter what its form, he loathes "Kultur," and against the dark background of evil he causes to stand out the nobility, endurance, and sibilancy of the objects of "Kultur's" persecution, the sacredness of the allied cause. Never for a moment is he in doubt that that cause will succeed. Victory is inevitable. For that view he is more than an encouragement to the world; he is an inspiration, as much an inspiration as though the war had long since ceased, and he were recording in bronze and marble the glorious victory of civilization, instead of merely presenting us with the first rough sketch.—From the Christian Science Monitor.

AT THE HEAD OF HIS CLASS.
"Well," said the square-jawed old gentleman who was a member of 18 boards of directors and the payer of an income tax that gave him the chills every time he thought of it, "go on, I'm anxious to hear why you think you

NEW YORK MAIL AND EXPRESS BECOMES PATRIOTIC PAPER

German Interest in Property Seized By Custodian of Alien Property and It Re-Appears As Simon-Pure American Newspaper—Dr. Rumely Released Under $35,000 Bail Bond.

New York, July 9.—With Dr. Edward A. Rumely, publisher of the New York Evening Mail, under arrest charged with having financed the newspaper with German money, the question as to the future ownership and management of the newspaper was in abeyance for a time.
Henry L. Stoddard is chief bondholder of the property, and Paul Block is said to own $50,000 worth of the stock.
Frances F. Garven, investigator for the alien property custodian, announced that Messrs Stoddard and Block would go to Washington to confer with A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian and that "for the time being" these two would conduct the paper. All German equity in the property would be seized according to law.
Stoddard in Control.
The first edition of the Evening Mail appeared about 2 p. m. It contained the statement of Mr. Stoddard, occupying four columns of the front page. Above the title spread across the page appears the following:
"Mr. Stoddard in control of the Evening Mail."
"With the assent of the alien property custodian, A. Mitchell Palmer, I am in conjunction with Mr. Paul Block, now in absolute control of the Evening Mail and propose to conduct it as a loyal, patriotic newspaper."
(signed) "Henry L. Stoddard."
"I believe the bondholders represented by Mr. Stoddard and Mr. Block are now, and always have been, loyal Americans; and now that the control of the Evening Mail has been restored to them, they will conduct it as a genuinely patriotic newspaper."
(signed) "Attorney General Lewis."
Statements were also published from Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Whitman and Nathan Straus expressing confidence in the patriotism of Mr. Stoddard.
Late today counsel for Dr. Rumely furnished the $35,000 bail bond and he was released.

Physicians Explain Why Women Need More Iron in their Blood Today Than 30 Years Ago

Say Anemia—Lack of Iron is Greatest Curse to the Health, Strength, Vitality and Beauty of the Modern American Woman.

Less than a quarter of a century ago, little or no effort was expected of the average woman and her quiet pursuits demanded far less strength, energy and endurance than now.

Today there is not a woman but who stands ready to serve her country and do a man's work if needed. But to meet the strain she must be full of the life, vim and vitality that come from having plenty of iron in the blood.

DR. FERDINAND KING, New York Physician and Medical Author, says physicians should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to supply the iron deficiency. Opioids, narcotics, and other drugs, which are given to the patient, are not the cause of the iron deficiency. Dr. A. J. Newman, former Police Surgeon of Chicago, and other physicians who have thoroughly tested the value of Nuxated Iron.

Any woman who tires easily, is nervous or irritable, or looks pale, haggard, and worn should at once have her blood examined for iron deficiency—administration of simple Nuxated Iron will often increase strength and endurance of weak, nervous, careworn women in two weeks' time.

"There can be no strong, healthy, beautiful, ruddy-cheeked women, without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York physician and Medical Author. "I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Pale, anemic women are pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fails, and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks."

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapoca, sago, farina, degenerated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refined processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cooking, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for another grave iron loss. Therefore, you should supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt."

Dr. A. J. Newman, former Police Surgeon of Chicago, and former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, says: "It has been my particular duty during the past six years to assist in keeping Chicago's five thousand blue coats in good health and perfect fighting trim, so that they would be physically equipped to withstand all manner of storms and ravages of nature's elements. Recently I was prompted to give Nuxated Iron a trial. This remedy has proven through my own tests of it to excel any preparation I have ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, formerly Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I get myself into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know of it. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron, three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained."

Manufacturers' Note.—Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Watson's drug store, and all other druggists.
