influence was not brought to bear on it to encourage it. The fund of naval resources on which Eng^{land} ~~the~~ ^{old} draw was larger than Holland's old draw on. For steady maintenance of a struggle the resources of Eng^{land} were doubtless in a way not the case in the Dutch Republic.

Taking these main differences into difference - point the contrast in expansion of Eng^{land} & Holland a little further. Eng^{land} & Holland came to be got rivals in the East during 17th c^{en} & during that c^{en} I was a constant complaint of Englishmen that Dutch East India Co. was more prosperous than Eng^{land}. - Reasons. Dutch avoided political complications & were able to install settlements in Spice Is. - The Eng^{land} had no such success, being settled on main land & opening up to on got rivers of Hindustan. They clung to avoid political complications. Further the Dutch had a strict monopoly & were able to keep at a certain ^{certified} high price by destroying ports. - The
