

world demands that these treasures of eternal truth shall continually find fresh forms of speech and new manifestations in the lowly lives of faithful men. To this end work the ancient prophet and the modern preacher, and God never leaves Himself without a witness.