

"Mac's" Patent Sewing Machine Stand.

Its Advantages.

1st. It has an Extension Leaf so constructed that when it is needed it can be drawn out for use, and when not needed it acts as a cover for the box containing the attachments, and when the cover is on the machine it locks the leaf, box and machine by means of one lock on the cover.

2nd. A department on the left for the purpose of a work basket to keep the work safe and clean under lock and key.

3rd. It has an adjustable treadle so arranged that the operator can work the machine in the ordinary way or can change the position of the leg when tired and work it with a straight leg.

4th. It has a pincushion so arranged at the right hand that needles, pins, &c., are convenient, and this article acts at the same time as a rest.

5th. It is so placed on rollers that a child can move it from place to place.

6th. The bobbins for the machine can be filled without running the machine, by simply running the wheel and treadle.

7th. On the spooler is a small emery wheel for the purpose of sharpening needles, or even knives, scissors, &c.

8th. The running wheel is so placed out of the way that it cannot soil or mess a lady's dress.

9th. It is made portable so that it is convenient for transportation and can be taken to pieces for packing to ship, so that it can be carried about without being damaged.

10th. It is an ornament to any room as well as useful in the nursery and sewing room.