FIELD OF WATERLOO.

To be Acquired by Belgian Government.

A question relative to the preservation of the land of Waterloo in its present state having been asked in the Belgian Chamber, the Government of that country have just replied that the subject is under consideration. There is an idea (mooted, it is believed, by those having property on the field) that it would be a good thing to buy up the historic plain and keep it in its present condition, the various farms, etc., being secured and preserved.

It is difficult to see exactly what good purpose can be served by such an action, for the field itself has been entirely changed since the battle was fought, and the Duke of Wellington exclaimed, when, some time after the erection of the great mound, he looked forth over the country which had seen such great deeds on all sides, "They have changed all my battlefield."

It would seem that a certain group of persons have bought up, or have secured promise of possession of, many of the Waterloo farms, and they are, therefore, financially interested in the preservation of the field of Waterloo as it is, since this would mean expropriation at their own prices. That this is so would seem to be proved by the fact that the movers are principally Belgians.

English people are apparently but little concerned about the matter. They feel, perhaps, that the preservation of the nation's battlefields all over the world would be a rather onerous undertaking, and probably consider that while Hougoumont, with its splendid memories, remains untouched—and, as this belongs to one of the leading Belgian families, there is small fear of its

VERY DIFFERENT.

Proud Father—"Never, child, never! The idea of the daughter of a rich banker throwing herself away on a poor man! You must marry wealth, or not at all."

Pleading Daughter—"But, pa, Alphonso is not poor."

"Not poor? How can he be otherwise? Break off the engagement without delay."

"But he is wealthy—very wealthy, pa."

"How can an hotel proprietor be wealthy after such a season as this? I'll warrant he hasn't got five pounds to his name."

"But, pa, he is not an hotel proprietor."

"Nonsense! He himself admits it. Here is his card, 'Alphonso de Blank, Whitecap Hotel.'"

"I know; but he is not the proprietor."

"What is he, then?"

"The head waiter."

"Oh, that is different. Bless you, my child!"

ON THE MIGHTY DEEP.

The great ocean liner rolled and pitched.

"Henry," faltered the young bride, "do you still love me?"

"More than ever, darling," was Henry's fervent answer.

Then there was a eloquent silence.

"Henry," she gasped, turning her pale, ghastly face away, "I thought that would make me feel better, but it doesn't!"

SOCIETY NOTE.

It sounds pretty in a report of a social affair to say that the house was illuminated with candles, but it means a lot of grease.

In Nature's Storehouse There are Cures.—Med cal experiments have shown conclusively that there are medicinal virtues in even ordinary plants growing up around us which give them a value that cannot be estimated. It is held by some that Nature provides a cure for every disease which neglect and ignorance have visited upon man. However, this may be, it is well known that Par-melee's Vegetable Pills, distilled from roots and herbs, are a sovereign remedy in curing all disorders of the digestion.

HIS GREATEST NEED.

CHILDREN AS ASSETS.

Are Much Sought for by Spanish Beggars.

Quite a flourishing trade is done by the poorer classes of Madrid, who let out their children to beggars at so much per hour.

The intending hirer applies to the parents of a likely child, the price is agreed upon, a small amount paid down as a guarantee for the return of the little one, and the beggar forthwith sets out with his human implement of trade to implore the public charity.

The children whose task it is to soften the hearts of the passers-by are required to possess special qualifications. They must have hungry-looking faces, be first-rate criers and not very ugly. For a good-looking child is more likely to earn extra pennies on account of its pretty face than a less favored competitor.

While the professional beggar and his hapless charge wearily walk the streets of Spain's capital, the father of the child, comfortably seated in a tavern hard by his home, proudly remarks to his better half, as he contentedly sips his wine:—

"What a splendid career our Joey has before him! He is hardly three years old and is already a bone of contention between the one-eyed man of Veneras street and the wooden-legged one of Aribanal! As soon as he grows up we'll make a beggar of him!"

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

Goodwin, the American actor, described at a recent dinner a Turkish bath that he once took in Mexico. "My rubber," said Mr. Goodwin, "was a strong man, a very strong man. He laid me on the slab and prodded and kneaded and punched and hammered me in a most emphatic way. At the end, after I had got up, he came behind me before my sheet was adjusted, and gave me on the bare back four resounding whacks with the palm of his enormous hand. 'What on earth did you do that for?' I panted. 'No offence, boss,' said the man; 'it was only to let the office know I was ready for the next corner. You see, the bell's out of order in this room.'"

"I am proud to say that my grandfather made his mark in the world," observed the conceited youth. "Well, I suppose he wasn't the only man in those days who couldn't write his name," replied his bored companion.

During courtship a man's word goes about seventeen times as far as it does after marriage.

ARTISTIC MIND.

Miss Flirt—"Hurry away to the door, Mary, and let Mr. Smith in. He has rung twice."

Maid—"That isn't Mr. Smith; it is the other young gentleman."

Miss Flirt—"Well, wait a minute, then, I must change the photographs on the mantelpiece."

INDIGESTION CURED

Mr. Arthur Tennison, 88 London Street, Toronto, says: "For six or seven years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia. Two much acidity of the stomach, the doctors said, originated the troubles. I tried scores of remedies without avail. Eventually I used Psychine and this brought immediate relief and cure." "Some novelists don't know what they're talking about. Here's one who speaks of a girl's raven hair." "What's wrong with it?" "All wrong. Ravens don't wear hair; they wear feathers!"
