inebriate. Wilson got over the difficulty by getting other people, among them being Wallace, to buy liquor for him. Young Wilson warned Wallace not to do so, but as the latter did not leed him he had him arrested under a law of the Ontario Goyarnment, which provides that any person who buys liquor for an inebriate, for whom the saloon keepers have been prohibited from serving shall be hable to a fine of from $20 to $50. Wallace was fined $25 or 80 days. As he did not have the money he went to jail.

After his eight years of Greek he should be able to read the Now Testament in the original, but this does not always follow. It often happens that a student who goes through his Greek lessons well enough in college finds on going into the seminary, where he must actually use the language, that he knows very little about it.

"Then I mislaid some valuable papers that I carried in the inside pocket of my coat—it's just been one of my worrying days, don't you know."

"George," said the little woman in a calm, sweet voice, "don't you think it all happened because you went away without a goodby hiss? I've had a worrying day, too, and I laid it all to that."

"By Jove, little woman, I believe you're right. Queer, but I really believe there's something in it."

"And here is the money. You dropped it on the hall floor in your hurry. And the papers are probably in your other coat—you know you changed this morning."

"That settles it, little woman," and George gave her the hiss he had omitted in the morning with interest, and if the friend could have seen it he would have gnashed his toeth—but he didn't.—Detroit Free Press.

The Fertilization of Willows,

troit Free Press.

The Fertilisation of Willows, Some singular exceptions are found to rules generally deemed absolute, and remarkable ones have recently been noted in connection with theories recently established in regard to the relations between flowers and insects. Flowers have to be fortilized by pollen before they can be productive, Most flowers have stamens or pollen bearing organs and pistils, the reproductive organs, in the same flower, but these separate organs maturing at different times the wind or insects are agents for carrying the fertilizing pollen to other flowers than those which bear it. This is known as cross fertilization.

Those flowers only which require the aid of insects have color or fragrance.

Those flowers only which require the aid of insects have color or fragrance. This is said to be an arrangement for attracting insects and insuring cross fertilization by their aid. But the exception comes in the case of willows which are in bloom in early spring and often commonly known as "pussy cata." Though in the class fertilized by the wind, they have bright golden color and a delightful fragrance, and the philosophers are at a less to understand what this exception means.—Philadelphia Times. A CONGRESS OF WOMEN.

Adams street, Chicago, during the week commencing Monday, May 15, and the congress is composed of the largest andience of distinguished women ever convened in this or any other country. The advantages that will result from such a gathering are obvious. Bertha M. H. Palmer, president of the woman's branch world's congress auxiliary, thus speaks:

"That there may be a perfectly clear understanding of the nature and purpose of the woman's congress. The understanding of the nature and purpose of the woman's congress. The understanding of the nature and purpose of the woman's congress celled by and convened under the auspices of the world's congress auxiliary of the World's Columbian exposition and is particularly under the direction of the general officers of the woman's branch of the auxiliary it is not intended to supersede the proper work of women in any other department of the world's congress work.

"This congress of representative women is intended to afford a proper and convenient opportunity for presenting the progress of women in all lands more fully than there would be opportunity to do in the other departments of the world's congress work. In this congress all organizations of women of whatever name or object and all distinguished women, whether they belong to any particular organization or not, will meet on absolutely equal terms for the advancement of the common interests of women everywhere. "The work inaugurated by the committee of organization, of which Mrs. May Wright Sewall is chairman, has been prosecuted with indefatigable seal in all parts of the world and has elicited responses of the most cordial and satisfactory nature from the representative women of all countries. Almost without exception the organizations of women in various countries have readily enlisted in the support of the congress and the furtherance of its blans.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS CHANGE

TO THE PUBLIC,-

ATHENS, June 14, '93

On July 1st we will close our books, and adopt the cash system, selling only for spot cash or farm produce. This change in our method of doing business has not been decided upon without due consideration of the interests of our customers as well as our own. We find that in the credit system long accounts and bad debts, with the consequent loss of interest and capital, necessitates charging more for goods than the cash customer should pay. We believe that a business conducted on a strictly cash basis will prove to be mutually beneficial to buyer and seller. During the past week we have marked every article in all lines down to the lowest possible figure for a spot cash consideration, and will be glad to have you call, inspect our goods, and learn the prices. From this date cash customers will be given the benefit of the big reduction, and after July 1st no goods will be sold on any other terms than cash or its equivalent.

All book accounts due and current must be paid in full during month of July, either by cash or note. We return thanks to the many customers and friends who have favored us with their trade under the old system, and feel assured that under the new, they will find it very much to their advantage to continue their patronage.
