THE TYRANNY OF TEARS

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone," is a very old saying but likewise, is a very true one.

In the four act comedy by C. Hadson Chambers entitled, The Tyranny of Tears, which will be given in the Town hall on Thursday, Feb. 1st you will find the proof, and while foolish little Mrs Parbury is endeavoring to tyrannize over her husband by shedding oceans of tears, you may laugh unmolested, for it was the author's intention to amuse when he wrote this dainty comedy.

Then, too, "All the world loves a lover," and there is a delightful little love scene between the staid young woman secretary and the cynical college chum of Mr Parbury, a scene thoroughly up to date, with none of the sentimental jibberish usually found in plays.

Then there is the butler, whose every word and action provokes peals of laughter, and a colonel, father of Mrs Parbury, who lives in a state of perpetual youthfulness in spite of rheumatism and the other ills that flesh is heir to. Also there is a dear dainty little maid who captivates the audience by simply appearing upon the scene at the proper moment. Opera House, Athens, Thursday, Feb. 1st

The problem of caring for consumptives in this province has now reached an acute stage. The accommodation of the sanitariums at Weston and Gravenhurst is overtaxed, and with a view to relieving this pressure and of more effectively fighting the dreaded white plague, a series of lectures has been arranged for imparting instruction to the people as to how to care for patients at home. On Friday, Feb. 2, one of these lectures will be delivered in the town hall, Athens, illustrated by 140 views. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public.

TAKEN THOUSAND ZUTOO TABLETS Cured 500 Headaches.

Mrs. (Dr.) Shurtliff, of Coaticook, says, "Zutoo Tablets must have cured 500 of my headaches, for I have taken 1000 tablets. After trying every remedy within reach, I discarded them all four years ago for Zutoo, which I have taken ever since. It is the most efficient remedy for all kinds of headache."

THE REAL SANS-GENE.

Story of Her Adventurous Career in the French Army.

Every one knows the washerwoman who was so familiar with Napoleon in Victorien Sardou's play "Mme. Sans-Gene," but the real Sans-Gene who lived at that time was a dragoon in one of the great Corsican's armies and spent twenty years in camps and barracks, in campaigns and battles over Europe. In the Musee de l'Armee in Paris there is a special case inside which stands her equestrian statue.

Her real name was Marie Therese Figeac, and she was born in Bursumy in 1774. When ten, at the end of the reign of terror, she enrolled in a cavalry regiment commanded by one of her uncles and soon acquired the nickname of Sans-Gene.

Mme. Sans-Gene fought in Germany with the French and Batavian armies, charged at Hohenlinden, took part in the siege of Tolon, was in the Italian, Spanish and Austrian campaigns and fought at Austerlitz and in Russia. During the hundred days the emperor conferred the Legion of Honor upon her, and she charged at Waterloo for the last time.

With the restoration she left the army to get married. She was then thirty. In the course of her marital career Sans-Gene had five horses shot under her and was wounded eight times in different engagements. She died in hospital in 1861.—London Globe.

PYRAMID OF CHEOPS.

It Would Take a Hundred Millions to Duplicate It Today.

One of the most familiar questions asked by "personally conducted" tourists visiting Egypt and the great pyramid built by Cheops is, "I wonder how much it cost to build it?" A building contractor with a head for figures and building estimates has estimated that the Cheops pyramid could not be duplicated today for less than $100,000,000. With modern machinery and the employment of 40,000 stonemasons, haulers, quarrymen, masons and laborers a duplicate of the pyramid could be erected in two years.

It has been calculated that the work really required the services of 100,000 men for thirty years. The Cheops pyramid occupies a space of 12 1/2 acres and is 746 feet high and contains 143,815,000 cubic yards of stone and granite. The material alone represents an item of $36,000,000, while the labor would increase this about $72,000,000. To this must be added $3,000,000 for tools, transportation and similar items. The pyramid is built on a solid rock 150 feet deep, and to build a foundation of this character would add to the cost to the extent of making the total of $100,000,000.—New York World.

Vicious Candy.

A group of children were playing in a gutter. A passerby walked slowly, watching the active preparations of a "little mother," aged about seven, who was marshaling her charges into order, apparently in preparation for some urban excursion. Something had gone wrong, and one small kid was howling.

"Shut your noise, Tommy Higgins, and be good this minute!" admonished the motherly, with a promissory smack. "If you don't stop like I tell you I'll leave you right here in the mud gutter. You can't go wild you till you closes yer noise and be's a good boy. Do you know where we're goin'?" Well, we're goin' in the next block to the candy factory to smell the candies cookin'. And do you yer know what they're makin' today? Well, it's chocolate creams and pep'mint.—New York Press.

Monkeys Are Fighters.

"Most persons will guess lions or tigers are the most dangerous animals to train," said an animal trainer, "but they're wrong. Give a lion one good licking and he'll remember it. He hits back only when his man is down or has his back turned, but a monkey will fight against any odds, and you never can tell when he'll hit back. Even a medium small monkey can strike a blow that will reach through a coat, vest and two shirts, and he leaves a nasty wound. The most daring thing I ever did was to go into a monkey cage and take a baby from its mother. The ordinary house cat is the most stubborn animal under training, but the monkey is the most dangerous if you work the larger kinds."—New York Sun.

Mildly Censuring Him.

"My goodness!" she says, with a pretty scowl. "I think a girl would feel dreadfully foolish if she proposed to a man."

"I should think so, too," replies the diffident youth.

"But then I suppose there are some girls who are just simply compelled to do the proposing," she sighs.

After an hour's consideration of that remark he realizes what she really means.—Woman's World.

Diplomacy.

Mrs. A.—That cook was awful, and I am glad she's gone. Mrs. B.—Did you discharge her? Mrs. A.—Oh, no; I wished to avoid a scene. What I did was fatter her so about her cooking that she thought she was underpaid and left.—Boston Transcript.

He Saw Them. "Did you see any sharks when you crossed the ocean, Mr. Spikfins?" asked Miss Purling. "Yes," replied Spikfins sadly; "I played cards with a couple."

The sting of a reproach is the truth or it.

Sign Here. W. RITE your name and address in the lines above, clip out this ad, and mail it now. We will send, by return mail, a book that tells how to make yours a "Twentieth Century" farm. You wouldn't be satisfied to use a scythe to cut your grain, when a modern harvester can do it so much better, would you? Nor to use the old soft-iron plough-share that your ancestors walked behind, when you can get an up-to-date riding plough? Every Canadian farmer realizes the advantages of Twentieth Century implements. The next step is: The 20th Century Material—Concrete. Concrete is as far ahead of brick, stone, or wood as the harvester is ahead of the scythe or the riding-plough is ahead of the old iron plough-share. Concrete is easily mixed, and easily placed. It resists heat and cold as no other material can; hence is best for ice-houses, root-cellar, barns, silos and homes. It never needs repair; therefore it makes the best walks, fence-posts, culverts, drain-tiles, survey monuments, bridges and culverts. It cannot burn; you can clean a concrete poultry-house by filling it with straw and setting the straw afire. The lice, ticks and all germs will be burned, but the house is uninjured. It is cheap—sand and gravel can be taken from your own farm. Cement, the only material you must buy, forms from one-seventh to one-tenth of the whole volume. Do you want to know more about Concrete on the Farm? Then write your name and address in the lines above, or on a postcard, mail it to us, and you will receive by return mail a copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" Not a catalogue, but a 160-page book, profusely illustrated, explaining how you can use concrete on YOUR farm.
