MANY HEARD DR. GILMOUR.

Former Pastor of James Street Baptist In City.

Anniversaries In St. Peter's and Charlton Avenue Methodist.

Harvest Home Services and Other Special Events Yesterday.

In James Street Baptist Church yesyesterday Rev. Dr. Gilmour, former pastor, who now occupies the chair of church history in McMaster University, preached inspiring sermons Many of the friends of other denominations made by him during his stay in Hamilton welcomed the opportunity of hearing him again, and the church was filled at both services.

hearing him again, and the church was filled at both services.

His evening discourse was an earnest and eloquent exposition of the saving grace of Jesus, based on this text: II. Cor. iii. 14—"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you alway." First, he called attention to the bestower of this grace, the Lord Jesus Christ. First there was Jesus, then Jesus the Christ and lastly Jesus Christ the Lord. This made Him clearly one of God. It acknowledged His right to be Master. He is the Lord. In the strain and stress of the idolatry of the day, the disposition was not to doubt the goodness of Jesus, but to deny his mastership. There were many people to-day who would declare that they believed in Christ and Jesus, and even in His mastership and ownership, but their lives were a practical denial of it. If we would be honest with ourselves, how many were there who denial of it. If we would be honest with ourselves, how many were there who could say they believed implictly in Jesus Christ as the Lord, to do with their talents, their mind and their freedom as He would.

Mr. Gilmour drew many impressive lessons from his text, dealing with the grace of Jesus as emphasizing the presence of the Master; the forgiveness of sins; the development of Christian character, and the comforter in times of distress. Into every heart there came as acter, and the comforter in times of distress. Into every heart there came a sorrow at some time, when the only thing that would bring the healing balm was the grace of Jesus Christ.

"When we scatter from this service," said Dr. Gilmour, in conclusion, "let us take with us the sweetness of this prayer, "The grace of Jesus be with you always."

CHARLTON ANNIVERSARY.

At the anniversary services in Charl-ton Avenue Methodist Church yesterday Rev. J. J. Redditt, of Toronto, addressed large gatherings and had messages which held the attention of his listeners from to finish.

held the attention of his listeners from start to finish.

In the morning he selected his text from John xiv. 12: "Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth on Me, the works that I do, shall do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." He said that the next, in his opinion, meant that the great works Christ spoke of were moral works, which were of far greater importance than the greatest material things, as they had larger results. Every true Christian believes in the atonement and its applicability to every person and such faith should prove a support, to every worker. The disciples had no prayer meetings until after Christ's resurrection, but after that time they met together to pray. In the evening Mr. Redditt selected as his text, "Christ the door to every gread" and to illustrate his meaning read.

ST. PETER'S ANNIVERSARY.

ST. PETER'S ANNIVERSARY.

A large number of the members and adherents of St. Peter's Church attended the services yesterday, it being the 17th anniversary, and the harvest home was also held. Those who attended heard sermons which were very interesting and instructive by Rev. T. G. Wallace, of Woodstock. His morning text was "How many loaves have ye, for the feeding of the four thousand." He said the church had any problems to dispose of as they were continually coming up, but under the guidance of the Master it still goes on as strong as ever. Even to-day there are many little things which need the attention of the church, and the people and their pastor spend that the people and their pastor spend and the people and their pastor spend their time in taking things right. He compared the troubles of the church with those of the cities.

compared the troubles of the church with those of the cities.

In the evening he preached a harvest sermon in which he said that the people did not fully realize the blessings which had been bestowed upon them, living in such a land where everything was plentiful. Canada is the grain poducing country of the world, and it was only befitting that a harvest home service should be had each year at the time of the harvest, or after it is over. If the country is being made great by its reputatiin for grains the time of its people should not be taken up so that the spiritual side of life is neglected and so that they care little about the religious happenings. They should reso show their gratefulness for being in such a land by advancing Christianity as much as possible.

The church was decorated for the occ.

The church was decorated for the oc-casion with wheat and other grains. At each side of every window a shock of corn was fastened and the other grains and flowers were placed over the zaches and other places which gave the church a regular harvest home appearance. Spe-cial music was rendered at both ser-vices.

HARVEST HOME SERVICE.

HARVEST HOME SERVICE.
Successful and interesting harvest home services were held in First Congregational Church yesterday morning and evening. The interior of the church was heautifully decorated with grain, fruits and flowers, and large audiences were present at each service. The special music provided by the choir was a pleasing feature. The pastor, Rev. E. H. Tippett. was the speaker, and spoke from the words: "Say not ye, there are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields, for they are white already to harvest? (John iv., 35). He opened his sermon by saying that just as the leaves and fruits of trees drop in autumn, so that there may be a more plentiful crop in the ensuing year, so it is with men. Generation after generation passed away, and each one contributed to the life of the next. We liv: and enjoy the result of what our ancestors have done for us. The life of a man continues in his son, and one generation in another. All great thoughts and acts live on, and life is not simply fading away as a leaf, for we are all contributing to future generations. Just as old age brings maturity and beauty in a leaf, so it does in man and woman whose lives are a benediction. They have not arrived there without having their share of sorrows and strife, as well as of sunshine. We should be careful of the seed we sow, as the harvest will be the same as the seed. If we sow seeds of kindness we will reap harvest will be the same as the seed. If we sow seeds of kindness we will reap that kind. Are we blighting the lives of others with whom we come in contact with by vile words or deeds? No unclean story can be told without injuring some person. It is not only on Sunday or on special occasions that we should sow, but every hour and moment should drop into life's furrow the seeds of kindness and love.

SIMCOE LADIES' ANNIVERSARY.

SIMCOE LADIES' ANNIVERSARY.

Yesterday the Ladies' Aid anniversary and harvest home services were held in Simcoc Street Methodist Church. The church was very prettily decorated with fruit and flowers, and reflected great credit on the members of the Christian Endeavor Society, who had charge of the work Endeavor Society, who had charge of the work.

In the morning Rev. Dr. Williamson occupied the pulpit, and preached a very stirring sermon. His text was, "Be ready to every good work." He pointed out that sometimes in commercial life failure to improve the opportunity meant that one never was given another chance, but in spiritual or church work opportunity to improve ourselves or to help some one else came every hour. Had the average citizen known 30 years ago of the growth of the city he might have become wealthy by buying the lands in the east end. The man only who takes opportunities will succeed. People who have never done work that tells in the church are those who have not been have never done work that tells in the church are those who have not been ready for the small duties. President Taft, when asked to take the position of Governor of the Philippine Islands, had to give up his cherished ambition to be a judge of the Supreme Court, but when the opportunity for usefulness was pointed out he gladly acceded, and probably as a consequence became the honored president of the great republic. In the church some are never ready to give of their means, but are always ready to shout or sing. They have a grip on the almighty dollar and will never let go. Some whose hands are always open are never ready to do the spiritual work. Some in the church who are ready to Some in the church who are ready to work are not prepared to suffer. Paul was ready to work, to suffer and to die if Christ's kingdom should be advanced. How satisfied we are to put on part of the armor of Christ, but until we are ready to put on the whole armor and await for the Master's commands we await for the Master's commands we cannot hope to gain victories that will tell for eternity.

Rev. W. H. Sedgewick. M. A., of Central Presbyterian Church, occupied the pulpit in the evening, and preached a very thoughtful sermon, taking for his text Paul's words to Timothy, "Remember Jesus Christ.

The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Geo. Siddall, sang appropriate music, and at the evening service Mr. Kempsang a solo that gave great pleasure to his hearers.

The services will be continued this evening, when the national tea will be rening, when the national tea will be held in the church. W. M. McClemont, the popular president of the Canadian Club, will give an address on a patriotic theme, and a splendid musical programme will be presented.

"THE WITCHING HOUR."

"The Witching Hour" will be the of-fering at the Grand to-morrow and Wed-nesday evenings. There seems to be no question as to the public's fondness for he drama with a mystic element, which is fully proven by the record of Augustus Thomas' psychological play. The sci-entific discussion of telepathy in "The Witching Hour' witching from is not presented in the usual proxy, cut-and-dried manner one is accustomed to. On the contrary, the lines of the celebrated Thomas play teem with the brightest bits of sparkling dialogue, and it is pronounced not only one of the most instructive dramas of a dialogue, and the most instructive dramas of a decade, but also one of the richest in comedy. "The Witching Hour" is in four acts, and the scenes depict spirited periods in Louisville, Ky., and Washington, D. C.

THIS WEEK AT BENNETT'S.

THIS WEEK AT BENNETT'S.

The Bennett will this week will include two attractive novelties, entirely different from anything seen here this season. The principal one will be the spectacular swimming exhibition of the English Mermaids, two girls, who do some remarkable swimming and diving feats in huge glass tanks. It is a somewhat similar act to that of the celebrated Finneys, who were featured at the opening of the Bennett Theatre three years ago. The reports prove it to be one of the best drawing cards on the big circuits this season. Lugi Marbini, ice sculptor, has a novelty, too, and it is genuine. He is said to be the only performer in vaudevile appearing in an offering of this kind. Marbini, from solid blocks of ice, chisels out figures of birds and beasts with amazing rapidity. The act has a very pretty Polar setting, and should attract much ures of birds and beasts with amazing rapidity. The act has a very pretty Polar setting, and should attract much interest. Henry Briscoe and Olive Keene will be featured as the principal comedy attraction, in their bright little satire, entitled, "A Trial Marriage." #### HONORS WERE EASY.

At the regular meeting of Hamilton Lodge, No. 49, A. O. U. After a very keenly contested game the honors were declared equal. This is the first of a series of games to be played between the fraternal societies during the fall and winter. Light refreshments were served after the game.

DUNDAS HAD A GOOD FAIR,

Although Time Was Short Promoters Made Success of It.

Hamilton Alerts Won the Football by 14-1.

Ladies' Work and Fine Arts Were Features of Exhibits.

Although the number of people who visited Dundas fair, which was held on Saturday, was not a record breaker, the directors were much pleased considering the short notice on which the event was prepared. Possibly the idea of holding it on a Saturday had something to do with the attendance, but the management was not discouraged. Every feature was carried out in an excellent manner. Although some of the exhibits were not very large, all who visited the fair was astonished at the good quality, and the judges stated that in some instances it was hard to know to whom to award the prizes.

The poultry exhibit was the largest in years, and every pen shown was good. J. E. Peart, who had a very fine display, was a large prize winner. There was a unanimous feeling that the leading feature was the ladies' fancy work. The large number of beautiful quilts and hand-painted cushion tops were fine specimens of home work and were a great credit to the owners. Next in quality came the fine arts, which included an excellent lot of oil paintings.

Race lovers were doomed to disappointment when it was found necessary to cancel the speeding events. However, the saddle horses gave a good exhibition, which was the chief attraction in the ring. The performance of W. Dwyer, the sporting farmer from Strabane, won so much applause that the judges decided to award him a special prize.

The chief interest of the day was centred in the football match between the Hamilton Alerts and Dundas Juniors, which resulted in the Alerts winning by a score of 14 to 1.

The Dundas team had just been formed for this year and at the start it was easily seen that the visitors were the better and heavier team. They outpunted their opponents and their wings were always on the ball. In the first quarter the ball was in the Alerts' territory most of the time. A try by Blakely, which was not converted, resulted in the score of 5—0. The captain of the Hamilton team, Arland, who had been doing great work, was hurt and had to retire during the second quarter, and was replaced by Moody. The visitors forced Dundas to rouge twice, making the score 7—0 at half time.

In the third quarter Burton, of the Juniors, pulled off many nice runs but Dundas was forced to rouge twice. Dundas had the kick-off in the last quarter and some good punting was exchanged. A rouge by the Hamilton boys gave one point to the Dundas Juniors. A touch down for the Alerts, which was not converted, finished the game, making the score 14 to 1.

The teams lined up as follows:

Squads from the different companies of the 91st Regiment, which competed in the Logie shelter trench competition on Saturday afternoon, lined up at the armories and marched out to the rifle ranges, where the competition took place. After lots had been drawn for position, each squad was marched to the 800 yards and extended. A few yards in front of the 500 yard firing point a line of shelter trenches had been marked out. W. H. Wardrope, K. C. Addressed Brotherhood Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the Men's Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Brotherhood, which was organized a week ago in the First Congregational Church, held its second meeting, and was attended by an enthusiastic and interested audience, Rev. E. H. Tippett occupied the chair, and opened the meeting by expressing the sincere delight it gave him to see such a large attendance, which spoke well for the success of the Brotherhood. He was sure that if everybody would do his part there would be no doubt of the outcome. He then introduced W. H. Wardrope, K. C., who was to give the opening address of the Brotherhood. The chairman said that while it was a great honor to have him to speak to them, he felt it was also an honor to Mr. Wardrope be the first speaker to the Hamilton P. S. A. First Congregational Church, held its

Mr. Wardrope took for his topic a question of the Presbyterian catechism, "What is the chief end of man?" and its answer, "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever." He ex-God and enjoy Him forever." He ex-plained how some people's idea of glorifying God consisted in going to church and Sunday school. It does not matter where or how a person may worship God. We should all acknowledge that each is trying to worship God in their own way. No matter what denomination one may belong to, it does not help unless he trying to worship God in their own way. No matter what denomination one may belong to, it does not help unless he comes humbly to Christ and recognizes Him as Saviour. People cannot fully enjoy life until they partake of Christ, who impressed His followers with the fact that life is not worth living unless it is for the benefit of others. The speaker was glad he was not a wealthy man. He did not enry the great sons of money, whose greatest sufferings are caused by their selfish desire to become wealthy. Their greed after riches left them little time for intellectual pursuit. There is no true or permanent happiness outside of Jesus Christ, and we should not strive to east off the burdens of this life, but should pray for strength to bear the cross. We should show by our daily words and acts that we belong to Christ, and should strive to live such a life that those with whom we come in contact will acknowledge and receive Christ in their lives.

At the conclusion of the meeting the will acknowledge and receive their lives.

At the conclusion of the meeting the chairman spoke a few words on the progress of the P. S. A., there being 148 members on the roll as the result of the two meetings. He thought this was very good indeed. He impressed his hearers with the necessity of working for the Bortherhood, and he hoped that the movement would spread all over the city, as it was too good a thing to confine to one church or creed.

A business meeting of the society will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, which all men are invited.
