A Wise Legislater. s to us

He is successful because he has the fforded manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and en ut influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well-being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legis-lator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Plesant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a pay-sician $5 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, a few powders and a prescription, when one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz :- Cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a health-ful action to the bowels and kidneys.

Returns of the arrivals and departures of ocean going vessels at Quebec and Mont-real indicate the revolution that is taking place in the carrying trade. While th The number of sailing vessels at Quebec showed a decline of 283 this season, the steamers increased 15 per cent in number and 17 per increased 15 per cent in number and 17 per cent in tonnage. Except for some peculiar purposes, the recent improvement in marine engines and the great cheapness of running steamers arising from the economy in coal produced by these improvements, have made the sailing ship almost as much a thing of the past as a mail stage. and Steamers will, moreover, soon be construct-ed of steel. The excess in the falling off of foreign as compared with British tonnage was still more remarkable. The declined by only about 13 per cent., the foreign by nearly 33 per cent. HOW THE FRAUD WAS EFFECTED.

HOW THE FRAUD WAS EFFECTED. The factory which was a bonded one, consisted of two flats, in the upper of which the manufacture of methylated spirits and vinegar was conducted. In the lower flat was situated the shipping office. The whole was in charge of factise Officer Stewart, whose duty it was at night to lock up the mixing-room on the upper floor, and to test the contents of barrels before they were shipped. The hoist used to convey the spirits to the mixing room was also locked before the officer left the premises. The plan adopted by the confederates was to hoist to the mixing room ten barrels of spirits during the day for the ostennible purpose of mix-mixing room ten barrels of spirits during the day for the ostensible purpose of mix-ing with wood napths to convert it into methylated spirits. They then subsequent-ly let down five barrels of methylated spirits, and placed them in the shipping office. As soon as the officer had left the spirits, and placed them in the shipping office. As soon as the officer had left the factory at evening, they drew up the five barrels of methylated spirits through a secret trap they had cut in the ceiling, and poured the contents into the mixing tub. Five barrels of the pure spirits were then transferred into five barrels labelled methy-lated spirits, which were then lowered into the shipping office. On the return of the officer in the morning, he found the bar-rels of methylated spirits in the shipping office apparently as he had left them, and allowed them to be carted away on pay-ment of the duty on methylated spirits. In order, however, to guard against the contingency of the officer Stewart testing the contents of the barrels before they were shipped, he was allowed a considera-tion of $56 a week in addition to his salary of $700 a year. The operation was repeated every day, and on the average thirty barrels of pure spirits were diugosed of in this way every week. The duty on methylated spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits the duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits only 22 cents a gallon.

The duty on the spirits being $1.65 a gallon, and on methylated spirits only 22 cents a gallon, it will easily be seen that the Government lost $1.43 in every gallon, $42.90 a barrel, $214.50 a day, $1,287 a week; [and if, as is suspected, these frauds have been carried $214.50 a day, $1,287 a week; [and if, as is suspected, these frauds have been carried on for five or six years, the revenue has been cheated of some hundreds of thou-sands of dollars. In order to make things look square on the visit of the Inspector, the books were balanced by means of entries of fictitious sales of methylated spirits and vinegar. Notwithstanding the protection afforded by the com-plicity of the excise officer Stew-art, suspicions were often entertained in a few hours. An inquest was held be fore Coroner Dr. John Barnhart.

they did not wish to be watched too closely, they thrust into his hands a copy of the Globe, which had such a soporific effect upon that officer, that in a few minutes he became oblivious to every-thing that was occurring around him. Immense quantities of spirits were obtain-ed from Messrs Gooderham & Worts, and it is said that R. R. Waddell's name is in Birely's bond to that firm for $4,000, which is held for an indebtedness of over that amount now due. It is believed that, in addition to Brown, McKinnon & Stewart, the carter who delivered the spirits was also a paid accomplice. The crash, however, came at last, and Mc-Kinnon betrayed his accomplices. It seems that they had got so reckless and seems that they had got so reckless and confident of escaping detection that on some occasions they shipped spirits to other parties without going through the formality of conveying it to the mixing room, and entered it in their books as having been manufactured by them. The fraud would not, of course, have been pos-sible but for the convigance of Stavart Dunlop with great courage and presence of mind threw the can of milk in his face, which had the effect of checking the now infuriated brute, and enabling her to make her way into the house. Dr. Lafferty was at once telegraphed for. Porters, named Jarry Bouillier, Her father, getting a description of Bouillier, immedi-ately set off to the place where he was employed, and recognized in him the perpetrator of the deed. Kearney intended arresting him himself, but was advised by another party to get out a summons. He took the advice and started for the warrant, but before he had proceeded far word was sent that Bouillier had escaped to the woods. Sher-iff Barker and an assistant at once started in pursuit, and soon came up with the fugi-tive, but were unable to capture him. Meanwhile, the whole neighbourhood be-came aroused and a band of fifty men scour-ed the woods in every direction.
