The Whine of the Bully.

The Kaiser squeals and the Germans, following his example, begin to whine. After bullying, blustering and bluffing the world to the limit, they are now throwing up their hands, and their cards will soon be face upwards on the table. Wilhelm the All Highest has sounded the note of the equal and his chorus will soon burst into full blast. Swine, it is said always squeal in unison and sympathy, and the Germans are no exception. The latest deliverance of the Potsdamianic "that four years of hard struggle have passed full of eternally memorable deeds" is on a par with all his utterances since the war, which he made, began, but in this particular one it is obvious that he leaves it to be inferred that the deeds of the Hun armies will be memorable because of their worthiness. There is no particularization, which is, perhaps, wise. Civilization will not fail, notwithstanding, to insist upon and demand these particulars. Having made the great European war inevitable through the instrumentality of his Austrian tools; having declared war on Russia without any cause or pretext to justify it; having invaded Belgium, contrary to the most solemn treaties made and signed for her protection; having swooped down upon France before he had issued his declaration of war, and before that country had shown any hostile intention toward Germany; all these are memorable and their worthiness will be tried by the proper court, and as they were all under his personal direction the successive horrors that attended them will be written in the final indictment. The memorable deeds performed by his armies—what are they and how will history record them? Little Belgium at the start held up and stemmed the advance of his legions, and has not, even yet, been conquered. At the Marne in the early days his troops were thrashed and put to flight, an accomplishment in which the "contemptible little army" of Britain took no small part. The German attempt to reach the Channel ports were and have been thwarted. The Somme and Ypres witnessed another defeat for the trained myrmidons of Kaiserdom. For three and one half years they have been held inactive and their winnings in the present season are nothing more than devastated and abandoned territory. Out of the five drives made by German armies since March 21st, nothing in the way of lasting success has resulted, and they are now in full and complete retreat before the conquering armies of the Allies. Are these the "memorable deeds" of which the Kaiser speaks? Further the Kaiser announces that "an example has been given for all time of what a people can do in a just cause." The example of loss, suffering, hunger, fallow and the blasting of all the future of the German nation because of the war madness of its ruler and following is before the world. But what is the just cause? Are they afraid to define it? Is it a just cause to burst neighbouring boundaries and carry fire and sword to an innocent people, burning, slaying and outraging as they overrun the lands of the despotic Belgium, in their mad lust of conquest. Is it in a just cause that they ravaged the fair fields of France, destroying, plundering and laying waste towns and villages, committing unspeakable and unnameable atrocities upon the female populations? Is it in a just cause that the Hun has bombed and shelled historic cathedrals, raising them to the ground, desecrating their sacred interiors with filth and using the holy vessels of worship for his purposes? Is it in a just cause that convents have been sacked and burnt and the good nuns defiled and outraged by the blonde beasts of the Kaiser? And he speaks now of reconciliation and shedding crocodile tears, whines that his words have been received and met with contempt and hatred. There is no contempt "too deep, no hatred too strong" for the German Emperor and his too willing followers, and words of reconciliation can never be received from either him or his people, until they have been made to suffer as Belgium and France have suffered. There can be no acceptance of peace overtures from a nation so barbarised and brutalized and insolent. The appeal of the beaten bully must not be heeded, until beaten irrevocably and in unconditional surrender he submits to the judgment which civilization must, for its own safety, pass upon him. Only then will the world be made safe for the democracy of the future.

Beri-Beri at North Sydney.

Nineteen cases of beri-beri have broken out among the Chinese crew of the steamship Bravo at North Sydney and one death has occurred. The patients have all been quarantined. Beri-beri is the Singapore word for weakness. It is an acute disease occurring in certain tropical regions, chiefly in India and Ceylon, and is characterized by multiple inflammatory changes in the nerves, which produces great muscular debility and a painful rigidity of the limbs. It is often epidemic in the countries named and in China, Japan, Africa, West Indies and South America. Its cause is not understood, but the balance of evidence seems to point to its being a form of chronic poisoning due to an wholesome diet. The disease clings to particular districts and ships and has often occurred amongst crews of vessels months after arrival in port. There is no specific treatment, recovery being generally spontaneous.

Three More Vessels Sunk.

German submarines in North Atlantic waters, sunk three more fishing vessels belonging to Lunenburg. Their names are: C. B. Walters, Capt. Walters; Ferns D. Adams, Captain Moore; E. W. Walters, Capt. Walters. These vessels were fishing on the St. Pierre Bank when sent to bottom by the Hun pirates. All the crews reached land safely in dories, Monday evening last and cabled the news to their owners.

The North's Generosity.

Quite recently the Patriotic authorities announced the receipt of a handsome subscription of $395.00 from the Young People's Club of North West River, Labrador, and now there comes an equally generous contribution from the people of St. Anthony and vicinity, for the Patriotic Fund, being the proceeds of the annual patriotic fair held there in aid of this very deserving charity. The amount is made up of $587.45, proceeds of a concert at St. Anthony; $25.25, collection at Raleigh, and $50 collection at Cook's Hr. This is certainly a most generous contribution and all the more so because it has really become an annual affair now for the people of that section to contribute very generously towards the Patriotic Fund, a splendid contribution having been made every year by them since the war began.

Casualty List.

RECEIVED AUGUST 30th, 1918.

At Eight Stationary Hospital, Aug. 28, 2658—Pte. Michael Keen, Onkoloids Cove Road, City, G. S. W. left leg severe. Accidental.

2956 — Pte. Bernard Butler, 51 Cabot Street, City, G. S. W. left leg, severe. Accidental.

J. R. BENNETT,
Minister of Militia.

With the Rod.
(Western Star.)
Parties who have been whipping the pools of the Lower Harbour, the past week or ten days tell us there are numerous salmon of a large size in the river, and one party counted seventy-five on one set of shoats, but the fish were not taking the fly very well.

R. G. Rendell and his three daughters caught one salmon each, ranging from 17 to 18 lbs. each. They were fishing at Hard Sprabble.

Manager Phipps had a magnificent fish on, which carried away his leader.

E. D. Lilly landed a 26 1/2 pound salmon at Stag Island on Sunday.

Raymond Lilly landed one on Friday and two on Saturday at Stag Island. One weighed 20 lbs., the other 17 and 18 lbs. respectively.

The fishing in the rivers at Hawk's Bay has been exceptionally good. The best catches have been made by Mr. Bristol of New York and Professor C. E. Bennett of Ithaca, N.Y., some of the fish, particularly those taken from the Torment River, being of large size.

A German Spy.

Alr: "The Isles of Greece."
The Isle of fish, the Isle of fish, Where folks are drinking "two in one."
To-day the finest "cypury fish" Is cod which stings to every tongue; Where if a man be looking shy Some folks will say he's a German spy.

A man sat on the rocky brow Which overlooks the Battery side. He watched the boats which sailed below.
Upon the silent harbors tide Not thinking that some had an eye Upon him as a German spy.

They seized him and they took his work,
Two leaves of rhyming it did show; He gave the "German name" of Burke And then they told the "spy" to go. Satisfied no bombs would fall "from high" And that Burke could be no German spy.

Again we find on Monday night Our energetic poet's tramp,
"Twas said by some a "German light," But he "was in 'Tom' Seymour's camp; I'm afraid some folks will say "bye n' bye" The man in the moon is a German spy. JAMES MURPHY. August 30th, 1918.

"Ethie" Makes Quick Trip.

FISHERY CONTINUES GOOD.

The s.s. Ethie, Capt. E. English, made a splendid run on her last trip northward, having made the voyage in about six days. She reached Cupling at 5 o'clock yesterday morning inward bound, and gave the Western Star the following fishery report:

August 23—At Bonne Esperance and Salmon Bay there continues good codfishing.

Blanc Sablon—Not much doing; the season being about over.

Forteau—There is yet some cod going.

Lance au Loup—A few small fish are being taken, but not in season.

West St. Modeste—There is good fishing.

Pleasure Hr.—There is good fishing. Allen's have 300 qds. of cod ashore.

Battle Hr. and Cape Charles—Boats are now getting a little cod.

All the boats from Battle Hr. to Henley Hr., have been fishing at St. Peter's Bay, where cod are numerous.

Not much herring reported to date.

Trapping is over for the season.

All on the Labrador side of the Straits are pretty safe now as far as the fishing voyage is concerned, and the next problem will be of means to move the catch to market.

There are no fishing operations on the Newfoundland side of the Straits at present, and people have been taking advantage of the fine weather of late for the making of their catch.

Last Evening's Ball Game.

Last evening's ball game between the All-Comers and Natives, resulted in a win for the latter by 7 runs to 5. Much to the disappointment of the spectators, the game had to be called off after the fifth inning, owing to darkness setting in. Hill and Brasie both pitched well, the former having 7 strike outs, and the latter, who went in the box in the second inning. E. Two hits were gotten off Hill, but none off Brasie. McDonald pitched at first for the All-Comers, but in the second inning, moved to second base, and was replaced by Brasie. Messer, Chesman and Montgomery were the batters; Channing and Messer, scorers.

The Bilious Habit

Some people have bilious spells about every so often until they get to be a habit. The liver is at fault. Get the liver right by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the bile will not collect in the blood until it poisons you.

There is no one organ in the human body which has so great a control of health as the liver. Hence the far-reaching effect of this treatment.
