—Do You Enjoy Your Pain?
—Are You Married to Your Disease?
—Will You be Lonesome
Without Your Suffering?

YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

Come and get well, for I practice the most marvelous Health Science known to mankind; I know what it will do, so do all my present and past patients.

If you think it is a "fake," "bunk" or another way to separate you from a few of your musty old dollars, stay away, "enjoy" your pains; they're yours.

No, I'm not soliciting your case, but I do hate to see so many sick people. I'm just telling you Chiropractic can get you well, if you want to be well.

"You don't believe it; it's not so."

ALRIGHT—

They told Edison he'd burn up New York with his new fangled electric lights.

They told Columbus he was bughouse and proved it (to their own satisfaction).

They said Orville and Wilbur Wright were crazy—the very idea that men could fly!

According to the "wise" ones, Ford would never be able to sell a thousand cars a year. Now look at him, he turns that number out every hour.

Go on—they're your pains and aches and miseries—enjoy them. You've hand-nursed them for years. They don't hurt me and you're not being mislead.

I've just one purpose in life—that's to get folks well who are tired of being sick, and I do. I would practice Chiropractic if I had millions.

Yes, it costs money. Not near as much as it is worth though, and I am getting plenty of patients, thank you.

So get well or hug your disease closer and stay sick. You're the judge, and it makes no difference to me. (Honestly, now, how could it?)

Chiropractic is good for any kind of a disease or affliction you have.

Don't believe it?

Alright, then, Columbus was crazy.

Market News.

(Trade Review.)

Common Cod Oil—The local situation lacks new features of any kind. The removal of the Export Tax created a corresponding advance to the fishermen, for which they are thankful, but are now looking forward to an increased demand with still higher prices. The season is advancing and the demand is certainly very slow of coming.

Cod Liver Oil—Encouraging reports still come from the scientists but these reports are not backed up by dollars and cents such as our refiners are looking for, but they believe that there is a good time coming. There is no difficulty to sell any quantity of oil that can be manufactured here, but the trouble is to get a paying price. The refiners are recognizing its superior quality and are ready to pay higher prices, but the druggists are very slow and are prejudiced with conservative opinions that will take time to shake.

Flour—Great improvement throughout Manitoba has followed recent rains and cool weather and a good average yield is now assured. Wheat harvesting was general during the last week of August. It is interesting to note that in spite of the late start assigned to this crop by alarmists during almost the entire period of its growth, it is given out as an actual fact that the Manitoba crop is the best quality for many years. The samples of grain submitted are splendid and damage from rust, hail, frost and other crop menaces is relatively light. With such glowing reports we are certain of having the best quality of flour and as wheat values show a slight decline we need not fear any spectacular "fire wires" on price of flour during this season. The American wheat crop is now expected to be over 200 million bushels, which means a surplus which must find its use in foreign countries. This surplus is not large but will help to keep prices down to a correct world wide value. The Russians expect to have a surplus for export but it is not likely to be as large as it was last year.

Pork and Beef—Although live hogs have been slightly more plentiful there was nevertheless an acute demand, and in consequence an advance of nearly one cent per pound. The larger packers are said to be revising their price lists for both pork and beef with the prospect of a considerable advance.

Melasses—Not much demand at this season, but there is certain to be increased requirements up to the end of the year. An easier quotation in price is noted and buyers should take advantage of this condition as it is not likely to continue.

Sugar—A steady advance is noted in price of American granulated. The preserving season is now nearing and as the fruit has been harvested for this season.

Butter—Butter continues to show increased strength already evident. A renewed demand from England for the finest creamery grades has been an important feature.

Cheese—Under a fair enquiry from both foreign and domestic buyers an advance of one cent per pound was established last week.

Dried Fruits—The Californian dried fruit market maintains a very strong position. The tendency is that higher prices will prevail within thirty days. Raisins are very strong and a general shortage is predicted. This fruit has been in such abundance that values have been abnormally depressed, but conditions point to a considerable change in the near future.

Apple Crop—An exceedingly dry season is reported from British Columbia, and the O.K. apples are said to be two weeks earlier than usual.

The celebrated McIntosh Reds, the fancy red apple that attracts the attention of small boys and grown-ups as well, is now being picked and will no doubt be rushed along here as quickly as possible. The winter keeping varieties will be ready for shipment before the end of September or early in October. The crop both in Canada and the United States is said to be 50 per cent less than that of last year.

Says Nerves Control

INTESTINAL MOVEMENT.

Toronto.—Contractile movement in the small intestine is controlled telegraphically through the nerve net by which it is sheathed, rather than by automatic, rhythmic contraction of the muscles in the intestinal wall, according to Dr. V. E. Henderson, of the University of Toronto. Dr. Henderson has persuaded pieces of intestine from different animals to ripple periodically in his laboratory, in similar fashion to the motion which causes the onward movement of the food materials during the process of digestion. "The motion does not depend for its propagation on muscle alone," said Dr. Henderson. "The nerve net plays a prominent part in its production."

THE TRAINS—The express is due at 4.30 p.m.

Either Protect Forests or See Our Paper Industry Dwindle

(By R. O. SWEZEY.)

The pulp and paper industry in Canada uses up about 4,000,000 four million cords of pulpwood yearly. In addition to this, one million cords yearly are exported to the United States.

The forests of Quebec and Ontario together contain about four hundred million cords of spruce and balsam pulpwood. It is quite safe to say that nature replenishes its forest wealth at the rate of two and one half per cent yearly in Ontario and Quebec. This natural replenishment of course is dependent upon the ripened forest crop being removed continuously, and in accordance with a sound, workable plan. Gradually we in this country, are struggling towards a proper plan of operation, but the process is slow. The blame is not easy to place. Economic conditions, insufficient data, over-enthusiastic foresters, and a number of other causes, contribute to the chaos. Another troublesome problem is the relation of forest areas to arable land areas, and the lack of proper classification. This in turn leads to our greatest problem, fire.

If we can only concentrate sensibly enough upon this problem of eliminating fire, I am quite certain that we can more than double our present output of pulp and paper without danger of eventually running out of forest supplies. On the other hand, if we don't control the fire hazard we will see a decline in our pulp and paper production beginning about fifteen or twenty years hence, with the industry ending in disaster within forty years.

But I believe we can, and shall, control forest fires. Governments that never move on a national problem until kicked into it are now awakening and are showing a sincere desire to solve the problem, but there is a lack of experienced men who can understand the fundamental causes of this serious menace, and, in consequence, the application of remedies is sometimes, or, indeed, too often, ludicrous. Our technical and popular bodies in forestry matters have been loud in denunciation of forest waste, but they have offered little, if any, sound advice on methods of control. If a little more attention were paid to the promiscuous burning of slash by settlers, these same settlers, who are our log operators and woodsmen, would learn right at their own doorstep that they must be careful with fire in or near the forest.

I regret to say that in spite of all the noise, both Quebec and Ontario forest rangers are even at this moment far too lax in permitting the burning of slash.

Cure for Mouth
and Foot Disease

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 1.—Said to have been a family secret for generations, a cure for foot and mouth disease has been announced in Scotland, by an Annandale woman who, according to a letter received by Adam Henderson, Durban district farmer, has been successful in applying the treatment successfully to a herd of 150 infected cattle. The woman is Mr. Henderson's mother-in-law.

The treatment has created widespread comment in Scottish newspapers and the question of public recognition of the woman, whose name is Mrs. Thompson, by the Ministry of Agriculture has been mooted.

According to the information received in the letter, Mrs. Thompson's son was brought to the condition of a pedicure of cattle belonging to Thomas C. Lindsay of Aitkenbrae Moncton, Ayrshire. The valuable herd became infected with the deadly disease which necessitated isolation. He was offered compensation and urged to destroy the animals. This he declined and consulted Mrs. Thompson.

He began to treat the animals with her cure and an immediate improvement was noticeable, and within 10 days the whole herd was free of the disease.

No British Loan

DISAPPROVAL BY LONDON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Council of the London Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:—

That the Council of the London Chamber of Commerce records its strong disapproval of the proposed treaty between His Majesty's Government and the Union of Soviet Republics in Russia.

It desires to reiterate the view it has expressed on many occasions that no agreement with Soviet Russia can be satisfactory to this country, which does not provide for a settlement of the trade debts due by Russian nationals to British subjects, and that the claims of the Governments against one another should be kept separate and distinct from the claims of the nationals of the two countries.

That this Council particularly disapproves of the proposal that the

For Three Days Only—The $1,500,000 Film Sensation

HISTORY has never known a period richer in romance than the bold, riotously extravagant days when Cardinal Richelieu's red robe of power encompassed all of France. To bring this age to life on the screen has cost more than $1,500,000. Such magnificence has never before been attempted. The result is a film that will remain for years the most ambitious, the most sumptuous, the most thrilling of all picture creations.
