

ROGERS OPENS HIS VOTES CAMPAIGN

Calls Liberals Horde of Devising "Grafters and Simpletons."

CLERGY SIMPLE-MINDED

Says Liberal Press is "Venomous and Lying," Living on "Graft, Loot, Plunder."

Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, who has recently returned from Winnipeg where he attempted to hush the investigation into the public works scandal, yesterday before the Conservative Club of Montreal made a speech which may be regarded as the keynote of the Conservative campaign in the election which Mr. Rogers is endeavoring to force on the country against the wishes of many members of the Government.

"Vicious and Organized Attacks." After returning to the locality of the French people in Canada the Minister of Public Works paid a tribute to Sir Robert Borden.

"No prime minister in Canada," he said, "ever had placed upon his shoulders the heavy responsibility that our leader, Sir Robert Borden, has been called upon to carry, and no prime minister could have carried these responsibilities with greater dignity and a greater consciousness of the original duty to Canada and the British Empire and no prime minister has ever been called upon to meet such cowardly and dishonest misrepresentation on the part of his opponents as has Sir Robert. But these vicious and organized attacks as made from day to day are not getting to Sir Robert and his colleagues from carrying out the greatest task that has ever fallen to the lot of any Government to deal with. In the carrying out of this great work I am confident that the old province of Quebec will remain true to its traditions of the past, in that it has never failed to do its duty by Canada on any great national issue. You did your duty on the great national issue of 1911, and I called upon you to deal with the still greater national issue of 1915. I have every confidence that you will be true to your great traditions of the past."

"Grafters and Simpletons." "I am sure that I only tell you that which you all know when I say that no man will ever be devoted more earnestly and more honestly to his country than the great energy and great ability which God has given him than has Sir Robert Borden. From the day he was honored with his present mandate from the citizens of Canada, during that period he has honestly and honorably discharged the greatest responsibilities that have ever fallen to the lot of any public man in Canada, and so honestly discharged these great responsibilities apparently means nothing to a certain horde of designing grafters and simpletons who are so honestly and so powerfully in reason of the wide scope given them in their field of operation during the fifteen years of Sir Robert's administration."

"Graft, Loot and Grievous Plunder." "For example: Who will deny the strength of the press of Canada, the Montreal Herald, the Montreal Star, the Montreal Free Press, all papers that have prepared in one form or another by the purchase and sale of influence with Liberal leaders, by the purchase and sale of Liberal principles, or by pure and simple graft, during the reign of the late administration? It is to be expected that a press of this degenerate type will oppose the present Government, no matter what its policies, when the present Government took office they were pledged to the Canadian people to adopt a policy that would have for its purpose the bringing in closer bonds of union our Dominion with the Mother Country. With this purpose in view Sir Robert and several of his colleagues at the first opportunity proceeded to England to take counsel with the Government of Great Britain and the admiralty as to what means could best be employed to give effect to such policy. They returned with a distinct and definite answer, which is within the common knowledge of all, that the only means for the carrying out of this policy were presented to Parliament they were received with general approval by Canadians existing in the present Opposition in Parliament, and the press which I have just described."

"The Government Helpless." The Opposition, with the aid of an irresponsible majority in the upper chamber, prevented the Government, as representing the free will of the Canadian people, from giving effect to that policy, which, if we had been able to carry through, would have meant so much in this solemn hour, not alone to Canada, but to the British Empire as well. The defeat of our proposals, which simply meant a vast sound preparation for the then imminent day of Armageddon, brought about by the combination I have just named. We were challenged in season and out of season by this same combination to submit the matter to the country, and it is an open secret that Sir Robert has decided to appeal to the people in September last, fully realizing that our proposals to co-operate in binding in closer bonds of union our Dominion with the Mother Country as the long line of reports of the imperial conference held between 1897 and 1911 will prove, would be patriotic and wise."

"Does Not Want Election?" "And some people say it would not be patriotic to hold an election during the war. Let me ask such an individual this question: 'Which would be the best patriotic, to dissolve this Parliament and have full and complete control, which any Government must have if they are going to render that full service to Canada, and above all do our duty to our gallant soldiers and those dependent upon them that should and must be expected from the Government of our country in the great crisis of this solemn hour, or to remain handicapped and crippled and interfered with at every turn, tarrying and disputing with an Opposition that has not only already refused their support, but has declared by their votes and by their vote a want of confidence in our proposals for the providing of the necessary appointments to the present Government that up to the present have been estimated as necessary for the carrying on of our part in this great conflict, and in view of our re-assertion of the great losses it has incurred that renewed and greater efforts have yet to be made. This provides serious thought for reflection on the part of every patriotic citizen of Canada as to what can best be done to avenge the loss of our noble sons I call heaven as my witness when I say that, under rational and reasonable conditions that neither myself nor any other members of the Government, so far as I know, want an election."

"Venomous and Lying." "If the Government were receiving the same treatment, for example, that the Government of Great Britain received from the Opposition in the House of Lords, there would undoubtedly be no occasion for any mention of an election, but you have only got to look at the record of the last session and read the Liberal press, to know and understand that this is not the case, and in addition to this, what under heaven could be said that has not already been said by the Liberal press in Canada that would create greater strife and division than that which their actions from day to day are creating, for we have, appearing daily, the most venomous, the most contemptible and the most lying misrepresentations that have ever been published in any part of the civilized world."

"Clergymen Simple-Minded." "The unfortunate part is that evidently some simple-minded, innocent people read those statements, and believe them to be true, as evidenced by the fact that a very few in number, through want of knowledge, are simple-minded enough to venture to re-echo from their pulpits some of the misrepresentations being published from day to day in the Grip press of our country. It might be well for those individuals to better study and better understand the true conditions before undertaking to enter upon a discussion of public affairs, for, if they have no better knowledge of their Bible and its teachings, they appear to have when they undertake to discuss public questions, all I can say is may God have mercy upon the souls of the unfortunate people that depend upon such individuals for spiritual instruction and direction. Of course, the case of Prof. Bland is somewhat different in that he is a well-known professional hypocrite, who has ever been ready to endorse, approve and applaud every crooked act that has ever been known to have been committed by any Liberal. For such an individual as this, who has never been guilty of any act of either principle or truth, one can well afford to look with open feelings of sorrow rather than of rage."

"Practically Unworkable." "Then we have the memorable attitude of the Opposition on the bill introduced by Judge Doherty to provide for the defeat, as they did then, the will of the Canadian people as represented in the House of Commons, is it to be wondered at that the Government, who have charged with those great responsibilities, answerable for the carrying out of the greatest task ever imposed upon public men in Canada, should keenly feel the danger of their position, and mark you, I do not mean by this their political position, but I mean the position of the Canadian people that will be the result of their proper place in the great struggle of the day."

"Money." "This was not carried to a successful conclusion without money and without means, yet the Opposition declare by their voice and by their votes that we must not have this money, and moved a vote of want of confidence in the Government for asking it. And that hour down until the present the Government have been subjected to the most dishonorable and dishonest misrepresentation, through the Liberal press, that has ever before been known in Canada. Not only that, but under our law and under our constitution, we had the right as a Government to recommend additional appointments to the Upper Chamber, but the irresponsible majority of that Chamber today so length and actually refuse to recognize the law and the constitution and prevent the Government from making those appointments for the sole purpose and only purpose of retaining their control through which they are absolutely the masters of the situation."

"Now, let me say, is it fair to the Government, is it fair to the Canadian people, is it fair to the Empire, under present trying conditions, to have a Government, elected by the free will of the people, should be asked to remain in office, having their proposals defeated at the will of the irresponsible majority in the Upper Chamber?"
