AFTER THE FIRE.

Reopening of Erskine Presbyterian On the cold, biting afternoon of Sunday, flames, and when darkness fell all that remained were the bare blackened walls and a heap of steaming ruins. A different terial, and all the seats are well cushioned. A handsome organ graces the recess in rear of the pulpit. Its tone is pure and full, and exceedingly well adapted to church music. The finish of the pipes contrasts pleasantly with that of the pillars, gasaliers and the arches of the dome. The edifice has a seating capacity of about 1000. The total cost of reconstruction has been about $2500, and the congregation re-enters its place of reconstruction has been about $2500, and the congregation re-enters its place of worship with a debt of about $18,000.

Three services were held yesterday, in all of which the building was crowded to its utmost capacity. Rev. Dr. Mitchell of the First Presbyterian church, Buffalo, preached an eloquent discourse in the morning from the text "When ye pray, say Our Father," Luke 11th chap., 2ad ver., and in the evening from II Corinthians 4th chap, 6th ver.: "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness hath shined in our hearts to give the light nath shined in our hearts to give the light hath shined in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." The afternoon service was set apart for the Sunday school children. Addresses were given by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, Rev. J. Smith, pastor of the church, and S. H. Blake. Mr. Blake's subject was the dedication of Solomon's temple.

J. Ick Evans at Albert Hall. The history of christianity and other eligions was Mr. Evans' topic in Albert hall last night. He traced the growth of the religious idea from its origin in animism and fetichism—out through polytheism—and culminating in monotheism. Out of the early forms of monotheism proceeded the early forms of monotheism proceeded the Jawish religion as pictured in the bible. Out of the Jewish religion buddhism, brahmanism and phariseeism proceeded christianity. Moses borrowed from the Egyptian, Chaldean, Babylonian, Assyrian religions, and out of them he formulated the Jewish system of the bible. When the Jewish system of the bible. When the Jewish returned from captivity in Babylon they brought with them the religious ideas of the Pharisees, Buddhists, Brahmans, Babylonians and other religions and phil Babylonians and other religions and philosophies of the eastern world of that day. The conquests of Alexander and the Romans made the religious ideas of the east familiar to the Jews of the time of Christ, and in this manner we get the sources and origin of christianity. The Promotion of Economic Science. In accordance with the suggestions recently made in the columns of The World a meeting to set on foot a movement for held last week in this city. The number in attendance was not large but satisfac-tory progress in the work of organizing an Economic Science association was made. A committee composed of J. Carnegie, M. P. P., A. Blue, J. H. Hunter, W. Houston and W. A. Douglass was appointed to tollect information and draft a constitution to be laid before a second meeting of those interested in the movement. The date of this meeting is not yet fixed, but it will probably be held during the early part of the approaching session of the Ontario legislature, when members of the assembly will have time to take part. As topics of practical interest, like forestry, agriculture and the col-lection of statistics come within the scope of such a society there should be no lack

A WATCHMAN DROWNED. nas Carroll of the Southern Belle

Goes Down Under the Waves. The steamer Southern Belle is lying oot of George street and she was watched over by Henry Carroll, aged about 45, and over by Henry Carroll, aged about 45, and who is unmarried. At 7 o'clook yesterday morning Thos. Osborne, the fireman of the boat, who slept on board, found one of the gangways and Carroll's hat floating in the bay near the steamer. As Carroll could not be found Osborne came to the conclusion that he had been drowned. Esplanade Constable Williams was notified, and the grappling irons were put into commission. Carroll's bedy was soon brought to the surface. He was last seen alive at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Carroll was in the habit of paying great attention to the weather at times, and he would stand for an hour at a time scanning the bay. It is thought that while in one of these moods, leaning against the gangway, the latter thought that while in one of these moods, leaning against the gangway, the latter gave way and he tumbled into the water and was drowned, he being unable to swim. The remains are now at the morgue. Carroll came to Toronto fifteen years ago from Armagh, Ireland, where he has wealthy relatives in business. He himself was at one time a wholesale leather merchant in that city, but imprudence drove him out of business.

County Court Cases. In the county court Saturday before Judge McDougall, without a jury, the first the first case tried was Malcolm v. McCarthe first case tried was Malcolm v. McCarter. This was an action on a current account. The plaintiff is a harnessmaker and the defendant a butcher. There has been a running account between them for years, and the only question was as to whether the debt was debarred by the statute of limitations. Judgment reserved. Before Judge Boyd the case of Cudmore v. Livingstone was tried with a jury. The plaintiff alleges that in December, being a holder of scrip of the Temperance Colonization company, signed for 24 shares in the Scrip association, Livingstone inducing him to sign for what he said was scrip in the Scrip association, but which turned him to sign for what he said was scrip in the Scrip association, but which turned to be scrip in the Colonization society belonging to the defendant. The argu-ment was that Livingstone should pay the first ten per cent. call for him, and gave a receipt which turned out to be that the ten per cent, was paid in the Temperance colonization instead of the stock in the Scrip association. The case was not fin Scrip association. The case was not finished when the court rose.
