Tourist—An' now me letter of credit is cawshed, can you direct me to some spot in this blawsted country will equal Pipe-weed-under-Thy-copse-Herfordshire-heath, North Staffordshire, England, for a flip at a salmon? Banker—I seldom fish myself, but I understand that Mud-creek-over-against-Bill-Simmons'-Mill-pond, Knox-county-over-the-left-and-under-suspicion-Maine, United States of America-four-hands-round is a fair sporting ground.—Tid Bits.

A young woman picking her way across the railroad tracks in Indianapolis saw a brakeman wave his hand to her from the top of a departing freight train. She smiled sweetly and waved back. Then the brakeman waved more violently, and the girl smiled more sweetly and stopped and tried to get out her handkerchief to fittingly carry on the flirtation. The next thing she knew she was yanked off the track by a flagman, just in time to escape a backing train, which the brakeman had seen and tried in vain to warn her of.

A three-pint dog in a five-quart muzzle of heavy wire was laboriously trudging along yesterday morning, just after the rain, when he came to a small excavation. This he mistook for an ordinary Fourth Ward puddle, and walked into it. The heavy muzzle carried his nose to the bottom, and only his tail remained visible. The spectacle of a dog's tail furiously lashing the water attracted the attention of a neighboring apple-woman. After satisfying herself that it was not the sea-serpent, she caught hold of it and set the dog on dry land, with the observation, "If yez had been a bobtailed dog, where would yez be now?"
