named. A written acceptance of liability for replacement in case of loss or damage enables the applicant to use these rotographs in his private office or his study instead of in the library through which the reproductions are borrowed.

Institutions borrowing will be expected to inform the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress whether the reproduction is desired (1) for brief consultation, or (2) for careful study, or (3) for the making of a critical edition. In the first case, the reproduction must be sent back within two weeks from the date of receipt at the borrowing library. In the second, it must be returned within three months. In the third, in which case the editor's name must be given, it must be returned within six months, unless written request for renewal is made, supported by statement of progress. Renewal will be for another period of six months, after which the reproduction is to be returned to the Library of Congress. It may then be re-issued, if desired and if adequate reasons are given, for another period of six months with further privilege of renewal.

Members of contributing institutions are urged to suggest, each year, material which they desire to have reproduced. A special effort is made to meet the immediate needs of professors and graduate students engaged in literary and linguistic research. The schedule for the year's work in reproduction is made out by a Committee on Selections. Suggestions and requests for reproductions should be sent to the chairman of this Committee, Professor Norman L. Torrey, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania.

Duplicate copies of rotographs made under this plan can be supplied by a commercial photographer in Washington. Inquiries as to cost, in any given case,
