Special Notices.

AMONG THE EXHIBITS at the recent Exposition in this city, and possessing interest for young and old at all seasons, was that of Alexander Douglas, one of the oldest established retail boot and shoe manufacturers in Montreal. The collection exhibited included samples of his hand-made goods in gentlemen's shoes, walking-boots, riding-boots, Wellingtons and Napoleons; ladies' white satin-work, ladies' misses' and children's shoes. Among the curiosities in this line was a pair of slippers of the style of George III's reign, made from the original pattern, the buckles being ornamented with Irish diamonds. A Highland shoe for boy, and an English walking shoe also attracted considerable attention. It is but scant justice to say that the collection would do credit to a fashionable shop in Regent street or Broadway. Those who deal with Mr. Douglas know that it is not in appearance alone that his goods excel. It is scarcely necessary to mention that the exhibitor received a prize: he was awarded eight prizes, one for each sample shown, besides a silver medal and diploma.
