WOMAN'S WORLD.

4042—A WORK APRON FOR A GIRL.
 The girl who helps her mother at home by performing little tasks takes a real pride in her apron. Several of these are necessary, and an excellent suggestion for an apron is given. The front is plain and gored, while the back and sides are gathered to a narrow belt. Deep pockets are serviceable for holding handkerchief and other odds and ends which may be picked up in dusting. The bib is held in place over the shoulders by straps, which fasten at the belt in back. Percale, gingham or another fabric may serve. 2 7/8 yards 36 inches wide are needed for the medium size.
 4042—sizes 11, 13 and 15 years.

To Kiss—or Not?
 Bessie came in somewhat miserably and sat down in the cosy corner without a word—something so unusual that I knew at once there must be something very much wrong—so I waited patiently for the explanation, and calmly went on writing.
 Finally, with a depth of hopeless-ness in her tone, Bessie said, "Do you think you should let a man kiss you when you are not engaged to him?"
 "Certainly not," I said severely.
 Bessie tried to look a little happier, but failed miserably, then she said, "Well, that's what I thought, too, but I'm beginning to doubt it. You know I really am awfully fond of Jack, and I'd like to have let him, only mother always impressed it on me that no man had any respect for you if you did, and so I wouldn't, and Jack said I didn't care for him, nor trust him, nor anything, and then he went away and he hasn't come back since, and—oh, dear—I'm so miserable," with which long and involved speech Bessie put her head down on my much-abused sofa cushions and began to weep bitterly.
 "This was too much for me, so I wandered over to her and said, 'Bessie, you dear little goose, don't you know that Jack probably thinks you're just the dearest, wisest, pluckiest little girl in the world, and that it is just to 'save his face' and give you a chance to repeat that he is staying away. Ten to one he appreciates you as much now as he ever did."
 "I remember a man telling me once that the reason he married his wife was because she was the first girl he ever knew who wouldn't let him kiss her, and another chap told me that he never would have proposed to his fiancée if she hadn't turned him down when he attempted to kiss her before they were engaged."
 "Cheer up, girlie. You know the old adage, 'Familiarity breeds contempt.' You will probably have Master Jack back on his knees before the week is out, and don't be too ready to forgive him, either."
 "No man ever appreciates the things he wins too easily, and the woman who makes herself unobtainable is always madly adored."
 But poor Bessie wept and refused to be comforted, all because a conceited little jackanapes failed to appreciate her delightful modesty and was trying to "show her he wouldn't be fooled twice as much now as he ever did."
 "Heaven grant us patience with the modern youth!"

Coughs of Children

Especially night coughs. Nature needs a little help to quiet the irritation, control the inflammation, check the progress of the disease. Our advice is—give the children Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask your doctor if this is his advice also. He knows best. Do as he says. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.

GIRL RESTORED TO LIFE
HEART STILL 20 MINUTES

Case of Patient for Whom Apparently There Was No Hope Amazes Physicians.

London, Jan. 12.—The remarkable case of a child, Ruth Geoffrey, who was virtually raised from the dead at the Park Lane Isolation Hospital, has aroused intense interest.

The child, who is 8 years old, was taken by her mother to the hospital in a dying condition. She apparently ceased to breathe while preparations for the operation were being made, but artificial respiration being employed, she began to breathe again 20 minutes later.

"It is certainly a remarkable case," said one of the hospital doctors. The child, who has a most interesting history, was brought in apparently in a hopeless condition, suffering from Ceph-algia. She was really at her last gasp. She was removed to a hospital room, where two doctors and three nurses were in attendance. No sooner had the chloroform ceased than the child's breathing ceased. Her heart certainly did not beat. The child's color was waxy.

One of the nurses left the room, saying, "It is all over."
 But the doctors determined to proceed with the operation. Tracheotomy was performed, the child was apparently dead. The operation took exactly 20 minutes. Then, as a last hope, artificial respiration, aided by strychnine, brandy and hot bottles, was employed.

To everyone's amazement, the child began to breathe again. The staff was delighted as well as astonished.

How long the child ceased to breathe is, of course, difficult to tell. Unless her heart becomes affected, there is an excellent chance of her complete recovery. The tube has been removed from her throat, and she can speak quite clearly now.

OAKVILLE FEARS "CATARACT"
 Delay in Passing Bylaw for Commission to Manage Civic Plants.

Oakville, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—At the last meeting of the council for 1906, the third reading of the bylaw to place the proposed municipal water-works and electric light plants in the hands of a commission, was bucked by Ald. Hillmer, who was elected to a seat in the council for 1907.

It is understood that it is a move towards throwing out the municipal ownership scheme, and that the Cataract Power Co., who have a line to Oakville, wish to have control of the lighting of the town.

The bylaw was carried by a substantial majority, and it is likely that some of the members will, if necessary, press for the third reading of the bylaw thru the courts.

KNOX CHURCH CORNER STONE
 Ceremony Will Likely Take Place on January 20.

In all probability the corner stone of the new Knox Presbyterian Church on Spadina-avenue will be laid Saturday afternoon, Jan. 20, and the dedication of the new Sunday school, which is almost complete, will follow.

The building committee met on Saturday afternoon to discuss the situation and will meet again to consider the plans attending the ceremony of laying the corner stone.

Public Amusements

The Princess Theatre will have a noteworthy attraction this week beginning to-night, in one of the biggest comedy successes of several seasons, and one of the finest character creations which the American stage has known in years. The attraction is Augustus Thomas' "The Education of Mr. Pipp," based on Charles Dana Gibson's famous cartoons of the same title, which has been made an emphatic success by Dicky Bell's performance of Mr. Pipp, the shrewd and droll little Pittsburg millionaire. The play is a masterpiece of comedy, which may fairly be accepted as evidence of its merit and its entertaining quality.

WHERE THE PEOPLE WIN.
 A Manufacturer Will Protest His Trade Mark at All Hazards.

Frank Mercer, the managing partner of the Dolly Varden and Foot-Rite Shoe Store, at 140 Yonge-street, says that the year just closed showed a steady, gradual increase in the sales of shoes at this store.

"We opened this store because we knew that full recognition would be given to a business whose bustle was in the shoes. We kept it up carefully away from all cheap and unreliable shoes. We conquered the market of selling shoes in Canada, who date back to the days of the United States at exactly the same price. We were helped rather than retarded by the rising cost of leather. For the people know that a manufacturer stamps his name and the selling price on a pair of shoes he must protect and enhance the value of that trade-mark name. He can't afford to cheapen the cost of the shoe—for that would spell ruin.

"This is why, as a retailer, in these cost-raising days, must refuse to sell or handle any shoe on which the maker will not stamp his trade mark. The shoe is the maker's guarantee of worth, and that is another protective measure for the public."

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

she writes: "For the past fourteen months I was nervous all the time, and became so unwell I was unable to walk across the house without getting dizzy. My friends told me I looked like a living ghost and advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got two boxes and within two weeks I had improved wonderfully and after finishing the fourth box I was completely cured. They are the greatest pills I ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills act directly on the disordered heart and nerves, and restore them to healthy action. They are an equal for relieving and strengthening the heart beat, correcting the nervous system, and acting as a food for the blood, improving its quality, making it rich and red.

RACE "PROBLEM" ACUTE
ROOSEVELT RESPONSIBLE

Senator Tillman Accuses President of Punishing Negroes for Carrying Out His Advice.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The senate to-day debated on the race question. Senator Tillman was the principal participant, and Senator Patterson of Colorado was his opponent, which brought into striking contrast the views of the south and the north on this question.

President Roosevelt's action on the Brinsville affair was the subject of discussion. Mr. Tillman held that nothing was involved except the race question, and that the administration is responsible for the "messing-up" of the status of the race problem in the south. The president, he maintained, had encouraged the negro to assert his equality with the white man, and had then wrought vengeance on a whole battalion for following that encouragement. He insisted that the president's action in both respects.

Mr. Patterson defended the president's right to discipline the troops, but believed there might be some ground to question his advisability. He attacked the strong terms what he regarded as the racial position of Tillman, and predicted that the extinction of the democratic party in the north would follow a continuance of such a policy. The debate occupied four hours. On several occasions the galleries had been cleared against applauding by the vice-president, who finally threatened to clear them if the offense was repeated. No action was taken on the resolution of an investigation of the Brinsville affair, but Mr. Foraker gave notice that on Monday he should endeavor to have it disposed of.

Senator Tillman said in part: "It is useless to deny that the race question lies at the bottom of all this. It is equally useless to say that these troops were discharged because they were negroes.

"The issue involved in one of the most important of the nation's history, and the president is largely responsible for the position the negroes in the south have taken. He gave recognition to Booker T. Washington in a social way, knowing he was flying in the face of caste feeling among 17 million of southern white men and three-fourths of the northern people. He made a mess of it in the first place, and has made a worse mess of the last."

RACE WAR Predicted.
 After predicting in the near future a race conflict to ensue whether the negro is the equal of the white Caucasian, Mr. Tillman continued: "Broadly speaking, the white people of the United States are faced with the choice of vital issue as to whether the Caucasian race shall share in its inheritance of the earth."

Mr. Tillman then referred to the situation in Cuba, San Domingo, and the territories as emphasizing the acute-ness of the race question, and declared that these phases of the subject sink into significance when compared with the situation of the southern states in six of which negro pre-ponderance is marked. The senator then quoted from the president's message on the investigation of the Oliver-Baugh combination, in which he declared that each man should be judged on his merits as a man and not "as a member of a race," and asked whether these words were sincere, and if it was possible or desirable that natural racial instincts should be ignored and "the Caucasian race" should appear and in the end all men would have "one skin and one type." He continued:

"President Roosevelt ready to act up to his own theory and have his children marry men and women of the other race? Would he accept as a daughter-in-law a Chinese, a Malay, an Indian or a negro, in accord with the doctrine laid down in his message?"

"The answer is, 'No.' We all know he would not, and while I find words, but no parables, words like these are a source of incalculable evidence, coming from such a high source."

Tragedies Multiply.
 After declaring that the Southwestern are resolved to maintain control of their state governments, Mr. Tillman said: "Race antagonism increases in intensity. Are things to drift until direful tragedies multiply on every hand and blood shall flow like water? Is the statesmanship of our time inadequate to cope with this question just as the statesmanship of 1860 failed to prevent the dire catastrophe of civil war? That war was fought to settle the race question, but 40 years after we find conditions more threatening in some of its aspects than they were in 1861. The deep interest shown in the Brinsville case is evidence that the people of the country feel a deep concern in the question. I am ready, for one, to go to battle under the slogan, 'America for the Americans, and this is a white man's country and white men must govern it.'"

NO LIQUOR FOR RAILWAYMEN
 Clause in the Ontario Statutes Which Hotelmen Don't Know of

"Every person who sells, gives, or barter any spirituous or intoxicating liquor to or with any servant or employe of any company, while actually employed in the course of his duty on a train or car, or while in uniform or in connection with the operation of a train or car, is liable, on summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding $25, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a period not exceeding one month, or to both."

The above section of the revised Statutes of Ontario, 1906, is said to be brok-en every day in the work by hotel-keepers. In fact, many of the city hotels pay no attention to the law in this regard, for the simple reason that they know nothing of it. The law relating to railways also relates to street cars, and their operatives, and is it not something to be wondered at, that a man or a conductor on street railways throughout the province to drop into an hotel while on duty, for a drop of something hot?

And not only in the cities but in smaller towns and villages the law is broken by street hotels, and other places, by salaried hotel-keepers, and by street car conductors, and it is up to the liquor seller to watch these who are the Americans, and to uniform and white on duty.

LABOR MEN MEET MILLIONAIRES
 Conference in Chicago on Means of Strike Prevention.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Potter Palmer's mansion, in Lake Shore Drive, to-night, was the scene of a conference of labor leaders and millionaires, all of whom were received in person by Mrs. Palmer. Some little time ago the National Civic Federation conceived the idea of holding a meeting to explain to employers and employees the aims of the organization and its efforts to place the two classes of industrialism on a common plane of thought and action. Mrs. Palmer offered her residence as a conference hall.

More than 500 guests and delegates attended the meeting in the art gallery of the mansion. The meeting was presided over by Franklin Macveagh, and was attended by some of Chicago's most prominent business men, and by labor leaders from many parts of the country. The principal speakers were August Belmont and ex-Mayor Seth Low of New York. W. S. Stone, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Daniel J. Keefe, president of the International Longshoremen's Union; and W. D. Mahony, president of the Amalgamated Association Street Railway Employees.

After giving several illustrations of what the conciliation department of the federation has done towards preventing strikes by bringing the opposing interests together, Mr. Low said: "It is the policy of the conciliation department to do its work privately. People often have a hand in getting dis-credited by their work. We do our work in the profound belief that American employers and working men want to do the fair thing, and believe that if we can get fair-minded men together to discuss a definite question of disagreement, in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred both sides, with the light that each can throw upon the subject, will find a fair-minded path between the two extremes."

AN AMAS ECHO.
 Some employe of a local retail establishment stands in chance of losing his job if he is found out in a "joke" perpetrated during the holiday season.

It seems that a purchase was made to be sent to an estimable Peterboro lady.

When it arrived there was found a card in it with the words, "Compliments of R. R. Gamey."

One of the clerks is blamed for having let his humor run away with his discretion, and an investigation, prompted by the recipient, is now in progress to discover the perpetrator.

RAILWAYS BOOST WAGES.
 Chicago, Jan. 12.—After negotiations for several weeks, western railroads to-day decided to grant increased wages to locomotive engineers, aggregating between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually. The increase will affect about 18,000 engineers on all the railroads west of Chicago.

Removal Notice.
 Messrs. Bond & Smith, the well-known firm of architects, 100 Bay-street, have taken into associate partnership Mr. A. H. Cassels, and will shortly move to larger and more convenient offices in the Union Bank Chambers, Wellington-street West, between Queen and York-streets.

For Famine Relief.
 St. Petersburg, Jan. 12.—The minister of the interior has asked the council of ministers for a further famine relief credit of $25,500,000.
