EXPLOSION OF STOVE INJURES TWO GIRLS

It is Thought Shell Was Among Coal Put Into Fireplace.

Josephine and Bertha McLaughlin, of 10 Mulcaster street, had a narrow escape from death when, without any warning, the stove in the kitchen of their home exploded yesterday morning about 10.30. Miss Bertha, who was standing with her back to the stove at the time, received a ugly gash in her right elbow, and also injuries to her back, while her sister Josephine, who was sitting at the table, was struck by the flying pieces of metal and received a wound in her head, and as the result is still confined to her bed. So great was the force of the explosion that a door panel broken and some lettering that was on the front of the stove has been deeply engraved in the wood-work.

THREE DEATHS REPORTED

Temperature Lowest on Record at Weather Bureau—Suffering Aggravated by Coal Shortage.

New York, Dec. 30.—New York City experienced the coldest weather in the history of the local weather bureau today, when the temperature at 8.50 a.m. went down to 13 degrees below zero. Except at 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it stood at zero, the mercury hovered between 4 and 18 degrees below zero. Suffering was general throughout the city because of the coal shortage.

The weather bureau announced that the record is due to reduced imports of concentrated feeding stuffs and the plowing up of pasture land for the growing of cereals. The shortage of milk is being partly met by the prohibition to use milk or cream in the manufacture of sweetmeats and the stoppage of the sale of milk as a beverage in restaurants and other places.

No hope of relief before Tuesday, which predicted another day of extreme cold tomorrow. Three deaths due to the cold were reported, while scores of persons suffering from exposure and frost bite were treated at various hospitals.

Onions and other vegetables are being sold in the market at prices ranging from 10c to 15c per bushel. The price of milk is 10c per quart. The price of coal is 10c per ton.

ALL ENGLAND SUFFERS FROM MILK SCARCITY

Butter Almost Impossible to Purchase—Shortage of Lard and Margarine Prevails.

London, Dec. 30.—The demand made by the labor convention for the more equitable distribution of foodstuffs arose from the constantly growing difficulty experienced, especially by the poorer classes, in obtaining a few staple articles. No difficulty has yet been experienced in obtaining bread, which under the government subsidy system is the cheapest food on the market.

Potatoes and fresh vegetables are plentiful and comparatively cheap, while meat, though less plentiful than formerly, still is fairly supply and at prices ranging below those of a few months ago. This is due also to governmental control. Articles most difficult to obtain and which have caused quite a scandal are tea, butter, lard and oleomargarine. It is almost impossible to purchase butter. Scarcity of milk is noticeable only in the poorer districts of the big towns. The lack of milk is due to reduced imports of concentrated feeding stuffs and the plowing up of pasture land for the growing of cereals. The shortage of milk is being partly met by the prohibition to use milk or cream in the manufacture of sweetmeats and the stoppage of the sale of milk as a beverage in restaurants and other places.
