On board the Fanny were eight men, who were obliged to take to the rigging, where they spent the night in a driving rain.

One of the men was thrown to the deck with great force, but escaped with a broken arm. This morning the tug Gladstone went to their assistance and took the men off. The Gladstone will also make an effort to float both the schooners, the Myrtle and the Fanny.

THIEVES GET $800 IN FREDERICTON ROBBERY

C. P. R. Station Entered in Absence of Agent and Day's Receipts are Stolen—No Clue But the Police are Hopeful

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 2.—(Special)—A bold and mysterious robbery was perpetrated at the C. P. R. station here yesterday afternoon when four men five o'clock. A package containing $800, representing the day's freight and passenger receipts, was stolen from a table in the ticket office and, although the police have been working diligently, up to noon today, there was no clue.

George Beach, ticket seller at the station, had gathered up the money quite early in the afternoon and placed it in a package ready to forward to headquarters by the 5.40 train. He allowed the package to remain on the table, and a little before the train was scheduled to depart, he went to get it, only to find that it had disappeared.

He reported the matter to Station Agent Howard, and also to Division Superintendent Burpee, and later to the police. The missing package contained $800 in bills and two small checks signed by Jas. S. Neill and D. J. Shea. Most of the bills were of $20 and $10 denomination. It seems that after he had lost the money on the desk, Beach left the office and visited the Hart shoe factory, a short distance away. The door of the ticket office has a spring lock, and he fastened it on going out. When he returned he found that he had left his keys on the inside and he had to remain in the men's waiting room until the telegraph operator, Charles McCarthy, returned from downtown.

It was afterwards discovered that the door leading from the ticket office to the ladies' waiting room had not been fastened. It is supposed that the thief secured admission by this route. The police are somewhat mystified, but believe that the guilty party will be discovered. So far as can be learned there were no traps or suspicious looking characters loitering about the depot during the afternoon. Station agent Howard made a trip to Fredericton Junction during the evening, but failed to secure any information that would throw light on the robbery. He is of opinion that the money was taken by somebody familiar with the layout of the station.

OLD TIME SIX DAY RUNNER DEAD

Cambridge, England, Sept. 1.—Charles Rowell, at one time the greatest six-day runner in the world, is dead. He won several big events in America and carried away the largest purses ever earned by a pedestrian. He is said to have earned $35,000 in two races in New York city.

At one time Rowell held practically all the records in the last twenty-four hours of the six-day race. His records for 100 miles (13 hours 20 minutes 28 seconds), 200 miles (25 hours 9 minutes 28 seconds), and 300 miles (38 hours 15 minutes 9 seconds), are still the premier marks.

In 1884 Rowell was beaten in a six-day race by Fred Hooper. It was the most gruelling contest ever seen on the sawdust path. Hooper gradually overhauled Rowell in the last twenty-four hours of the struggle, catching the champion but one hour before the finish. A huge sum of money changed hands as the result. Rowell retired after this contest, becoming a well-to-do hotelkeeper in this country.

KILLED IN QUARREL OVER BALL GAME

Pitcher is Accused of Death of Captain of Team.

New York, Sept. 2.—Charles M. Streeter, pitcher of the New York Yankees, was killed last night as the result of a quarrel which started on the diamond last Sunday.

All that part of New Jersey is deeply stirred over the homicide, which is declared by eye witnesses to have followed an unprovoked assault on the part of Streeter on the pitcher of the club on Monday night, and there the subject of the murder of Streeter, it is said, was again discussed.

Charles Blizwick, a witness, declared to Prosecutor Mackay that Streeter's attack was a sudden one and that the captain did not try to defend himself. The witness said that as soon as he saw what the situation was he tried to get away from the scene.

He was threatened, he says, by Archibald Scott, a member of the club, who was thrashed. Blizwick testified that he finally let go. No sooner had Streeter's arm been blown on the neck, which sent the captain unconscious to the ground. The fight by this time had carried beyond the walls of the club house to the field. When Streeter did not rise the members were greatly alarmed and called for a physician, who when he arrived two hours later, declared that Seimer had just died.

Marshall Peter, Seimer's brother, the assistant and arranged him before the prosecutor. The pitcher in his defence said that he had intended to chastise the captain for calling him harsh names. The prosecutor held Scott, Charles Becker and John A. Scott under $500 bail each as witnesses in the case. Seimer was released on a $1,000 bond. Coroner Curry, of Hackensack, will hold an inquest Friday.

Both the captain and the pitcher were well known and were popular in Pottsville. They were married, and each is the father of a little child.

WINNER OF PENNANT?

Chicago Cubs' President Will Fight, But Concedes Victory to Pirates—Deals With Kling.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 2.—President Charles Murphy of the Chicago Cubs, who was here attending the session of the National Commission during its work of allowing the drafts from minor leagues, says the Pittsburgh Club should succeed in landing the 1909 pennant of the National League.

"We have not given up hope of winning the pennant," said Murphy, "but the Pittsburgh team has so good a lead and is playing such good ball that I fear we are out of it. There are many causes for this. Pitchers have gone badly for us at critical times, either the outfield or the infield has been broken up. Then too, I guess we have played some pretty ragged ball. But we are going to fight to the last. If any team except the Cubs gets the flag, why, I'll be mighty glad if it is that Pirate crew of Barney Dreyfus. They are playing wonderful games. They have spunk and will not let down for a minute."

President Murphy sent the following message to John Kling, upon learning that Kling was going to take a team of semi-professional teams in Chicago and vicinity.

"One of the stockholders in the Cincinnati club and a leader of the bar here, has advised me that the Chicago club can secure an injunction against your appearing in uniform in Chicago while you are under contract to us. You may rest assured that the Chicago club will not waive its prerogative in this respect, and in the event that you attempt to play in a single game in the city of Chicago we will use legal means to prevent it."

FERDINAND P. EARLE, JR.

The First "Affinity"

So quiet was their departure on July 25 last that most of their friends in this city knew nothing about it until this week.

The painter's companion is Miss Gertrude Bull Dunn, writer, artist and horse-woman. Miss Dunn, Earle asserts, is of a feminine type absolutely opposite to the character of his famous affinity, Julia Kuttner, who is now suing to annul their marriage. His present comrade, he says, is no more to him than a "mentality." Julia Kuttner, on the contrary, attracted him by her physical charms.
