"EVANGELINE" SCORES A TRIUMPH ON SCREEN

A motion picture of great educational as well as entertainment value will open a brief engagement at the Imperial Monday. This is the William Fox version of the poet Longfellow's immortal "Evangeline." It is a wonderfully effective presentation.

Through it all runs with vivid force the love epic of Evangeline, played by Miriam Cooper, and Gabriel, played by Albert Roscoe. Audiences sit spellbound as one beautiful scene after another unfold the dramatic story. The producer has done well in adhering faithfully to Longfellow's poem, for the result is a superb picture and one that may be said to stand in a class alone. Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Cooper for her interpretation of the role of the heroine.

What is Christianity? ELDER JENSEN SAYS:—Christianity is the "power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth" (Rom. 1). It is a religion with a living soul of faith. What the manning is to the watch, faith is to the religion of the Christ. "It is a mockery," says Rev. T. J. Thompson, of Ottawa, "to say 'like a mighty army moves the Church of God,' when we think of the scraps and patches of the Church of God." These "scraps" and "patches" do not constitute true Christianity. The religion of Jesus is a religion of all conquering faith that brings the power of God into the world, in faith confirming miracles of healing, revelations and prophecy God set in the Church "prophets," "apostles," "miracles," "gifts of healing," and "diversities of tongues" (1 Cor. 12). These graces and powers constitute the life and soul of Christianity. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints proclaims the restoration and re-institution of the true Christianity of power, with all its authorities, keys, gifts, graces and blessings as they were enjoyed in the days of the apostles. Elder Jensen speaks in the Palace Theatre, Main Street, February 29, three p. m. and seven-thirty p. m. Seats free. For Free Literature, write to Toronto, Canada. ELDER NEPHI JENSEN
