The Man In The Street

Too Much for Him. At a meeting of a young people's society held one evening this week, arrived a young man, one of the members...

That industrious German suspect in Halifax will now loaf for a spell at public expense.

Don't let your resolution to send some tobacco to the soldier boys go up in smoke. Give them a chance to do the smoking.

When the firemen get their rifles, nobody will be able to say they can't hit the side of a house. That's their business. Also, they are frequently under fire.

Don't kick about the weather. Isn't it "Made in Canada"?

All the armchair strategists are invited to join the Home Guard and discover how little they really know about discipline, to say nothing of handling a rifle or diggin' a trench.

Who's afraid of German mines? A schooner blew up the Bay of Fundy last night.

"One more glass," said the deer, as he went through that Prince William street window the other morning. Then he went over the wharf. Anybody can see the moral of this sad tale.

Hackensack, N. J., should change its name. The German soldiers used it as a motto in Belgium.

"Ottoman - a stool with a stuffed seat." There's another kind of Ottoman who will need a stuffed seat when the Russian boot gets within measurable distance.

When the Germans at home begin to learn the truth of the situation into which their war party has led them, it is likely they will change to a Balkan state.

And the acting religious editor, wrestling with his correspondence, paused long enough to ask "How should I address a letter to a Bishop. Should I start it 'Dear Lord'?"

When they get the home defence system organized we may not know whether a fire indicates a house on fire or a German invasion.

When Germany is conquered, the allies should give Roosevelt the job of introducing his system of simplified spelling in that country.

The Germans have a word containing 12 letters. The word is Vierundzwanzigtausendachtundsechzigtausendhundertsiebenundachtzigtausend.

An exchange says that on account of the lack of certain elements, systems cannot live in the Baltic sea. It is the presence and not the lack of another certain element that make all kinds of living rather hazardous in the Baltic just at present.

A Toronto daily says that Col. Gunn is going to the front. Where could the worthy colonel be more useful?

Famous Last Lines "You will be remanded."

Wonder why that deer should pick out Williams' wholesale. He might have gone in next door and been retailed.

The Standard intimates that the shipment of horses from this port, the granting of "war" contracts to several city firms, and other welcome recognition of St. John is all due to the efforts of the Hon. J. D. Hazen. Have our city or its manufacturers no merits of their own or must we bow before the power of political "pull"?

T. S. Simms & Co. have received a war contract. We presume it will be for brooms by which the British navy will sweep the seas.

When you light your cigar or pipe, think of the men in the front.

Combined with that famous slogan "Do your Christmas shopping early," many clerks about the city would dearly love to hear another, "Don't wait till we're on the point of closing on Saturday night."

He Should Know Better. In a compilation of "war horrors," a subject which has apparently interested statisticians and others since the outbreak of the big conflict, the writing of alleged martial poems should occupy a prominent place. It is not so severe for the subscribers of a newspaper as it is with the editor—he has to read the stuff, the others do not. Yesterday a tall, fine looking young man walked into the office and proudly handed to the "man in the street" what he called a "poem on the latest chapter of the war." Fortunately it consists of only a few lines, so in order that his ambitions might not be too quickly and painfully quashed and that he may have this beautiful gem framed and hung in the parlor as an inspiration to his wife, we have decided to print it. We don't know just exactly what it means, but he wrote it—you can't blame anyone else, and THIS IS IT:

We often read of prize game fowl! But here is one which seems absurd— Since Turkey joined the German arms, We have another fighting bird. Back to the farmyard, Mr. Turk— We'll be no Christmas tree for you. Your feathers will be sadly ruffed. When the Allies pluck you through. (T. S. End.)

Near time the Germans put in a pinch-hitter.

Halifax man named Lauf has been arrested as a spy, the authorities probably seeking a touch of humor to brighten their labors.

GOD SAVE THE KING BRIN'S COURT AND ALL TO THEIR FEET

Witness, a Swede, Plays it On Accordion in Theft Case

Gramophone Case Was Next on List But, as National Anthem Had Been Played, Entertainment Was Considered Ended

There was harmony in the police court this morning and the magistrate and all the "courtiers" including the commissioner of public safety and several barristers, and the prisoners on the bench as well, rose to their feet with one accord as the strains of the national anthem, played by a Swede, flooded the court room. The ease with which the musician found the notes on an accordion produced in evidence left no doubt that he was its rightful owner especially as the prisoner had already admitted taking it. This is probably the first time on record that evidence of this nature was given in a St. John court.

The old saying that music hath charms was not disproved for the magistrate turned to the prisoner and informed him he would remand him for three days as he might have an opportunity of securing references as to his previous character.

The case was that of the king vs. Frank White, charged with stealing the accordion, the property of Allan Turner. He pleaded guilty to taking it, but said he did not intend to steal it. Turner, who said he was a Swede, told the court that he saw the prisoner had been boarding in the same house on South Wharf. On Thursday night, he bought an accordion for $10. He and White went into a bar room to have a drink and Turner said he left the instrument with the bar tender until he should call for it. Some time afterwards he was told that his chum had called for it. He met the prisoner afterwards and he admitted having taken it and that he had pawned it for $2.75. Detective Killen was notified with the result that the accordion was recovered and the man arrested.

Detective Killen showed the instrument to the witness for identification and the magistrate suggested that Turner should furnish the court with a little music, which he did.

B. L. Gerow said he was appearing for the complainant in a case arising over the alleged theft of a gramophone. The defendant was not present however and as the national anthem had already been rendered bringing the entertainment to a close, it was decided to adjourn the gramophone case until Monday morning.

At a regular meeting of Thorne Lodge last night the officers for the incoming term were installed by Henry McEachern, D. G. C. T. The officers are G. R. Brown, C. T.; Mrs. A. Cooke, V. T.; Walter Brown, secretary; Miss A. Ayer, assistant secretary; Charles McEachern, financial secretary; G. R. Brown, treasurer; John McEachern, marshal; Miss Sadie Dunn, deputy marshal; Miss M. Young, chaplain; A. Gomme, guard; George Chamberlain, sentinel; Miss L. Young, S. J. W.; Mrs. A. Brown, organist; Miss S. Lunn, assistant organist; Joseph McKenzie, P. C. T. Reports of a very encouraging nature were heard. The lodge has decided to open the Sunday afternoon Gospel temperance meetings on Nov. 29.

CHILD DEAD

The death of Hilda Irene, twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Seely, 37 Metcalf street, occurred this morning at 10 o'clock. The cause of death was the result of a severe case of diphtheria. She had been ill only about a week, having been attending school up to a week ago Thursday. Her mother was the cause of death. Besides her parents the little one, who was a favorite in that part of the city, is survived by one sister, Miss Minnie, and two brothers, Burton and Willie. Many friends will sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

THE CITY'S HEALTH

St. John is today practically free from diphtheria. There is only one case that is known to the local board of health and that is under treatment in the epidemic hospital. The house from which the patient was removed is being disinfected this afternoon. There are a few cases of scarlet fever about the city, but the number is particularly small.

EXPOSITION

A new devotion was introduced in the Cathedral on Friday in the form of Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament. At the 8:30 o'clock mass the Blessed Sacrament was exposed for the day, and in the evening the usual first Friday devotion was held, which opened with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

salary" is that the first is what employees of some business houses have given to the Patriotic Fund, while the other is what the morning papers said the employees of the Customs House had given.

"This suspense is 'sumpin' awful." Haven't seen an interview with Hon. Sam in a week, but there'll be something doing tomorrow when he lands!

The St. John lad who wrote home from Salisbury Plains that he would like "to get the Kaiser's goat," is probably interested in stocking the animal enclosure at Rockwood Park.

Putting the "IT" In Profit

Well planned, well timed newspaper advertising puts the "it" in profit for the national manufacturer.

It makes easy the problem of distribution, it solves the question of dealer co-operation.

Newspaper advertising creates an immediate demand which knocks at the dealer's doorstep.

The retailer naturally moves with the tide. He likes to buy goods his public wants.

He favors the wares advertised in newspapers because it is good business to do so.

Manufacturers anxious to know how to secure better dealer co-operation are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.
