LAST WHITE MAN TO SEE RADFORD ALIVE

"Pretty Risky," Explorer's Parting Phrase as He Left for Ice-fields

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 22.—Mr. E. S. Dowling, who is now in Edmonton, was one of the last white men to see Harry Radford alive. Dowling, a mining engineer, spent the summer of 1911 in the Arctic traveling as far north as Banks Land, within 600 miles of the North Pole. He saw Radford at Fort Resolution and again at Fort Norman, west of Great Bear Lake.

REPORT THAT 10,000 AMERICANS RETURNED TO THE UNITED STATES. Labor Man Declares That Number Left British Columbia During the Ninety Days Ending With July.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22.—Neither the American consul-general at Vancouver nor the chief inspector of the United States immigration department would discuss the statements attributed to W. R. Trotter of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, as reported in a despatch from Ottawa, in which he declared that 10,000 Americans formerly residing in this city and province, went south during the ninety days ending with July. From inquiries here it is believed that while a great many citizens of the United States have returned to their own country, the number has been somewhat over-estimated.

ECONOMIC EFFECTS OF PANAMA CANAL

Will Lift Trade Out of Old Grooves and Modernize Methods—Old Trade Rivary

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 22.—Speaking on "Some of the Economic Effects of the Panama Canal," Prof. A. W. Kirkaldy told the British Association that such effects could be easily exaggerated.

"So far as the outside world is concerned," he said, "the greatest effect of the opening of the canal will probably be to get commerce and trade out of the groove, and cause an all-round modernization of business methods."

Mr. Kirkaldy is professor of finance at Birmingham University, and a recognized authority on economic questions. Of the effect on world trade, he continued: "America realizes the importance of the canal trade to the United Kingdom; there will be a strenuous attempt to displace British coal through shipping the advantages at present enjoyed by British. If successful this will deal a mortal blow at our mercantile marine. Thus the British coal industry must realize the situation, and both the capital and labor interested resolve to hold the market at all costs until the fuel question—coal or oil—is finally settled."

As to the effect of distance, he thought that on Australasian and Far Eastern markets it would be considerable, as the mileage run by a steamer was a serious factor in cost of service.

"LORD ASHBURTON" ARRESTED. Notorious Thief and Swindler Charged With Victimizing Fellow Lodgers.

New York, Sept. 22.—Charles F. Richards, seventy-three years old, and known to the police of many cities as "Lord Ashburton," a thief and confidence man, appeared in the Municipal Court this morning and denied his guilt of stealing $87. The case was continued until Tuesday and bonds were placed at $500. Richards was recently released from the House of Correction and engaged lodging at 65 Dartmouth street. There he made the acquaintance of John A. MacDonald and his son, Joseph, who also room in the house. According to the elder MacDonald, Richards approached him with a story of having purchased the lodging house from the owner and of needing some ready cash.

to get some of the furniture that was in storage. In this way, MacDonald says, the man secured $85. He then professed an interest in the son and took him into a telephone booth while he called up a firm that the victim thought was the Imperial Brass Company. He pretended to secure a position for the young man as a traveling salesman at $30 a week. On the strength of this favor he borrowed $82 from the young man and also borrowed a trunk, giving the excuse that his wife was going to Marblehead to watch the yacht races and wanted to take some extra clothing with her. Richards admitted that he lodged in the house but denied stealing the money.

GREAT NEW COMET IN CONSTELLATION PISCES REPORTED

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Another new comet, the second to be discovered this month, has been located definitely in the constellation Pisces, west of the star Omega, according to an announcement made by Professor E. E. Barnard, of the Yerkes Observatory, at Williams Bay, Wis.

Prof. Barnard terms the new comet "a remarkable celestial body," and declares it is likely to prove of absorbing interest, because it exhibits peculiarities not heretofore observed in comets. It was discovered September 6, by Neujmin, an European astronomer. The first comet was found by the Rev. Joel Metcalf on September 1.

The new heavenly body will not be come visible to the naked eye, but can be seen through a five inch telescope, according to Prof. Barnard. It is said to differ from the Metcalf comet by being periodic.

A horse owner was trying to sell a wind-broken horse and was trotting with him around for inspection. But the other noticed that the horse was panting, and answered: "Ah, I like his coat all right, but I don't like his pants."
