

Croupy Coughs of Children.

The tendency to croup is a foe that all parents have to fight. Croup comes in the night when the help must be right at hand if it is to help at all. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balm is a blessing to all families where there are children subject to attacks of croup or any mean cough. It has a wonderful reputation for its efficiency and fully deserves it.

You cannot tell what night your child may wake up choking to death with croup. In such a case what do you do? Send for a doctor and wait an hour, while the child is gasping for breath? How much simpler were the true specific for croupy coughs and all throat troubles is right at hand. Indeed, no other way is safe with young children in the house.

Adamson's Cough Balm is a most delicate medicine for children, relieving the little throats at once. Its action is soothing and certain. It clears out the phlegm, which produces the croupy condition, and is a safeguard which no mother who knows about it will dispense with. All coughs and inflammation of the throat or bronchial tubes are cured by the Balm with promptness that surprises. All druggists sell it, 25 cents. The genuine has "F. W. Winsman & Co.," blown in the bottle.

Greater Knowledge.

Tendency of the age.—Investigation.—Study.—Research.—A thirst for learning.—The People's Cyclopaedia.

This age, the last few years of the nineteenth century, might be typified by an interrogation point. It seems to be fully understood that knowledge is power. The most a man or woman knows about everything, the more useful he or she is. An allegorical picture of the spirit of the times might be a person in flowing draperies with a telescope in one hand and a pickaxe in the other. The word person is used because the present day investigator is as likely to be a woman as a man. The little boy cuts open his drum to find the noise, and the little girl amputates her doll's finger to see if it will bleed. Every boy prys and questions and theorizes. It is the spirit of inquiry that makes a Cyclopaedia a friend necessary in each household. It is because of this demand to know that has made a new and enlarged edition of The People's Cyclopaedia so welcome to the public. The claim of universal knowledge is not presumptuous. The title of the book is not a misnomer. Among its numerous subjects no doubt many people will find many things they already know. Isn't it pleasant to be verified by a good authority? Then think of the authentic dates, and the latest news of great inventions, and wonderful discoveries in scientific matters.

A good memory is a fine thing, but a man who is immersed in business or professional cares cannot remember and talk intelligently of some great or small thing that happened only a short time ago.

A woman with her many nameless tasks for her household, or with her daily work in store, office, or school room, for her daily bread need never be mortified because she is rusty if she possess herself of a good Cyclopaedia. It is a thing of daily use and a joy forever.

The People's Cyclopaedia is honest in its claims. It is a good, if not better, than its makers say it is. It is compact as a flint, reliable as a magnet, cheaper than gossip. Gossip often gets whole neighborhoods into trouble. The Cyclopaedia is a safeguard for the young, a solace for the old. It answers questions, many of them both by words and pictures. Its six handsome volumes make a real library all by themselves. The cost is little and may be paid in the easiest of instalments.

If further information is required in reference to this Cyclopaedia, kindly write to the editor of the MESSENGER AND VISITOR.

In the latest contested will case in New York the heirs of a distinguished merchant lately deceased there, seek to show that he was of unsound mind, and in support of their contention they have brought out testimony to show that he made his wife wear the same bonnet for nine years, declaring that a new bonnet in ten years was enough for any modest woman. It is testified furthermore that he sought to procure legislation closing up all the show windows of the shops, for the reason that they attract the attention of women, and make them spend money.

HIS OWN FREE WILL.

Dear Sirs.—I cannot speak too strongly of the excellence of MINARD'S LINIMENT. It is THE remedy in my household for burns, sprains, etc., and we would not be without it.

It is truly a wonderful medicine. JOHN A. MACDONALD, Publisher Arnprior Chronicle.
