Municipal Council Quarterly Session

Decided Yesterday to Have Detailed Plans for New Municipal Building Prepared and Authorized Expenditure of $5,000 for Purpose—Other Business Transacted.

At the quarterly session of the Municipal Council held yesterday afternoon it was decided to have detailed plans for a new municipal building prepared, and the Buildings Committee were authorized to spend a sum not exceeding $5,000 for that purpose. Bonds were ordered issued to the effect that the new municipal building should be erected on the site of the old Public Hospital, and several other matters were disposed of.

Warden Bullock presided and Councillors Schofield, Frink, Thornton, Jones, Gidding, O'Brien, Campbell, Bentley, Bowland, Mosher, Donovan, Dalzell, O'Donnell, Anderson and Shanklin were present.

Councillor Dalzell reported for the committee to investigate the conditions at East St. John, and recommended that a contour survey at an estimated cost of $500 be made.

The report of the Finance Committee was taken up section by section. Sections one to twelve, inclusive, dealing with the issue of $100,000 bonds for the Nurses' Home and the sale of the same to the Eastern Securities Co., J. M. Robinson & Sons and the Mahon Bond Corporation at $98,000, were approved.

The recommendation of the committee that monthly payments be made for the patients at River Glade and the amount charged to 1921 assessment passed.

The committee recommended that the sum of $7,000 be spent at East St. John County Hospital on condition that the Federal Government spend not later than the month of September, 1920, to formulate a better method of assessing and collecting taxes in the county and to report to Council; that the assessors be requested to prepare boundaries of properties in arrears for taxes and forward same to the County Secretary without delay; that such properties as may be in default be sold for arrears of taxes; that the assessors of the Parish of Musquash, not having levied in the present year sufficient to cover necessary shortages in the tax collections and for discount, recommend that discount be allowed as usual for present year, but shortage on face of warrant of 1920 uncollected and discount allowed be added to warrant on the Parish of Musquash for the year 1921; that there be issued and sold bonds under the Lancaster Sewerage Act sufficient to net $4,000, term 20 years, interest 6 per cent, payable half yearly at office of County Treasurer; that a further sum of $1,000 be advanced to the Indian town and Lancaster Ferry Commissioners for repairs to ferry, and that same may be charged to and assessed upon the Parish of Lancaster in ten equal assessments of $100, with interest as may be from present time current, and charged against this municipality until paid; that bonds to the amount of $9,118.48 be issued to pay for the installation of a diet kitchen at the General Public Hospital; that the County Secretary and Treasurer be authorized to pay to B. Mooney & Son progress estimates on the Nurses' Home from the proceeds of the bond issue, were adopted.

The report of the Buildings Committee, as published in yesterday's Standard, were adopted.

Councillor Schofield brought up the matter of milk production, and suggested the Council might set aside a sum of $1,000 to encourage production among the farmers of St. John county, this sum to be paid in the form of rebates to bring the freight down to equal that from Sussex to the city.

Councillors Schofield and Donovan were appointed a committee to look into the matter.

The resignation of James Hargreaves as collector for Musquash was accepted.

On motion of Councillor Gidding, the sum of $200 fee from the circus was placed in the hands of the Board of Management of Lancaster.

On motion of Councillor Donovan, the Parish of Simonds was authorized to engage the services of two policemen, one for Glen Falls and one for East St. John.

Council adjourned.

County Housing Board Criticized

Some Serious Charges Made Against That Board by Councillor Campbell at Municipal Council Yesterday.

The County Housing Board came in for a considerable amount of criticism at the meeting of the Municipal Council held yesterday afternoon, and some serious charges against that body were made by Councillor Campbell of Lancaster, resulting in the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting of the Council.

Councillor Campbell charged that the Board was inefficient, did not function as it was intended to, not having reported to the County Council; that money had been squandered by the Board buying unimproved land at a price at which land better suited for the purpose and which would not have required such an expenditure before it could be built on could have been obtained; and that lumber had been put into the buildings which was going to some of the boards would not even hold a nail, about one carload of which had been sent back.

The cause of all the discussion was a request from the County Secretary that the Council confirm the action of himself and the Warden in issuing to the Provincial Government a bond for $25,000, which amount had been placed to the credit of the County Housing Board, which was brought in as a part of the report of the Finance Committee.

Councillor Thornton objected to this item coming as a part of the finance report, as it had never come before the committee. He also felt there should be some report from the Housing Board as to what they had done.

Councillor Campbell expressed the opinion that a report from the Board should be before the Council and made the charges as given above. He thought the architect had been remiss in his duties in not rejecting the bad number.

Councillor Mosher moved, seconded by Councillor Dalzell, that a committee of three be appointed to investigate the charges and report at the next meeting of the Council.

Councillor O'Brien took exception to the remarks of Councillor Campbell. The members of the Board were all well-known citizens and men of ability. The first reference he had heard made about the lumber had been by a man whom he believed was more interested in the political effect it might have than he was in the interest of the men who were to eventually own the homes. Statements such as these had a tendency to keep good men out of public positions. The men who composed the Board were public-spirited citizens giving their time without remuneration to the work.

Councillor Campbell said he had no idea of casting any reflections on the men who composed the Board. He had seen the refuse lumber himself and was of the opinion that the architect had neglected his work.

Warden Bullock expressed the belief that a loss of $2,000 on each building would have to be borne by the municipality.

Councillor O'Brien thought it was time the Council ceased to be a battlefield for himself and Councillor Campbell, and if there was no other way to stop it he was willing to resign. Statement such as he had been made tended to hurt the parish, and it was time it was stopped.

Councillor Campbell disclaimed any idea of being "after" Councillor O'Brien and said his sole idea was to clear up matters in connection with the Board.

Councillors Jones and Frink thought the motion for a committee should pass.

It was finally decided to pass the motion confirming the action of the County Secretary and the Warden.

The motion of Councillor Mosher was then put and carried, and the following appointed as the committee: Councillors Mosher, Dalzell and Frink.

OUTLOOK FOR EUROPE NOW MUCH BETTER

A Spirit of Reasonableness Being Shown by All Parties—Spa Made Good Impression in England.

MADNESS HAS BEEN REPLACED BY SANITY

All Countries Realize Need of Peace and Resumption of Trade Relations.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

By SIR GEORGE PAISH.
London, July 20.—There is no doubt events in Europe have taken a turn for the better and that a spirit of reasonableness is at last being shown. Whether the change has come soon enough to prevent serious trouble has yet to be discovered. Nevertheless it has come.

Proceedings at Spa have made a much better impression upon the public mind in England than did the proceedings in Paris.

It is claimed here that Germany has been completely defeated and is aware of her complete defeat. Whether her defeat was accomplished by the navies, by the armies or by economic pressure or by all three combined is quite immaterial. In these days the most powerful force of all is economic pressure.

No one knows that better than Germany. She knew it before the war, and her most powerful weapon against the Entente was not found in her army but in her effort to cut off food shipments by closing the Dardanelles to supplies coming from Russia and Rumania and by trying to cut off supplies from America by use of the submarine. Her inability was mainly due to America's action in giving so much food and in being economical in food consumption in the war years. That was the chief cause of her defeat.

Experience Brings Understanding. Germany now understands those things better even than we do in England. There they have experienced hunger for five years and they envy the peoples of the Entente and America their efficiency.

Defeat of Germany was complete, and the German people need no further lesson in the wickedness and folly of war. Having proper regard for their experience, they are probably less likely to disturb the world's peace in the future, knowing the risk of economic boycott.

That view of the situation among large numbers of people in England explains in some measure their willingness to allow enemies to recover their productive power and to ask maintain the hatred felt before they realized how greatly the German people, as well as the Austrians, had suffered.

It is essential to appreciate the growing sympathy of liberal-minded people in England for the sufferings of Germany and Austria, more particularly German and Austrian women and children, in order to understand the cause for the great change in atmosphere at Spa in comparison with that of Paris. That atmosphere is more important even than the concrete proposals, and the change should be noted and understood.

Sanity Replaces Madness. The efforts being made by this country to come to an arrangement with Russia indicate that the madness of war is beginning to give way to the sanity of peace. Undoubtedly Russia needs peace, needs it probably more than any other nation. She has done its work not only in bringing about collapse of the Russian armies, but in causing original and subsequent revolutions.

But the Entente nations also need peace. They are in greater danger of starvation now than during the war, and they realize in ever-increasing measure that their own salvation depends in large measure upon helping Russia resume production and to supply her with food in a normal way.

The Bolshevik form of government has now very few advocates in England. The visit of labor delegates to Russia has destroyed all illusions. Nevertheless, it is claimed that every nation has a right to be governed in its own way and that the essential thing is to overcome the economic dangers, both in Russia and in the Entente nations, by restoring trade relations and production. Thus the situation is fundamentally improving. At present only the atmosphere is changing, but sooner or later that will enable effective measures to be taken.
