DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

The Montreal Star Interview Again Discussed.

Sir Hibbert Tupper Comes to His Father's Defence and Attacks the Government on Klondike Matters, International Commission and Other Points of the Address.

His Idea of Senate Reform.

OTTAWA, March 30.—During the preliminary proceedings in the house today Hon Mr Laurier said that all the copy of the auditor general's report was in the hands of the printers for some time, and he expected the publication to be ready and presented to the house on Wednesday next.

Mr Tupper said that the correspondent of the Montreal Star informed him that the information of which Sir Louis Davies complained yesterday was furnished by the department of marine and fisheries.

Sir Richard Cartwright—What the minister of marine said was that he had no communication with the Star reporter.

Sir Charles Tupper said that the Star reporter told him that he had obtained information from the officials of the department, and Sir Louis Davies was aware of it.

in Manitoba in order to fasten charges upon his political opponents he did not take the trouble to investigate the trouble in Yukon (Tupper) was asked by the deputy minister of the interior to give what information he could in regard to irregularities in the Yukon, so that it might be forwarded to Mr Ogilvie who was making the investigation.

He (Tupper) refused to do any more than what he was after the minister of the interior had done, and not after his underlings, after talking in the most general way of what he called misadministration in the Yukon he referred to Miss Shaw's letters on the subject and said that he had never extracted a word written. It was, he said, specific charges that the members of the government wanted. (Member for government benches) Mr Tupper said that there came to him in Vancouver and Victoria men who gave him information as to what he ought to do, and they said they refused to give their names (hear, hear).

He took the same view as gentlemen opposite did, and said so to these men. They replied that they would not permit their names to be put in the paper, and they said they would not permit their names to be put in the paper.

Mr Tupper—There will have to be a great improvement in the mail service before I will do so. I have a letter since November last.

Mr Mulock—There is not a pruned mail ever since you permitted the mounted police to traverse the country, the mails were conveyed every two weeks.

Mr Tupper—People on the coast have been moaning without mail for weeks. Mr Mulock—The Globe correspondent at Dawson makes the same statement as Mr Tupper.

Mr Mulock—The Globe correspondent made no such statement. Mr Tupper—I am interested. I have a letter since November last.

Mr Mulock—I challenge him to produce any proof. Mr Tupper—I ask some of the supporters of the government to refute what I have said.

Mr Mulock—I accept that challenge. I have letters from there every month for the last four or five months.

Mr Tupper—That is not a satisfactory answer to what I have said. He is prejudiced in his relations to Dead Man's Island.

Mr Mulock—I will be ready when you are. Mr Tupper proceeded to say that probably the minister of militia would not be ready. He then returned to the Manitoba election frauds, reading long extracts from the evidence taken last session and evidently trying to monopolize as much time as possible with the belief that the house would not let after midnight, and a reply could not be made until the morning.

He returned to Yukon affairs and said that he had been permitted by the minister of interior to hold claims in the Yukon.

OTTAWA, March 30.—Sir Hibbert continuing said he did not propose attacking the officials but firing the reprimand to the federal condition of the Yukon on the administration which never raised a finger to prevent maintenance of law and the wrongdoing of officials. Evidently to the action of the government with respect to an expenditure of $18,000 for Pinkerton detectives to hunt down political opponents, Sir Hibbert called attention to the fact that the government would not allow the witnesses organized by the public accounts committee to say who informed with respect to the charges they were working up. The government was satisfied in that Manitoba case to proceed without specific charges, but now they persisted in specific charges with regard to the Yukon.

In this connection Sir Hibbert said that he had written by the minister of justice, saying with respect to perjury cases that his department of justice had to do with criminal cases in Manitoba. Sir Hibbert said that the election cases were under the jurisdiction of the department of justice, and therefore the expenditures they had authorized with respect to them were illegal. Sir Hibbert went into details of the election case, and asserted that if certain stolen public documents could be recovered he believed a hideous crime and scandal would be fixed on the minister of the interior and conclusive evidence that the minister had violated the independence of parliament act.

Taking up the question of Yukon official Sir Hibbert said that the government was responsible for the scandalous official had been parried off because they were given starvation salaries and were allowed by the government to become interested in mines and mining. Sir Hibbert said he had many times respected the officials, but would give but little and would submit that little for the purpose of showing the necessity of appointing a commission of judges to a thorough investigation.

Mr E C Woodford, an English engineer, who charged not only were the mining laws crude but that the arrangement of the offices was such that miners were delayed in recording their claims, and the meantime friends of officials attacked the claims the miners wished to record.

The next evidence was a petition of the miners' committee sent to the government. This charged the officials with favoritism and bribe taking and other charges and was specific. Sir Hibbert submitted newspaper interviews given by Capt Cadell, Dr LaBiance, who made specific charges. He also submitted a newspaper copy of an affidavit of a Mrs Dibben to the effect that she was told that she must wait for a survey before she could record a claim and that while she waited the claim was recorded in another name. This other party admitted that an official was in with him to half the extent of this claim.

Sir Tupper gave a long list of specific charges made to him by a party whom he believed was honest, but who would not believe his name to be used. These charges included refusals to record claims, the securing of recordings by means of go-betweens and were in one case an official notification to a party on a disputed claim that if he did not stop work he would be refused a hearing as to his claim.

This statement also dealt at considerable length with the Donnelly-Nelson case, which was decided in favor of Nelson, and the statement intimated the decision in favor of Nelson had been secured by improper influences. As a matter of fact an appeal was heard in the case by the honorable Messrs Mills, Booth and Sifton in Ottawa and was argued by Honorable S H Blake on behalf of Donnelly and an unanimous decision was given in favor of Nelson.

Sir Hibbert also made the statement that Wade black-mailed saloon keepers for subscriptions to his document, intimating that if they would not pay their licenses would be cancelled.

He then proceeded to read a long document not containing any specific charges which he said was given him by gentlemen on whose statement he could rely, and which was fittingly described by Sir Louis Davies as political philippic.

Hon Mr Sifton—I can almost recognize his own language in the document. Mr Tupper proceeding said that a lawyer in Victoria got $500 for getting a Sifton in the minister of the interior by telegraph.

Hon Mr Sifton—The statement he makes is absolutely untrue. Mr Tupper going on to say that a gentleman could not say whether it was true or not.

Hon Mr Sifton—I know I never granted any permit by telegraph. Mr Tupper again argued that the minister of the interior could not tell whether it was true or not.

Hon Mr Sifton—It is absolutely untrue and a boy 10 years old would not have been drawn into a man's net, while the honorable gentleman has been. When the honorable gentleman comes out into the open I will show him a man who does not know evidence.

Mr Tupper went on to say that the minister of the interior stopped permits at the boundary line until certain other permits go in to us.

Mr Sifton moved the adjournment of the debate and the house adjourned at 12.15.
