City Police Court.

The vestibule was well filled this morning by a large crowd, deeply anxious to ascertain the fate of John McRory, who, on the complaint of Bernard McDermott, was to undergo a proliminary examination on a charge of assault with intent to rob. The circumstances of this case have already been published and do not require repetition. The witnesses examined were McDermott, Sergt. Patterson, Policeman McLean, and Alexander Gillespie. Mr. Gillespie's statements did not tally with these of the Sergeant, and the Magistrate gently intimated a certain amout of disbelief. McRory was defended by Daniel Jordan. Esq., but no evidence was offered to rebut the testimony of the prosecution, this being reserved for the trial before the Supreme Court. McRory pleaded not guilty and was committed.

Alexander Ross who is 19 and a native of Nova Scotia, and Andrew Coyle who has seen 30 years in New Brunswick sought protection at the Station last night. They found that which they sought, and were allowed to depart this morning.

The simple drunks were John Almon, 37, N. B., on Prince William street, let go. Edward Small, U. S., on King Square, and James McDonald, N. B., on Market Square, paid $4 each.

Michael Collins, charged with an assault on Mrs. Jenkins, did not appear.

A Letter from a Nova Scotia Fruit Dealer.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

SIR,—I reside in one of the best fruit growing districts in Nova Scotia and am the possessor of an orchard which yearly yields a very large growth of apples. I have been in the habit of sending these over by schooners to St. John where they have been disposed of out of the vessel in the Market Slip. This is a very inconvenient method for all concerned, and calls for some prompt remedial measure. I can state in my own knowledge that a large portion of the trade mentioned now belongs to Halifax, simply on account of the miserable accommodation in St. John, and that no fruit grower would send his produce to what might be called, in comparison, an inferior market. In Halifax we have ample accommodation—here we have none. Cannot this be remedied and cannot your Common Council take the matter into consideration and establish as a market some convenient shed or store house where hundreds of barrels may be stored so as to give the owners an opportunity to sell without detaining the vessel for an unwarrantable time and without any practical benefit? The question is worth consideration.

Yours, &c., APPLE.

Wood's Household Magazine (S. S. Wood & Co., Newburgh, N. Y.) is the best dollar monthly published, combining the useful and the agreeable with great skill. The November number contains "The Ethics of Housekeeping," by Gail Hamilton; "Something about Epidemics," by Morris Langstroth, M. Two Scotch Murders.

Two very shocking murders are reported in Scotland. A female servant on a farm near Whifflet, Lanarkshire, was murdered by her mistress. The servant was milking the cows, when her mistress came up behind her unobserved and cut her throat. The motive of the crime is said to have been jealousy. A man named Robert Gilmour, gauger on the Caledonia Railway, residing in the village of Dykehead, near Motherwell, invited a companion named Robertson, with whom he had been drinking during the day, into his house to have a cup of tea. While in the house Robertson asked Gilmour in a friendly way not to visit a particular house, and thus put an end to scandal current in the district Gilmour, very much excited, declared with an oath that he would not be spoken to in that way, and that he would not allow Robertson to leave the house alive. A scuffle ensued, Robertson was knocked down, and while he lay prostrate on the floor, Gilmour kicked him and danced on his body till he became insensible. He then went to bed and fell into a sound sleep. On regaining consciousness Robertson was able to crawl home, but the injuries he had sustained proved to be so serious that he died. Gilmour absconded, but was apprehended.

Heroism of a Prima Donna.

Miss Matilda Phillipps, sister of Miss Adelaide Phillipps, has made herself famous abroad by her heroic and successful endeavors for rescuing a young American from drowning. Vague reports of the affair have reached the country, although nothing definite has been learned. In a letter to her sister, Miss Phillipps gives the following account of the adventure:—

"I didn't tell you, for fear it would frighten you, that while I was at Genoa, Walter came very near being drowned, and I, with a little presence of mind, was able to save him. He was out beyond his depth and got tired. I was quite a little distance away from him, and although I made great haste to reach him, I saw him go under the water twice. I called out to him not to lose his courage, and got to him just as he was sinking the third time. I don't know how I had the strength or how I got him to the ropes. He seemed almost dead for nearly an hour. I felt more frightened afterwards than I did at the time, and had no more courage in the water after that day. Several gentlemen had seen him struggling in the water, and made no attempts to rescue him, although they were all kind enough after he was on land. We are great friends ever since, and he can scarcely do enough for me. I have had beautiful letters from his mother and sisters, and I feel so happy to have done anything to bring so much happiness to any one."

Her Excellency, the Countess of Dufferin, remains at home every Monday afternoon to receive visitors. F. J. Hamilton, A. D. C. in waiting.

The Stock Market was closed to-day on account of the Presidential election.

The vote of New York city is not yet fully announced, but indications are that Grant has at least ten thousand majority, which will be largely increased in the State.

For New Hampshire, one of the doubtful States, the Republicans show a gain and claim the State by twelve hundred majority.

For Massachusetts, Gen. Banks is defeated for Congress, and the full Republican Congressional ticket elected.

Scattering returns from all parts indicate the re-election of President Grant by a heavy majority.

A NEW WORK:
ORIENTAL RELIGIONS
AND THEIR RELATIONS TO
Universal Religion—India.
BY SAMUEL JOHNSON.

The Springfield Republican says:—
SAMUEL JOHNSON'S remarkable work entitled "Oriental Religions," is devoted wholly to the religions and civilization of India; is the result of twenty years' study and reflection of one of the soundest scholars and most acute thinkers of New England, and must be treated with all respect, whether we consider its thoroughness, its logical reasoning, or the conclusion, unacceptable to the majority no doubt, at which it arrives. This conclusion, briefly stated in the introductory chapter, is this: "The mission of Christianity to the heathen is not only for the overthrow of many of their religious peculiarities, but quite as truly for the essential modification of its own."
