attached. The upper flounce is arranged over the foundation.

The quantity of material required for the ten-year size is 5½ yards of flouncing 15 inches wide, with 1½ yards of plain material 36, and 3 yards of banding to make as shown in the large front view; 4¾ yards 27, 4 yards 36 or 3½ yards 44 inches wide to make of plain material.

The pattern, No. 7005, is cut in sizes for girls of 8, 10 and 12 years of age.

Bust Measurement Underwear

It is interesting to note that one large firm manufacturing ladies' knitted underwear have adopted the system of marking their garments with the size of the bust measure instead of the ordinary numbers. This makes possible an exact fit, and should prove a decided convenience.

Child's Dress

THE simple little frock that closes at the side of the front is a favorite one this season. This model will be found pretty for all seasonable materials. It can be made from the heavier linen, poplin and the like, and also from the thinner lawns and batistes. It can be worn with or without a belt. In the illustration, blue linen is finished with bands of white embroidery, and with white pearl buttons. If liked, the neck can be made high and the sleeves long.

The front and the back of the dress each are made with centre and side portions, and the centre portions are lapped over on to the side portions. The sleeves are made in one piece each, gathered and finished with bands. The trimming is arranged under the neck edge and under the edges of the sleeves.

For a child of four years will be required 3 yards of material 27 or 36 inches wide, or 2½ yards 44 inches wide, with ¾ yard of embroidery to trim, as illustrated.

The pattern, No. 6994, is cut in sizes for children of 2, 4 and 6 years of age.

Child's Dress

LITTLE children are always prettiest when dressed in simple frocks. This one can be shirred and worn with a sash, to give the long-waisted or French effect, or it can be left plain as shown in the back view. Treated in the two ways, it is so essentially different that it practically means two dresses instead of one. The shirred dress made of lawn, lace trimmed, and with a sash, as in the illustration, is an exceedingly charming little frock for afternoon wear. The plain dress made as shown in the back view is suited to simpler materials and to morning occasions.

The dress is made with front and back portions and with a round yoke. The yoke can be cut out to form a round neck or made high with a collar. The sleeves are cut in one piece each, and can be made either short or long. When the dress is shirred it is stayed with a straight band of the material.

The quantity of material required for a child of two years of age is 3 yards 27 or 36 or 2½ yards 44 inches wide, with ¾ yards of insertion and 2 yards of edging.

The pattern, No. 7014, is cut in sizes for children of six months, 1, 3 and 4 years of age.

Home or Tea Gown

THE pretty, graceful gown that is adapted to afternoon tea as well as to general home use belongs in every wardrobe. Here is one that gives the fashionable empire line that is graceful and becoming, at the same time that it is quite simple. It can be made from silk, or from net or marquisette over silk, and become a tea gown; or it can be made from lawn or batiste or from albatross and become a simpler home gown. In either case, the lines are charming and attractive. The sleeves can be gathered into bands or left plain, as preferred.

The gown is made with the body and skirt portions. It is fitted by means of

Pattern No. 7014

shoulder and under-arm seams, and there are wide tucks over the shoulders. The lower portion is plain, and the band of trimming conceals the joining. The sleeves illustrated in the front view are gathered into bands, those shown in the front view are gathered
