Captain Quigley, of the Canadian cruiser Terror. The action of the captain of the Grimes in running up his colors when the vessel was in the custody of Canadian officers is deprecated at the Department in its efforts to reach a satisfactory settlement of the fisheries question. It appears when the United States cutter Corwin seized the British sealing vessel in the Alaskan waters the first official act of the captors was to haul down the British colors. The ground for taking such action is found in the claim that until the seized vessel is released she is technically in the possession of the government making the seizurs. This last insident is not regarded at the State Department as one likely to cause any serious trouble, and may be passed over without further notice.

From the N. Y. Morning Journal, Oct. 18.

Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for, and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. Children like it lecause it is pleasant, adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

We Hope it is True.

From the Irish Canadian, Oct. 14.

The London Advertiser gives currency to a rumor that the member for North Essex-Mr. J. C. Patterson—is to enter the Government, vice Hon. John Carling, who will be honored by Sir John Macdonald with the post of Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. We hope there is some bottom in this report, as we know of no man among the Conservatives who is better entitled to a seat in the Cabinet, taking better entitled to a seat in the Catolinet, taking active and effective service as a claim to preferement. Mr. Patterson is a man of fine ability, broad in his views and thoroughly independent in his actions. He would do credit to the position and bring strength to the Government; for he is popular with all parties, and with none more than the Catholics of his constituency. And they have much cause to think highly of him, because he has proved himself worthy of their confidence haif hour.

A correspondent tells of a recent ball at Macon, Ga., in which there was not a lady present who wore a shoe larger than a three, and most of them wore twos.

A very large sale of seats for the engagement of Miss Mary Anderson at Dublin for the benefit of the Charleston sufferers is reported. The performances take place this week.

Sam Patch, the renowned bridge jumper, made a leap from the bridge at Genesee Falls, Rochester, N. Y., some years ago, and from the time that he disappeared from the parapet of the bridge nothing has been seen or heard of him. As dangerous as the leap has proved itself to be, Lawrence M. Donovan, noted for his jump from the Brooklyn Bridge, will attempt the feat.

He will leave this city for Rochester to night. Mr. Donovan was interviewed by a Journal reporter yesterday. He said:

"I will make the leap. Although Patch was killed I think I can accomplish it in affety. I have every reason to believe that Patch struck a rock in the water and was killed."

"What inducements are there to make the leap," asked the reporter.

"Well," said Donovan, "I am backed by a Rochester hotelkeeper for $500 and all expenses."

He is going to jump on Saturday morning and expects a large crowd as witnesses. He claims that his reputation is good enough to support him. Mr. Donovan has had hundreds of offers by dime museum managers, but his pride has thus far kept him a "non-freak."

A manager in Providence offered him a good salary to sit all day opposite a three-legged man. This, however, did not reach his ambition.

The Color Line.

Editor World: My attention has been called to a letter in The World of the 11th inst., signed "A Virginian." This Virginian seems to be one of that class that has left his country for his country's good. Ordinary prudence would have suggested to him the propriety of withholding his o'solete ideas in a country that takes no more regard of the color of a man's skin than of his clothes. In order to mislead the public mind and oedlude the principle that the Knights of Labor are fighting for in asserting the rights of their colored brother, he brings up the old prolalevely sughear of "social equality" and discusses that as being the question at issue. No self-respecting colored man desires "social equality," as it is commonly understood, that is the privilege of entering a white man's the man's table, mingling with his family and this table, mingling with his family and triven leads to supper, an elaborate and provided to the privilege of entering a white man's table, mingling with his family and this table, mingling with his family and triven leads of the colores. Supper, an elaborate and the colores are friends or marking his deaths in the privilege of entering a white man's the privilege o son, four or five kinds pastry, two or three puddomestic circle, enjoying his company, esting at his table, mingling with his family and friends, or marrying his daughters unless it be mutually agreeable. On the contrary, now that the questionable relations that subsisted between the southern man and his whilom slave have been severed by the extinction of slavery, the divergence on the social line becomes more distinct day by day.

What is the position that the K. of L. hold upon the color question? It is simply this, that the colored knight is as much a representative of the toiling masses on this continent as his white brother, and the spirit which seeks to degrade him and to exclude him from privileges ordinarily enjoined by the public is the same arbitrary, tyrannical and agressive spirit which seeks to rob the white as well as the colored laborer of the fruits of his toil, the enjoyment of life, and the pursuit of happiness.

The order was formed for the purpose of organizing and directing the power of the industrial masses without regard to nationality, sex, creed or color. It is only necessary that the Knights as show that they are true to their principles as they have done in Richmond and New York, and they have the black man of the South with them everytime. "Grant and any should exercise a little of the good taste that he suggests, and not again proud of being regarded as British subjects, and if "Virginian" is ashamed of his negro fellow-citizens, let him do his share in improving his condition instead of hiving here on the fruits of his toil.

His statements with regard to the educational facilities extended to the colored race in the South contain but a grand from the requirements with regard to the educational facilities extended to the colored race in the South contain but a grand from the subjects and south contains the same and the para all proud of being regarded as British subjects, and if "Virginian" is ashamed of his negro fellow-citizens, let him do his share in improving his condition ins reliow-citizens, let him do his share in improving his condition instead of living here on the fruits of his toil.

His statements with regard to the educational facilities extended to the colored race in the South contain but a grain of truth. For the most part the educational advantages are very meagre, and so far as the school buildings are concerned they are generally old buildings which have been abandoned by the whites because they are old-fashioned and too dilapidated for the purposes required. Anything of any extent in the shape of commodisus buildings for colored schools in the South has been supplied through the efforts of religious and charitable societies in the North.

From the London Truth.

Last Sunday week the Rev. Rudolph Agassiz preached his farewell sermon on leaving his curacy at Upton-cum-Chalvey. By way of showing his appreciation of the change he was about to make he took for his text Luke xvi., 23, "And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom."

And the maiden shricked in terror;
"Tis the fierce and dread cyclone;
I can hearjits dreadful mutter
And its weird, wild, wofal tone;"

But the youth, though pale, was fearless;
And he said: "Oh bear thy pain;
Tis the village band who practise
"When the Robins Nest Again."

cured by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. *I have always been more or less troubled with Scrofula, but never seriously until the spring of 1882. At that time I took a severe cold in my head, which, notwithstanding all efforts to cure grew worse, and finally became a chronic Catarrh. It was accompanied with terrible head-aches, deafness, a continual coughing, and with great soreness of the lungs. My throat and stomach were so polluted with the mass of corruption from my head that Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and Emaciation totally unfitted me for business. I tried many of the so-called specifies for this disease, but obtained no relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using two bottles of this medicine, I noticed an improvement in my condition. When I had taken six bottles all traces of Catarrh disappeared, and my health was completely restored.—A. B.
