TONY WILSON-SMITH

Tony Wilson-Smith, the Moscow Bureau Chief for Maclean's Magazine, has the behind-the-scenes story of the radical changes in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. His return to Canada in September offers a rare opportunity for Canadian students to hear first-hand about the tumultuous events behind the Iron Curtain.

From the earthquake in Armenia to Soviet troop withdrawal from Afghanistan to ethnic unrest in Azerbaijan, Tony has explored every aspect of Soviet life. Regarded as the rising star of Canadian journalism, Tony will be returning to Canada as Maclean's Ottawa Bureau Chief.

Moscow may be 10,000 miles away, but Tony Wilson-Smith can bring it right to your campus.
