September 4,
Quebec.

The same to the same. Dispatches to Gosford and Head received and forwarded. 267

Tracy Thomas to the same. Sends further views of the Papineau faction with two other articles. Recommends that the annual payment of the officers of the Crown in Lower Canada be arranged for, there having been of late a constant altercation between the Assembly and the Executive leading to the belief that the civil servants are pensioners on the Assembly and causing them to be despised instead of respected. 1077

Enclosed. Views of the Papineau faction from the correspondence of the New York Daily Express copied in the Vindicator. 1079

Quebec.

Aylmer to Glenelg. Criticises the statement of the amount due to him and civil secretary as between that in Glenelg's letter and Gosford's dispatch. 81

September 20,
London.

Tracy Thomas to Stephen. In his letters on the affairs of Canada he has not adverted to his application to be appointed Commissioner of Crown Lands, believing that to be unnecessary. Suggests that the price of Crown lands be paid over to the Receiver General. The approaching marriage of Walcott the Governor's secretary, to Davidson's daughter, no doubt accounts for Gosford's pressing Davidson's application for the office of Commissioner of Crown lands. 1087

September 22.

Aylmer to Glenelg. Finds that neither the arrears due to him, nor those to Lieut. Colonel Craig have been paid. The delay in fulfilling the pledge of government, he cannot understand. 86

September 23,
New York.

Unsigned to Norton. Glenelg regrets that he cannot entertain his (Norton's) application to be appointed Bishop of Quebec as an arrangement was made in 1835 that the Bishop of Montreal was to succeed. That does not create a vacancy, as Montreal is not a distinct see. 937

James Buchanan to Stephen. Dispatches to Gosford, Head and Harvey received and forwarded. 269

September 25,
London.

Aylmer to Glenelg. Unless requested to wait upon him to-morrow, he intends to be out of town, returning in the evening. The inconvenience from which he suffers, owing to the delay in fulfilling an engagement to pay the arrears due. Several weeks have elapsed since the engagement was made to do so immediately. 87

Holmes to Glenelg. The answer of Grey, that Glenelg could not comply with his application had surprised and mortified him, especially as he was informed that if the appeal had been allowed to the Privy Council no fresh evidence could have been adduced, feeling that the Seminary and Ursulines should not have been deprived of a privilege granted to others. Summarises the report from the Commissioners to which he replies and sends copies of correspondence with the commissioners in 1826. 828

Enclosed. Extracts from correspondence. 839 to 841
