THIRTY DAYS TO SELL OUT

The License Commissioners Obey City Council's By-Law Reducing Number of Taverns

Important Meeting of the Board Deals with Applications for Licenses—Some Places on Trial.

The West Kent Board of License Commissioners concluded their meeting late on Saturday afternoon, having been in session all day dealing with the applications for liquor licenses for the ensuing year. Chairman W. R. Baxter presided and there were also present Commissioners Andrew McKibbin and Thos. C. Martin and Inspector Nathaniel Massey.
The main matter emphasized by the Board was strict adherence to the law and the exclusion of "bums" and offensive loungers from licensed premises. Several applicants were placed on three months' trial in order to give them opportunity to show how they intended to conduct their premises.

The city by-law, reducing the Chatham licenses by three, of course created interest in that part of the proceedings. Upon the premises of each applicant the Inspector reported, but it was after five o'clock ere the city applicants were finally dealt with as follows:

Licenses granted—Frank T. Merrill, Emilie A. Bechard, Alex. L.
Eberts, D. J. McDonald, Jos. J. Car-ron, Hogan & Hoy, J. W. Miles and Nancy Courtney, taverns; and F. A.
Robert, shop.

Three months' extension granted—
John F. Dunlop, Idlewild, and W.
F. Fairbanks, Station House.

Thirty days' extension granted—
John H. Glassford, John Pleasance, Nora Mount and D. M. Martin, taverns; and W. D. Sheldon, shop.

Three months' extension granted—
D. Kenna, Wallaceburg; B. Ballard, Tilbury; Oliver Brown, Mitchell's Bay; Theophilus Sylvain, Dover; Alphy Cheff, Pain Court.

Licenses refused—Wm. Rose, Chatham Township.

The application and petition of A.
Sloann for Tupperville was referred to the clerk of the municipality to report by Saturday next.

At the Dangerous End.

After the collapse of the Confederacy ex-Senator Wigfall, a member of the Confederate congress from Texas, fell into the hands of Union soldiers in that state. Being well disguised, he entered freely into conversation with the soldiers of the guard, in the course of which he asked what they would do with "old Wigfall" if they were to catch him. "We should hang him," said the prompt reply. "Serve him right," exclaimed Wigfall. "If I were with you I'd be pulling at one end of the rope myself!"

Lattakia Tobacco.

Lattakia tobacco, an article of commerce well known in Europe and America, is black in color owing to its fu-nigation by the Nussikh mountain-ers in the smoke of a tree called "el-zer" or "ezr" which imparts to it a gross aromatic flavor. The "ezr" grows wild, seldom attaining the size of the oak, and gives out its aromatic odor when burned in the green state.

Eve Surprised Him.

"And now, Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher, "is there anything you don't understand about Eve and the serpent?"

"Yes'm."

"Well, what?"

"How'd Eve keep from havin' a fit when she seen it comin'?"

Faintly Tame.

Aunt Jane—Well, there's one thing about Martha—she attends to her own business and to nobody else's. Eva—Poor thing! She must lead a very dull, uninteresting life.

A Fine Disposition.

Pat—Do you ever get dispondent, Moike? Mike—Only when O'm feelin' "blue." O! Always feel good as long as O'm feelin' fine he goes!—Puck.

A TERRIBLE PENANCE.

Tibetan Monks Who Suffer Life Imprisonment in Dark Cells.

Perhaps the most terrible penance suffered for religious reasons anywhere in the world is that of the monks of Nyen-de-kyi-buk, as described by Percival Landon in "The Opening of Tibet." These monks live in the ordinary manner during the novitiate; then they go into cells for a period of six months; then, after an interval, for three years and ninety-three days; later for life.

And such a cell! "Almost on a level with the ground," says Mr. Landon, "there was an opening closed with a flat stone from behind. In front of this window was a ledge eighteen inches in width, with two basins beside it, one at each end. The abbot was attended by an acolyte who, by his master's orders, tapped three times sharply on the stone slab. We stood in the little courtyard in the sun and watched that wicket with cold apprehension. I think, on the whole, it was the most uncanny thing I saw in all Tibet. After half a minute's pause the stone moved or tried to move, but it came to rest again. Then very slowly and uncertainly it was pushed back, and a black chasm was revealed. There was again a pause of thirty seconds, during which imagination ran riot, but I do not think that any other thing could have been as intensely pathetic as that we actually saw."

"A hand, justified in a tightly wound piece of dirty cloth, for all the world like a stump of an arm, was painfully thrust up, and very weakly it felt along the slab. After a fruitless fum-bling the hand slowly quivered back again into the darkness. A few moments later there was again an ineffectual effort, and then the stone slab moved noiselessly across the opening.

"Once a day water and an unleaned cake of flour is placed for the prisoner upon that slab, the signal is given, and he may take it in. His diversion is over for the day, and in the darkness of his cell, where night and day, moon, sunset and the dawn are all alike, he—poor soul!—had thought that another day of his long penance was over."
