

"t be a fool!"
ou say you've done
at you've been glad me like that! But Giving up all your
tle, and your reputa-
the sake of me, Allan,

he replied, "Compared I've given up nothing!
ou're just as narrow lith is right here in her upon my hospital as our schools, when the
the work down there
wanted all my life!
and," he cried, "that ing in debt to me it's to you? You're a minist—whatever you I right! So you want man! Then, for God's in? Feel equal! I'm or you to me! It has od, that our work fits other!"

l stared, seemed to e walked the floor.
d back his expression

orah," he asked, with morous smile, "will I'm driving at?"
back her head and
laughter thrilled with feel now that I love

I owe you nothing!"
hat men and women
ark on splendidly side bother our poor little nything else—even

she was in his arms.
sten to reason, child.
arry me right away?"
said, "when I marry
ve you all to myself—
as we have planned
wards, with a wonder-
the war over, work
world less dark and going to find that at ut this winter couldn't is winter we've got r work—and without ories or talk about we're in love. For urned face was close
me moments nothing
she asked. "Are you get married. But it st one. And I'm your ight to bed."

a minute at the front absolutely, you under-

d. But as he walked ow tense she had been ad talked. Yes, the ling. "Why was she ne out of the house," e were alone for the
And why, if she's ve, does she hate the y debt?"

r, for the night was
was a chill, too, in me.

orah come up to bed,
what they had been
the topic he himself
ch other, love and

minute or two—but mbled. "For don't k to discuss, there's y still on her mind.
a woman's mind is play. But when you
g on top—"

d long and noisily.
felt sore and weak—
s entertainment my re me." No, he was had, enough. They
to suit themselves.
her money on frills,
the better. Let her
out of the house,
y to her motherhood.
red Deborah out of
ay single and die an worried enough for his
a little peace in his

sed his eyes, and a
his mind of the city
ly a few nights before ol, so calm and still.
een in the building

USE British Columbia ^{RED} CEDAR SHINGLES

—For Roofing or Siding

THE BUILDING MATERIAL THAT IS SUITED ABOVE ALL OTHERS FOR WEATHER EXPOSURE

THE decay-resisting powers of British Columbia Red Cedar Shingles assure you of roofing or siding that will last a lifetime—even under the most trying weather conditions.

THE non-conducting properties of British Columbia Red Cedar Shingles assure you of comfort—of a cool building in summer—of warmth in winter—give you the height of satisfaction.

LONGEST LIFE AT LOWEST COST

BRITISH COLUMBIA RED CEDAR SHINGLES are made from the forest giants of British Columbia—the finest stand of Red Cedar in the world.

1. Three experiments, extending over a three month's period, proved that it cost an average of $1.81 more per hundred pounds to feed hogs infested with lice than to feed clean hogs.
Lice are bound to breed in wood pens.

2. In BT Sanitary Steel Hog Pens, neither lice nor disease germs get a chance to breed.
The bright hard surface of the galvanized steel affords them no corners in which to live. The steel can be cleaned off easily and thoroughly.

3. Send in the coupon for full particulars. You don't want to waste feed. Nor do you want Hog Cholera to get a start. If your hogs had to be burnt for hog cholera, it would cost you many times more than the sanitary equipment.

Send this coupon for our 352-
page Barn Book.
Tells how to plan, build,
frame and ventilate
the Hog Barn. How to save time, labor
and feed in caring for the hogs. It will save you hundreds of dollars and is free.

Beatty Bros. Limited
K494 Hill St., Fergus, Ont

I am building hog barn about.....

I am remodelling hog pens about.....

I keep..... Hogs

My name is.....

My Post Office is.....

R.R. No..... Prov.....

Nearest Railway Station.....

If you live in Maritime Provinces, please give Lot and Concession. If you live in Western Provinces, please give Section, Township and Range.....