Editor's Talk

AS promised last week, this is a New-Comers' Number. It aims to give a picture of Canada and an explanation of her popularity. If you have a friend abroad whom you think would be interested, send him a copy of this issue. The postage to Great Britain is two cents a copy; to the United States the same.

NEXT week we shall have another full-page drawing by Mr. Arthur Heming. It will be of special interest to fishermen. These full-page drawings should be preserved. The set of forty will make an interesting portfolio of pictures—valuable, also. Nothing has ever been published in this country of equal art value.

My,
but it's Good!

Good to the taste—good to the stomach—good for the system. Any physician or food expert will bear out the statement that the most nutritious of all foods is the product of pure milk—cheese; that it is, in fact, practically solid nutrition, and (when made and ripened in a certain way) is one of the most easily digested of all foods.

Mac Laren's Imperial Cheese

is the result of applied scientific knowledge. While it is made from the same product as the best of other cheeses—pure whole milk—the method of making and ripening is radically different—a difference that makes its nutritive value three times that of ordinary cheese, and its flavor really a revelation in its palate-pleasing quality.

Mac Laren's Imperial Cheese leaves the factory only in sealed opal glass jars—never sold in any other form. Always fresh—never deteriorates or becomes dry after opening.

10c. a jar and upward at all grocers.
Just try a jar for your own satisfaction.
