MONTERER, April 13, 1851.

To the Editor of the MONTERER COURSE:

SEE-Whilst engaged in the conscientions discharge of my duties as award Interpreter before the late Grand Jury of the Court of Queen's Bench for this District. I find that I have been made the object of a series of malicious attacks. meligible and merally unfit for the dischage of those duties, and would thus entail the most serious loss on me. The question, whether I am a fit person to serve the public as a sworn Interpreter, has been raised by the Pilot, and it is a question which I have a paramount intensit in faving decided. The Grand Jury themselves have been pleased to refer to my services in the most flattering manner; and I can therefore only secribe the attacks of the Bilot to a settled and deep design to injure me. Under these circumstances, only one course remains open to me, and that course I shall pursue, namely, refer the question to welve men, evern, as I was sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties, and abide by their vertict in the Parliament is to sheet for the despatch of busi-ser on the 20th May. This may be regarded as oof that the Government will move to Quebec in the fall. There was a notion floating about it this region not long ago, that the Government finding themselves in a difficult polition in regard proposed to be reised after discharging the above prior claims.

It will further be necessary that the expenditure of the money raised under the guarantee of the industries it impossible to move till next spring.

of lying, perjory and intringe, has been mixed up; and whenever his motion may come on, he has a very strong case against Lord Torrington. But having made the charge, it is Ms. Buillies duty to prese it sigorously. In the Lords, on Tuesday, Viscount Torrington, amidst the fright silence of the House, gave notice of his intentions in a fortnight, to bring the matter himself before the Lordships. The evidence taken before the Committee of the House of Commons, now for their Lordships. The evidence taken before the Committee of the House of Commons, now for the first time made public, describes a state of things in Ceylor, at the time of the febellion, as it is called, which it will be most difficult for Lord Torrington to defend, much less to justify. Sir A. Oliphant, the Chief Justice, in describing before the Committee the distributives which is entired to the natives, had mounted to the top of a hill, and stid in Cingalese, 'Every man to his tent, O Israel! before I come down upon you,' bis firm belief was, that they would all have gone to their before I come down upon you,' bis firm belief was, that they would all have gone to their the properties of the sale of the properties.
