MILITARISM TO EXIST IN UNITED STATES

Secretary Garrison States Some Sort of Compulsion Might be Adopted.

RIGHT AND WRONG ALWAYS OPPOSED

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Secretary Garrison declares in his annual report to the War Department, made public last night, that if the administration plan for a continental army fails, the United States will face some form of compulsory military service.

In what many deem an official life characterizes as the most remarkable report ever made by a Secretary of War, Mr. Garrison passes quickly over the widespread routine activities of the War Department, and devotes practically all his words to the subject of military preparedness, the need for which he sums up by saying: "So long as right and wrong exist in the world there will be an inevitable conflict between them. The right-doers must be prepared to protect and defend the right as against the wrong."

Unsparring in his arguments in answer to those who go on to take up the various arguments of the opposition separately.

"There are some who do not feel free to base their conduct upon a consideration of facts or conclusions of reason, because of their interpretation of Divine injunction," he says. "They do not believe in resisting physical force, and those whose consciences are so convinced, surrender life and all that they cherish and love at the behest of the aggressor. This attitude concerns the individual, and him alone. It cannot be made the general rule of conduct under our form of government without departing from the basis upon which our government is founded. One is impelled to query upon what proper consideration there is based any distinction between the right or mentally to resist wrong. It would seem, if reason were applied, that in each instance the situation is identical; and that if we should properly prepare our minds to be strong so that we can reject error, and our moral characters to be strong so that we can reject evil, we should likewise make our physical force strong in order that we may maintain the right as against those who would physically impose the wrong upon us.

WAR MIGHT COME.

"There are others concerning whose clarity of vision we are not advised, and concerning whose soundness of reason we are not informed, because the attitude which they take is admittedly not based upon either vision or reason. They are those who predict that war will never come to this country, and assert that, therefore, precautions with respect thereto are unwarranted. Since wars have come upon nations from the earliest date of recorded history to this moment, there is no basis of fact for such a position, but an actual demonstration of the non-existence of such basis. We were early warned that there would be wars and rumors of wars, and that nations would rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom, and the end was not yet; and that prediction has been fully verified. There is no basis and no foundation to conclude that, therefore, evil has been eliminated, and it therefore, must be treated as all other existing evils and must be prepared against. Surely, as between resting upon precursors or upon preparation, wisdom would not hesitate

Paris, Dec. 10.—General H. J. E. Gouraud, who lost an arm as the result of wounds suffered while commanding the French expeditionary force at the Dardanelles, and who sustained other severe wounds, has been assigned to command one of the armies at the front, although he has barely recovered. The general himself applied for active employment again.

Archbishop Saw the Pope

Rome, Dec. 9.—10.20 p.m.—(Delayed).—Cardinal Felix Von Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne, left Rome tonight after seeing Pope Benedict. The cardinal said that he was the bearer of a papal message for Emperor William and also recommendations for peace. Allied Troops —Diplomatic Greece No...

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Dec. 11.—The late from the Balkans indicates that the Allies are still falling far behind without suffering the losses on the first days of the retreat, the pursuing Bulgarians attack rear guards repeatedly. Parity that in these actions the British inflicted heavy losses on the Bulgarians by their artillery fire.

The British public received in the form of a Saloniki, stating that Gievgeli had been pined by two divisions of troops. Later reports, however, that this important position within range of the Kaiser Gievgeli is on the Greek front the Vardar river and communications north from Saloniki town first came into prominence the present war as head of the typhus hospital of Dr. F. Donnelly, of New York, who circles it is catered of prime importance that Saloniki be retaken as a base for future operations, though the allied troops are to take refuge under the guns of the fleet. It is generally conceded present forces of the allies are quite to cope with Bulgaria. Central Powers whose armies, owing to a statement credited to a Russian source, number 1,000,000 men.

The final day for recruiting the plan of the Earl of Derby besieged the recruiting station the rush medical examination, come as profanity as the name of the recruit's name and it is ed that many of those who have forward will be sent to the front for active service.

IN GOOD ORDER.

London, Dec. 11.—A despatch Reuter's Telegram Company's Saloniki dated Friday says: "Complete calm prevailed throughout the night on the Entente forces. The retreat of the Entente allies is progressing in good order."

REPORT PREMATURE.

London, Dec. 11.—The German expedition in Serbia is premature," says the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company. Up to 4 o'clock on afternoon there was no enemy in the immediate neighborhood of the

A previous despatch from the said it was reported there the man forces under General vonwitz occupied Gievgeli Friday morning.

WITH GREAT DIFFICULTY.

Berlin, Dec. 10.—via London. 11.—The retreat of the British French expedition in Serbia is conducted with great difficulty main force has been unable to gage itself and retreat unhappily leaving only rearguards behind. Their pursuers. Instead of attacking them to do this, the Bulgarians troops are maintaining closest touch with their retreating foe, who is therefore forced to fighting at every step. This, it is reported, explains the loss of Serbian guns, south of Strumitsa.

LEADER KILLED.

London, Dec. 11.—A despatch the Telegram from Rome says that one of the Serbian leaders killed by rearguard fighting during the fighting. Ferdinand at Sarajewo, despatch says that Tankossich with the last of his band of 20 at Kragujevatz.

The death of the front Harry Richards, as reported the Courier of last evening, reveals a greater tragedy.

It appears that his wife, little child who was taken for the Old Lady in order nearer to him and see him on leave, perished when Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine.

The Courier has just taken into possession of this fact that the entire family have become victims to this war, father, wife and three children, and the wife and one child on their way to nearer to him.

DEATH OF PRIVATE RICHARD REVEALS GREATER TRAGEDY
