MANY WEPT AT FUN- ERAL OF FATHER DOLLARD.

Further Particulars of Death of Former St. John Priest.

Tuesday's Telegraph.

Further particulars of the death of Rev. Wm. Dollard, and of his funeral have been received. Father Dollard's death, which was caused by pneumonia, complicated by neuralgia of the heart, took place at the rectory of South Brewer, where he was stationed. Some weeks previously he contracted a cold but continued to attend to his duties until the Feast of the Assumption, when, after celebrating mass, he complained of feeling ill.
Still no serious apprehensions were entertained and his friends saw him as usual until the evening before his death. All Monday night he suffered from difficulty in breathing. At 5 o'clock the following morning, feeling better, he insisted upon his nurse retiring. An hour later the pastor, Father Gorman, coming into the room, perceived a change for the worse and quickly administered the last sacraments. Father Dollard passed peacefully away a few moments later.

The body lay in the rectory watched by members of the congregation until Thursday afternoon when it was transferred to the Church St. Teresa, which had been heavily draped with black. The body, slightly raised in the coffin, robed in vestments holding the chalice erect in both hands lay in state all Thursday night while members of the societies and congregation watched beside it. The office for the dead, followed by high mass, began at 9 o'clock on Friday morning.
Besides his brother, Rev. James Dollard, who celebrated mass, there were twenty-three priests present in the sanctuary. Father Murphy, of Springfield, in delivering the funeral sermon, paid a fervent tribute to the genius and virtues of the dead priest "whose brain," he said, "was great, but whose heart was greater."

After Father Gorman and the attendant clergy had given the last blessing, the congregation were invited to say farewell, many of them sobbing aloud as they did so.

Interment took place in the beautiful cemetery of Mount Pleasant, Bangor. Psalms were chanted at the grave by the clergy, who each in turn deposited a shovelful of earth upon the coffin.

Father Dollard's loss will long be felt both in literary and ecclesiastical circles, for in the words of his pastor, Father Gorman, "We need such men."

BINDING FORCE OF THE NEW SYLLABUS.

Asked for his views on the newly published Syllabus, Dr. Heuser, editor of the "American Ecclesiastical Review" is reported to have said: "The present Syllabus is a statement of the position of the Church in her attitude toward modern errors mainly, though not exclusively, propagated within the fold. It is not an infallible definition of faith, but a disciplinary measure for the guidance of those who profess loyal allegiance to the Church doctrines and discipline. It obliges a Catholic in the same way as army regulations or civil service rules oblige the members of the army and executive government—even though they are not rules of action, but expressions of the Government's attitude. It is a mistake to think this is the action of one person. The Syllabus has been drafted by a number of representative churchmen and its effects have been carefully weighed and measured.

Thus it serves both as a check to the unguarded defenders of novel theories and as a guide to the consistent Christian, who, if he carefully notes the detailed propositions of the Syllabus, will discover in them nothing more than a restatement of the fundamental truths which the Catholic Church has perpetually maintained. It is only by disingenuous misreading of any of these propositions that one can come to the conclusion that the Church authorities in this case are either inconsistent or obstructive."

A PLEASANT DAY'S OUTING.

A more delightful trip could not be enjoyed than the Dominion Atlantic Railway's Steamship service affords, from St. John to Digby by means of the magnificent 18 3-4 knot steel side wheel steamer "Prince Rupert." The health-giving air on crossing the bay, the uplifting scenery on entering Digby and the comfortable accommodation on the Prince Rupert appeal to all. The Steamer's daily trips are found to be very pleasant. Leaving St. John at 7 45 o'clock, and arriving at Digby at 10 45, gives at least four hours there, before returning. This offers a splendid chance to view the beauty of the little town which has many attractive and interesting drives.
The remarkable growth of travel in this direction has abundantly vindicated the foresight and enterprise of the steamship's service and the hotel people. A charming feature of the sail is Digby Gap, through which the Prince Rupert passes on its daily trips.
The shores rise precipitously from five to six hundred feet, and the surf beating furiously against the huge cliffs is a sight long to be remembered. On the steamer nothing seems wanting to ensure the comfort of all. The obliging officials, and chief steward, Mr. A. O'Brien, are ever ready to impart information or to be at one's service.

SUMMER TRAVEL.

The Eastern Line Steamship Company is having its hands full just now in getting back to the New England states the many tourists that sought the cool and invigorating air of the Maritime Provinces during July and August. Every boat going out is crowded, and berths are booked well ahead. To-day, however, will be a record breaker. The big steamer Yale will leave on her regular direct trip at 7 o'clock, and the Calvin Austin, which will reach here early Saturday afternoon, probably at three o'clock, will leave the Prince Rupert wharf for Boston direct at 9 o'clock. The accommodations are as the theatre manager would say "all sold out," and it is estimated that between thirteen and fourteen hundred passengers are booked to go by the above steamers. The travel from Maine ports is also heavy, so that the Eastern Line with its improved service is reaping a regular harvest.

AUDITING WORK.

Mr. John F. Gleason, real estate agent and auditor, left on Friday evening for the North Shore, where he will do some auditing.

MR. RYAN HEARTILY WEL- COMED.

Judging from the large sized audience which greeted Daniel Ryan on his return to St. John at the Opera House Thursday evening, the play lovers retain kindly memories of his former visit. In The Bells Mr. Ryan found a good opportunity to display his ability and was well supported.
Through the long play the interest was well sustained, and more than once the audience was held spell bound by the excellent acting of Mr.
Ryan.

On Friday evening there was a fine presentation of Oliver Twist.

BRITISH JOURNALISTS.

Although their visit to St. John on Thursday lasted but twelve hours, the party of British journalists who for the last five weeks have been touring Canada, carried away the pleasantest recollections of Canada's Winter Port when they left for Quebec that evening. A drive to points of interest in the morning, a luncheon at the Union Club at noon, followed by a river trip to Watters' Landing on the Ludlow, comprised the programme during their stay. In the words of two of their number they had no more pleasant experience during their tour, they enjoyed a real holiday, and could look back on the few hours spent here as the best day of all.

Friday they sailed on the steamer Virginian for home, and to St. John, therefore, fell the honor of speeding the Dominion's parting guests. A poem commemorative of their tour was read by B. McConkey, the president of the party, in the course of his speech on the conclusion of the river trip.

FOR THE PRIESTHOOD.

Four more boys from St. Peter's parish have decided to study for the Redemptorist Order, and left for St.
Mary's College, North East, Penn., on Tuesday. They are Raymond Hanson, son of the late Mr. Emile Hanson; John McDonald, son of Mr.
John McDonald, Main street; and Leo Dever, son of Mr. John H. De-ver, Main street; also Thos. Daley, son of the late Timothy Daley, Main street whose home has lately been in Boston. The following students have returned to resume their studies.
Messrs. Wm. McCullough, of the Cathedral parish, Wm. McLaughlin, Anthony McBriarty, and Arthur Mahoney, of St. Peter's parish.
