SOLIGNUM!

SOLIGNUM is a preservative for wood, stone, and brickwork. SOLIGNUM adds years to the life of wood if applied according to instructions.

SOLIGNUM is a far better preservative than Paint or Tar. SOLIGNUM is the very best preservative against Dry Rot. Joints, beams etc., should be thoroughly treated with Solignum.

Amongst its various uses on woodwork may be mentioned ship's decks and timbers, fencing and wooden buildings of every description, wood exposed to the action of weak acids, timbering in mines—where loss through decay is enormous—woodwork inside and outside buildings, wood on half timbered houses, wooden implements, carts, wheel-barrows, telegraph poles, landing stages, gates, piers, floors, piles, beams, platforms, joists, bridges. For prices apply to

W. & C. RENDELL, Water Street.
Full particulars and descriptive literature may be had from P. C. MAIRN, Board of Trade Building, St. John's.
