Festival of Empire.

Great Success of the Crystal Palace Exhibitions—Visitors from Overseas.

LONDON, May 19, 1911. Never has the opening of an Exhibition been attended with so triumphant a success as that gained by the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace. To-day completed the first week of the wonderful displays in the 250 acres of park and pavilions on Sydenham's slopes, and considerably over a million people have made tours of inspection.

Although it is early in the season, many of the visitors have been Britons from Overseas. Dominions, and the Festival of Empire is proving to be quite a happy hunting ground for re-unions of old friends. In particular, our brethren from far off lands are delighted with the Dominion Club, a noble old mansion luxuriously furnished and equipped exclusively for the free use of visitors from the Dominions. This is the Old Country at Home and was founded by the Council of the Festival of Empire to help to remove the reproach that London has not shown her visitors hospitality to equal that shown to Londoners by the Capitals of the Colonies. The Dominion Club, opened by the Princess Louise, was visited by the King and Queen last Friday when some 4,000 visitors from Overseas greeted their Majesties on the sun-bathed lawn.

An interesting feature in connection with the Festival is the Cadets' Camp, which is situated in a charming spot immediately behind the Flagstaff Ground Stand. There the Overseas Cadets have pitched their tents, and the camp is being visited daily by crowds of people who are interested in the Cadet Movement.

The Canadian contingent are the only Overseas Cadets in camp at the moment, but contingents from Australia, Newfoundland and South Africa are shortly to arrive.

There are twelve boys in the Canadian contingent under the command of Capt. S. H. Hill, of Quebec. In addition there are squadrons each of the King's Royal Rifle Corps and the Imperial Yeomanry Cadets.

The Canadian boys are delighted with the reception that has been accorded them at the Festival and are enjoying themselves immensely. They are given free admission to the many entertainments, side-shows, etc., in the Palace and grounds. On the other hand they are all working hard at drill and rifle practice for the many contests in which they are to take part against picked teams from Cadets Corps in this country. They have been engaged daily on rifle practice at the range and hope to give a good account of themselves in the actual competitions. The Cadets' Camp will be under the command of General Sir William Watts, who, in a few days time, will take up his duties and reside in the Camp with the boys.

HEALTH RESTORED TO THIS FAMILY

Wife's experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food led to husband's cure.

"Since childhood I was afflicted with biliousness and sick headache," writes Mr. A. K. Van Wyck, Park Hill, Ont., "and as all the doctors' medicines and prescriptions failed to do me any permanent good, I had lost faith in all medicines. It was by accident that I came to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for it had been recommended for Mrs. Van Wyck and did her so much good that she wished me to try it."

"I did so, and was surprised at the results. It is now three years since I discontinued the medicine and I have not had an attack of the old trouble. I hope that others may benefit by my experience."

The cures effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are lasting, because it builds up the system and removes the cause of trouble. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmondson, Lites & Co., Toronto.

"Cascarets" Best for Biliousness.

The millions of Cascaret users never know the misery of Headache, Coated Tongue or Sick Stomach.

You know when you need Cascarets. You feel a certain dullness and depression—perhaps the approach of a headache. You say, "I am bilious and I must take something to-night." But why do you waste the day? It is easy to keep at your best at all times if you'll do it. The way is to carry a box of Cascarets with you. Take one just as soon as you need it. Then the clouds rise at once.

The need for Cascarets is a natural need. Don't think that you are drugging yourself. We must get a laxative some way. If we don't get it through exercise and through proper food, we must get it otherwise. Cascarets are the next best way.

Ask your doctor about it. He will tell you that the day of the violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts, castor oil and cathartics, is past. This is the day of the gentle in medicine, the natural, the pleasant. Cascarets act just as certain foods act—just as exercise acts—on the bowels—the liver. Get a 10 cent box and take one now.

Rt. Hon. W. S. Churchill Urges Daylight Saving.

"Extra Yawn to be Repaid by an Extra Snore."

(London Daily Chronicle, May 4.) Mr. Winston Churchill made an eloquent appeal in favor of the Daylight Saving Bill yesterday in the Guildhall, when, at a meeting of all shades of political opinion, he moved that it would conduce to the physical, moral and financial welfare of the nation.

Mr. Churchill, describing the progress of the idea, said all attempts to deride it had failed. That meeting represented the views of:—

- 46 Chambers of Commerce,
- 120 City Corporations and Town Councils,
- 265 Members of Parliament,
- 29 Trade Unions,
- 523 other societies, clubs and associations.

It was impossible for individuals to alter their hours of business and of life apart from the general movement of the society in which they had lived without great inconvenience and difficulty.

They were told that the agricultural interests of the country were opposed to the measure. But the agricultural population already lived their lives in very close harmony with the natural hours of daylight. They already enjoyed the benefits which the supporters of this Bill were seeking to secure for the great body of toilers in the towns. The great mass of the people of all classes in Great Britain lived their lives, not like agriculturists, in relation to the sun, but according to the clock.

"If," said the Home Secretary, "we all change together, we shall none of us be conscious that any of us have changed at all (cheers) except that the daylight hours of the afternoon end evening will appear to be pleasantly and unexpectedly prolonged.

We propose that the clocks should be set forward for one hour during the night of the third Sunday in April, and set back for one hour during the night of the third Sunday in September. That is the whole of the proposal.

"An extra yawn some morning in the spring; an extra snore some night in the autumn; that is all we ask. Haughter and cheers." In return for the most dazzling benefits we borrow an hour in April, and we promise to pay it back with golden compound interest six months later. (Laughter.)

"We base our case," he continued, "on the one salient fact—that more than 150 hours of daylight leisure are offered freely to every man, woman and child in the United Kingdom. Happy the nation whose people are wise enough, whose fathers are courageous enough, to secure this good gift for their own age, and their own time." (Cheers.)

Had Narrow Escape.

Mr. Frank Dyke's house was destroyed by fire recently at Alexander Bay, and a report appeared in the Telegram at the time. More information is now available. Just after Mr. Dyke had left his house, his boy started to light the fire, and going outside the house remained for some time cutting more firewood. When he returned he found the kitchen and lower part of the house in flames, and he called loudly for help. His mother and her two children were in bed upstairs, and but for the timely arrival of Mr. Fred Arnold they would have perished. With the hall on fire as he rushed through it, he ran upstairs and reached their room, aroused the woman and children, and taking the latter in his arms hurried his way out again to safety. The man's clothing was on fire, as well as the children's, when he got outside, but people about soon quenched it. The wind blew very hard and the house and all its contents was completely destroyed. The whole was valued for $800 and the man had not a cent of insurance. He is now residing with Mr. Gideon Jeans, and next fall the Orange Society will rebuild Mr. Dyke's house.

Picnic for Children.

Many people in the city, though they respect the opinions of others and credit them with their desire to give the children an enjoyable Coronation Day, think that the best way to do it would be to give a mammoth picnic in one of the large suburban fields. The cost, comparatively speaking, would not be heavy, many would contribute both in cash and goods, and the little ones could be afforded much healthy amusement in the open air. The bands of the brigades could be hired to furnish music and games, racing, &c., could be indulged in on the green. Children are naturally noisy and it would be difficult to get them to suppress this propensity if they attended a concert. Give them a good romp in the open air, with plenty of cake, &c., and they will remember the Coronation of our beloved Sovereign for many years to come.

"Classical Music."

Editor Evening Telegram: Sir,—I have just read with much interest the reports of the speeches made at last night's meeting in connection with the proposed Coronation Concert, and I should like to be allowed to plead for a more liberal and accurate interpretation of the word, "classical" when used in its relation to music. Nowadays it is generally understood that such tunes as "God Save the King," "The Westminster Chime," "The Last Rose of Summer," "Come Lasses and Lads," are every bit as "classical" as a Bach Fugue or a Beethoven Sonata, and that such tunes as Brinley Richards' "God Bless the Prince of Wales," or Sullivan's "The Absent-Minded Beggar," are just as much twaddle as the latest music-hall songs. Popular music need not and should not be bad music; we certainly get plenty of bad music in our drawing rooms. If I were asked why "The Wearing of the Green" is good music, and "God Bless the Prince of Wales" is twaddle, I would reply, for the same reason, that Robert Burns' "John Anderson, my Jo," "Mary Love's like a Red Red Rose," "Mary Morrison," are poetry, and "Mary had a Little Lamb" is twaddle. I remain, Sir, Your obedient servant.

Died Suddenly in Boat.

Mr. Jacob Bishop of this city, had a telegram yesterday forenoon from Heart's Delight stating that Jas. Herman had died suddenly in his boat on the fishing ground. He went out to overhaul his cod trap, when death overtook him and men from the shore found him lying in the bottom of the boat with life extinct. The boat was tied on the trap moorings and he evidently had just begun work when he was stricken. He was sixty years of age and leaves a wife and 4 children.

Will Come to Asylum.

The man who escaped from officer McDonald on the train at Whitehouse Monday was Absalom Follett, of New Harbor. He arrived at that place that night and since has shown that he is demented, but is not violent or menacing to the people of the place. He has been residing at Sydney the past 5 years and his wife died the past winter. This affected his mind and he was brought here. He will be looked after by the police and brought on here to the Asylum.
