Unimut Cures Diphtheria.

The healthiest men and women in the world are found in the uncivilized races, knowing nothing of medical science. Why? Because these people are content with nature's own "healers." They use roots and herbs, solely, for their skin diseases and injuries.

Recognizing this truth, the proprietors of Zam-Buk compounded their great balm on nature's lines. Zam-Buk contains only healing herbal essences, but instead of using them in crude form, in Zam-Buk these essences are purified and concentrated.

Take Mother Nature's finest healing extracts. Add all that modern science can do in the way of concentrating, purifying and making antiseptic these essences, and the result is Zam-Buk. Don't you believe that roots and herbs are the healers intended for man? If you do, you get these in Zam-Buk.

Don't you believe that antiseptic treatment of a wound or sore is necessary? Zam-Buk is antiseptic.

Don't you desire to stop the pain of a wound, cut or skin disease? Zam-Buk will do this as nothing else can.

Finally, don't you believe that personal experience is worth more than hearsay? If so, cut out this article. Write across it name of this paper and mail it to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, with 1c stamp and we will send you a FREE TRIAL BOX

The debate on the Second Reading of the Irish Bill will be concluded to-night. A Ministerial whip warns that it will be brought on not later than 10.30. Redmond will have the first word in the debate to-day. His utterances are being awaited eagerly since it lies in his power to finally confirm the pacific tendencies now evident that may ultimately make for a settlement by consent.

LONDON, April 6.
A brilliant spring day and notable scenes at Ladybank marked the opening yesterday by the Right Hon. Mr. Asquith of the election campaign

East Fife, rendered necessary by his acceptance of Secretaryship War. The meeting took place in the village Assembly room, and was opened by the usual formal business, including the adoption of the Prime Minister as the Liberal candidate. Mr. Asquith, Mrs. Asquith and daughter were given a rousing welcome. Mr. Asquith said he was submitting himself to the hazard and inconvenience of an election because he had become Secretary of State for War. Without going into the incidents connected with that change, he declared there had been genuine misunderstandings, and honest mistakes, but in his deliberate opinion there had been nothing, at any stage, or in any quarter, which cast the least doubt upon the honor of those immediately concerned.

None had better reason than he to know the zeal, devotion to duty and sense of responsibility of the military as well as the naval forces. The very fact that the army rested upon a voluntary, and not a mercenary basis, was the best safeguard for the maintenance of the splendid, untarnished traditions of its redoubtable past. "I am certain," continued Asquith, "that they can be counted upon from the highest to the lowest without exception, to undertake duties which they may be required to discharge." The Army in this country is not a practical political instrument, and has no place in the framing of policy, or the moulding of our laws. (Cheers). The Prime Minister said it was his duty in the post which he had assumed, by searching personal enquiry with the co-operation upon which he could count, to see that the Army was fit in every shifting condition, for its primary and elementary duty. The Army would hear nothing of politics from him. He expected to hear nothing of politics from the Army. (Cheers). Responsibility for the preservation of domestic peace, continued the Prime Minister, lay with the magistrates and police. Under normal conditions the army could not, and ought not, to be invoked by the civil power. It was only in emergencies which were happily rare that any such call could be addressed to the army. When such occasion arose it was the duty of the soldier, as it was the duty of civilians to comply with the demands of the civil power, but these present tory doctrines struck at the very root, not only of army discipline, but of democratic government. Where did they lead to? They set a precedent, which was capable of an infinite number of applications, and was much more dangerous in its consequences, than the one which went before it. If the Government was to recognize the existence of a dispensing and discriminating power they must recognize it not only in officers but in men, not only in the army but in everybody. At a public meeting two years ago in this same hall he had described Tory doctrines as furnishing the complete grammar of anarchy. (Cheers). He repeated now that these new dogmas, countersigned by Tory leaders, would be invoked whenever the spirit of lawlessness undertook to block the ordered machinery of self-governing society.

Turning to the question of Home Rule, Mr. Asquith said: The Bill under the Parliament Act, which was not intended to be a dead letter, was far advanced on its road to the Statute Book. There was neither force nor plausibility in theory, electors were not left in the dark regarding the Government's intentions to take up Home Rule. His supposed silence on that topic was a favorite theme with Bonar Law. Asquith quoted from a speech which he delivered at St. Andrew's on December 7th, 1910, in which he dealt exclusively with Home Rule. We believe that settlement by consent is in the interests of the country, and both great political parties, continued the Premier, those who believe in Home Rule, do not desire to see the new system, started under the most unfavorable conditions, amidst clouds and darkness and civil turmoil. On the other hand those who wish Home Rule is repugnant cannot face with equanimity problems which the Government of Ireland presents, if by misadventure the new hopes and expectations of four-fifths of the Irish people were to be dashed to the ground. Asquith recapitulated his temporary exclusion plan. While admitting its disadvantages, he said it had great merit, it at least got rid of any question of coercion and gave the population concerned the immediate arbitrament of ballot. "I am anxious for peace, and, I say this for both sides, it must be peace with honor." In any settlement that is to come we must securely place the Home Rule Bill on the Statute Book, we hope and think that such is not incompatible with providing careful provisions to meet the convictions and susceptibilities of the minority. I firmly believe that in time, after experience, there will be a convergence of forces in the direction of complete Irish unity. They must see some process applied with necessary variations, applied without undue delay, to other parts of the United Kingdom. The conviction that such reconstruction and constitutional organization would lead to greater efficiency in the conduct both of a local and im-

A Paris Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

In Paris the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked for article is proven every day.

The French are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA and is being sold with a guarantee to cure dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant dressing, and is sold by your druggist. A large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50 cents.

perial intrests, and the quickened patriotism of every party would stimulate the larger patriotism of the whole. Asquith dealt briefly with other subjects of political importance such as the Welsh Disestablishment, Plural voting and rating problems. He said there remained one very serious point to be emphasized. If they studied the by-elections of the last two years they would find, with perhaps one exception, every loss to Liberals has been due to split forces. On Home Rule the by-elections had pronounced with an overwhelming majority in favor of the Government policy, and it was indeed a melancholy thing for those whose hearts were bound up in the future prospects of wise democratic legislation, to find the democratic army split. It was time that such a state of things came to an end. It would surely be childish if in great issues before them which could only be brought to success by unity, loyal co-operation they should allow comparatively trivial differences upon issues not vital, to divide forces, which, united, were irresistible.

A Word In Season.

"I think this eczema will drive me crazy some day; always itching, burning, painful; relief, not speak of cure, seems impossible. It will set me off one of these days."

It will not, if you follow my advice. Go to your druggist and buy a box of Zylex, and use it according to directions. Eczema cannot long remain when it is used. I've tried it myself, and you should wash with Zylex Soap. That will prevent its coming back again."

Zylex Ointment (50c.) and Soap 25c. can be bought at your druggist's.

THE GREATER QUESTION.

At this season of the year for Farmers with up-to-date ideas is, what are the best means to use to get the best returns from the land.

Fertilizers must be used liberally if large returns are looked for. There are several good chemical fertilizers which may be recommended, but Sulphate of Ammonia has been proved to give the best returns, and is the most valuable and economical source of nitrogen for agricultural purposes.

For vegetables, grass, and all leafy crops, about one and a half cwt. per acre is the best quantity to use, and this should be applied when the plant is making its growth, as well as before sowing the seed.

If a liquid manure is preferred, a 1/4 oz. of Sulphate to one gallon of water should be used, and applied once a week for a month. This quantity should not be exceeded.

It is a good plan to reduce the Sulphate to a fine powder, and mix with four or more times its own bulk, for the purpose of diluting the manure, which is very powerful.

For potatoes the following mixture is strongly recommended:—
40 lbs. Superphosphate,
26 lbs. Fine bone meal,
10 lbs. Carbonate of Magnesia,
15 lbs. Sulphate of Potash,
21 lbs. SULPHATE OF AMMONIA.

1 cwt.

Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 45 square yards.

The use of Carbonate of Magnesia, in conjunction with Sulphate of Ammonia, is of great importance in potato culture.

For turnips use the following:—

66 lbs. Superphosphate,
13 lbs. Fine bone meal,
13 lbs. Sulphate of Potash,
20 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt.

Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to square yards.

Sulphate of Ammonia of excellent quality is now made by the St. John's Gas Light Company, and may be obtained on very reasonable terms.

Full particulars may be obtained at the Gas Works, or at the Board of Trade Building. Ask for special booklet on the use of Sulphate, it will be found of great value in securing the heaviest crops.
