YESTERDAY'S LATE MESSAGES

FRENCH POLITICAL SITUATION ACUTE

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Poincaré Cabinet, with M. Caillaux alone absent from leaving role, will confront Parliament to-morrow in an atmosphere which friends and foes alike agree is charged with electricity. Not since the Viviani Ministry set out to discuss war in August, 1914, has any French Government been faced by a more momentous situation. Syria looms like a heavy cloud destined to obscure the bright sun of Locarno, and France's internal financial problems were never more acute.

TURKS CROSSING SYRIA TO MOSUL

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Beirut, Syria, states that large bodies of Turkish troops are moving toward Mosul, crossing Syria with the permission of the French Government. The British have sent a protest to France. Other despatches declare that the situation in Syria is now out of hand of authority, and brigands are terrorizing whole communities.

LATEST CANADIAN ELECTION RE- TURNS

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—With only Queen's, P.E.I. in doubt at nine o'clock to-night the Canadian Press reported the following Tally: Liberals, 100; Conservatives, 117; Progressives, 24; Labour, 2; Independent, 1; doubtful, 1. Total, 245.

ELLERDALE AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, Nov. 2.—The Dutch steamer Ellerdale, after rounding in Belle Isle Strait and being beached for repairs at St. Anthony, Nfld., arrived here to-day under her own power, and will be surveyed. The ship was on a voyage from Montreal to Hull, England, when laden, when she stranded on October 4th.

DAMASCUS BOMBARDED BY FRENCH

HAIFA, Palestine, Nov. 2.—One-eighth of Damascus was destroyed by the recent French bombardment, and the casualties reached five thousand, according to the most recent reports. No British were killed.

SIR JAMES LOUGHEED DEAD

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Senator Sir James Lougheed died here this morning, aged 71 years. He has been a member of the Senate since 1889 and was the leader of the Conservative group.

KING DOES NOT BELIEVE HIS PLANS

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Premier King made no announcement when the Cabinet rose shortly before six o'clock this evening. "We were just talking over the situation," he said in answer to a question. "I have nothing to say until I have seen the Governor-General." The impression prevailed, however, that a decision was reached, and that the Government intends to meet Parliament, instead of resigning, immediately.

S.P.A. Appreciation OF CITIZENS' HUMANITY ACTS.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—The following Resolution was passed at the last monthly meeting of the Directors of this Society, and as the specific instances of humane treatment referred to therein are of such an exemplary character I am directed to ask that you kindly publish same in your esteemed paper.

Yours truly,
J. G. MUIR,
Hon. Secretary.

WHEREAS THE Directors of the Society for Protection of Animals in Regu- lar meeting assembled have learned

1. That an aged and suffering horse was purchased in the Auction Market by Messrs. Patrick G. Gage and Peter Joy, and at their request humanely put to death under the direction of the Society's Inspector, and
2. That Hon. W. J. Ellis and Messrs. Foster and Shields, betwixt owners of express horses that had developed incurable ailments, were justly decided to have the animals destroyed in preference to letting them be sold into other hands, and
3. That several unnamed ladies at their own expense purchased from a city cabman a horse that was blind and crippled and had been humanely destroyed.

BE IT RESOLVED that the Directors hereby place on record their commendation and appreciation of the highly humane actions of these ladies and gentlemen, whose kindly interest in animals prompted them to such exemplary instances of humane treatment.

The Luby Still Going Strong

This talented and ambitious who to-night made their appearance at the popular Star Theatre here with the best wishes of the thousands of patrons of this theatre for their continued success. A week ago last evening they made their bow to the public, and that they have played all during their engagement is evidenced by the large and appreciative audiences that attend each night. Last evening was no exception, and the Luby's, O'Toole and MacDonald brought forth rounds of applause, as this class of entertainment is seldom seen here.

Jack Luby in his rendition of the popular illustrated songs, "Waiting for You," and "Happy Days" was a rare treat, and his sweet singing being so clear and distinct that it was not pleasing as it has been since the engagement.

Mr. Holman in his singing of "Mother Macgregor," showed himself to be a master of the situation, and was obliged to respond to an encore. For this he sang Harry Lauder's "Sunday Mornin'" and this again won for him a big hand.

In the picture part of the program Corinne Griffith in the first National attraction, "Lovers' Whispers," again proved herself the star of the movies, and in the role of "Elisabeth" she had a part that gave her the opportunity of displaying her wonderful ability. The entire performance is being repeated this evening, when those who were unable to attend last evening should make every effort to do so.

CONFEDERATION LIFE.

Thinks Doctor's Training Lacking

SIR WILLIAM ARBUTHNOT LANE
SAYS PROFESSION LIKE KIN-DERGARTEN.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—(P.)—Drastic criticism of the present methods of educating young men for the medical profession was voiced yesterday before the 50th annual clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons by Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, of London, England.

"I am against the whole medical profession as it exists to-day," said Sir William. "It is like a kindergarten. The present form of medical education reminds me of what I see in the farmyard, where in order to fatten a chicken the farm wife stuffs food down its throat, confident that it will digest it. Such is the case in the training of surgeons. Students know a little of everything and not much of anything. It is a kindergarten education. I hope that the two great English-speaking nations will unite in producing a graduate school for surgeons that is really worthy of the name. There is no such school in either England or America to-day."

Sir William added that he is attempting to make London the centre of post-graduate work all over the world, "not merely for selfish reasons," but "because I believe that London is best suited for such work."

The Double Murder at Rougemont

POLICE BELIEVE DOGS CAN FIND KILLER OF TWO.

Rumor Connects Woman With Brutal
Double Murder—$1,000 Reward
Offered.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Having made no apparent headway towards the solution of the double-slaying at Rougemont last week-end, when Charles and Sarah Bernard were battered to death with some blunt instrument in their homes over the Banque Canadienne Nationale, of which Mr. Bernard was manager, provincial detectives engaged on the case have decided to use bloodhounds in an endeavour to follow the now invisible track left by the murderer, who escaped from the house and made off through the field. When first discovered the tracks bore unmistakable marks of blood, but after following for several hundred yards the investigators lost them, owing to the snow and rain that had fallen. However, it is hoped that the dogs, after being given the scent of the victims' garments and the articles handled by the assassin, may be able to lead the detectives to at least the point where he boarded a train or automobile.

Many Rumors.
In some quarters the belief was expressed that the crime was committed by a woman, but few people take this view. The murderer is pointed out by those familiar with the condition of the house and bodies, must have been an exceptionally strong man or a maniac, for everything pointed to most terrific struggle having taken place between the Bernard's and their antagonist.

To-day was largely spent by detectives following futile clues, for the offer of a thousand-dollar reward by the Provincial Government has inspired added zest in the case and many persons are coming forward with information.

French Motor Industry

France's foreign trade in passenger automobiles and trucks has shown a notable advance during the first eight months of the current year when compared with the same period in 1924. Cars imported since the beginning of this year numbered 12,218, representing a total value of 101,444,000 francs as against 71,352,000 francs and 8,470 cars in 1924.

On the other hand France's exports in motor cars of all categories also show an advance, according to advances received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its French Information Service, totalling 40,139 motor cars representing a sum of 1,306,988,000 francs, as against 31,191 cars and $76,098,000 francs for the same period in 1924.

Ypres During the War

Ypres, which is being shown for a season at the Marble Arch Pavilion, aims at being an epic, but only succeeded to the extent of being an efficient chronicle.

This film is likely to disappoint those who took part in the war because, although it is presumed that plenty of stirring "official" films were available, only moderate examples have been selected for incorporation in the production. Moreover, it will probably disappoint those who, although they did not take part in the war, yet conceived their own ideas about it, since it is continually melodramatic and very seldom dramatic.

For those, however, who are content with a pedestrian reconstruction of these stirring events there will be plenty of interest in the film, for the scenes are carefully put together. Made by British International Films, and distributed by New Era Films (in conjunction we are told, with the War Office), it was decided that the best method of treatment that could be adopted in the making of a film like this would be to follow the outstanding episodes of the history of Ypres during the war. According to this plan the episodes chosen were six—the opening of the First Battle of Ypres, the capture of Hill 60, the Second Battle of Ypres, the era of trench warfare, the assault on Messines Ridge, and the Battle of Passchendaele.

Conditions in Honan Are Serious

DRASTIC METHODS ARE BEING EMPLOYED TO KEEP THE POP-ULATION UNDER CONTROL.

PEKING, Oct. 29.—Serious conditions in Honan Province where poorly fed and ill-disciplined troops, estimated to number 300,000, are said to be urging their leaders to action, are reported by foreigners arriving here from the Province.

They report that the troops have not been paid for a long time and that most of them are still in summer clothing, since winter uniforms are not available. Furthermore the people are suffering from requisitions by the military, heavy taxation, looting by the soldiers and depredations by bandits. Drastic methods are being employed to keep the population under control, it is reported, and the heads of several persons recently decapitated are being exhibited in the railway stations at Kaifeng, the provincial capital, and Chong Chow, a railway junction on the Peking-Hankow line.

Yueh Wu Chun, Governor of the Province, who is an ally of General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General," is said to desire peace, but he may be forced to take part in the civil war and attack the neighboring provinces in order to get rid of his superfluous troops. Some of his subordinate Generals are known to desire to cast the lot of the province in with the alliance of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, while others are opposed to the alliance.

Therefore, the foreigners report, it is possible that there will be a coup d'état at Kaifeng against Governor Yueh, followed by fighting with the province as preliminary to operations against Hsien's neighbors.

(The neighboring force nearest to Honan is that of Marshal Chiang Tse-lin in the Hsichow region, with which Kaifeng is joined by the Lang-hair railway.)
