LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Ingersoll's Seer and Poet Again Heard From.

A Young Lady's Quaint Description of Sandwich Island Scenery and Customs.

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

I am not trespassing too much on your valuable space, I would observe that I have no desire to pose as a seer to whom the sun and moon are subject to the whims of the weather.

But since you published a few lines from a poem I had written August, 1888, and published at that time on the great future of British North America.

Soon shall the whole of British America be united by railroads as well as by law.

And now we find in a romance by the Marquis of Lorne in a story of the North-west the following passage:

We were off by the Grand Trunk Railway to Detroit and Chicago, and the Canadian Pacific Railway was in the air, and at last, hidden away in the brains of some enthusiastic gentlemen who were looking upon having more imagination than balance, their composition.

Though we have always taken more interest in dairy matters than on any other theme, and when the farmers were threatened with the loss of their cows, it has gone down to about 8 cents ever since. We give a short extract from a poem we have published when to sell farm produce:

Grain, it should be sold in the fall, Even if the price it should be small; For it keeps it till the spring, Or it times a low price it will bring.

The same remarks apply to cheese, and to the Editor of the Advertiser:

Then, careful man, you have to hire a great expense to keep up the price.

We earnestly hope that as there is an enormous stock of cheese in this Province at present that the price will rise sufficiently high to justify them in keeping it over; as the prices are falling at present the losses to the Province will be into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. But it is to be desired along the Thames and its tributary streams that the price advances.

Where milk doth so abundant flow, Dairy land of Ontario.

Perdon my intrusion, and I will remain, yours truly, JAMES MCINTYRE.

Ingersoll, Feb. 3.

A letter from J. McInnis.

Thinking that the extracts from a letter received to-day from young friend of mine at present residing in Honolulu, H. I., might prove interesting to your junior readers, I enclose them.

HONOLULU, H. I., Jan. 3, 1890.

The natives here are known as Kanakas—a word which means a slave. These people are not black but more of a copper color than the negroes. They are very intelligent, some being black as negroes and some varying in color as white as white men. They are a very mixed race, and whether the man is a real native or a half-breed, he is a very intelligent and will cheerfully share his real native or half-breed with you. The natives of this island are the same, and the same language, and as far as I can find out, they are a better looking people than I have ever seen. Many of the Kanakas are very wealthy, but I cannot get to like the sight of them. Many of them are very intelligent, and some are very rich. They are very intelligent, and some are very rich. They are very intelligent, and some are very rich.

There is a large number of them here, and they are very intelligent, and some are very rich. They are very intelligent, and some are very rich. They are very intelligent, and some are very rich.
