

They are all in apparent ill-humour, so we will screen them off from our laughing, happy band, as we rise to make our final curtsy and retire behind the curtain of our private, domestic lives.

