The Markets.

Barley.

The market is absolutely stagnant. Prices have not changed either locally, across the line or abroad. Consequently nothing new to report.

There is nothing especially to note in the hop market. Local prices are unchanged, and there is not much prospect of an immediate change unless it arises from the fact that not a few American and English buyers are undoubtedly lay ing in a two years' general stock.

The London Times says :

The year as a whole has certainly been The year as a whole has certainly been distinctly disappointing, and latterly especially for growers, sales having been made at continually receding prices, the depreciation on the year being from 45 per cent, to 70 per cent, the inferior descriptions suffering most. During the first the mouth business wanted to assume the prostable business wanted to assume the prostable business wanted to assume the prostable p few months business was quiet, consumers buying only to fill requirements, largely owing to heavy arrivals of Pacifics largely owing to heavy arrivals of Pacifics and Californians, for which lower pruces were readily accepted, values of English betrayet irregularity, and from month to month purchases could be made on easier terms. The few Continentals which were available—Burgundys and Hollidam for example—made very full prices, but already in March English more are accepted in the control of th In April rather more activity in the de-mand exposed the fact that stocks were mand exposed the fact that stocks were extremely small, with nothing really gilt-edged offering, hence a recovery of 5s, was made, the finest East Kent goldings standing at £7 7s., and others at £5 10s. upwards, Californians at the same time quoting £4 to £5. A considerable clear-ance of all the better lots available was ance of all the better lots available made at £5 12s. to £6 6s., but renewed downward progress was made in June owing to free arrivals of Californians, which were sold at 70s. to 90s. The next few months, as is always the case, were largely governed by crop and weather reports, but these were generally favorable, with a noticeable absence of insect pest and mould, while at the same time there was little doubt that a considerable larger was little doubt that a considerable larger acreage had been planted both here and on the Continent. The first pocket of new English hops reached the Borough on August 6, and the arrivals afterwards being of fair to good quality, a quiet trade ensued at from 40s. to 90s., really sound useful lots making 50s. to 60s. Quite a brisk trade was put through in Septem-ber and October, the later-picked hops recoving disappointing, and Continental ber and October, the later-picked hops proving disappointing, and Continental reports indicating that crops as coming forward damp and heated, Washington State Sprind has fallen somewhat short of expectation, while the New York crops as a stated to be larger than usual but of indifferent quality, but this has certainly not been borne out by events, as really choice States are absolutely unobtainable, whether here or in New York. The demand on the Continent was such that very little came to hand here, and by the middle of November shipments from that quarter practically ceased, the market there being strong and active at 10s. to 20s. above London parities. In spite of the palpable scarcity of choice hops, whether English, Continental, or American, trade progressed quietly on the whole, with no apparent lifting of the very moderate level of values, and all discolored indifferent parcels were left severely alone. At present, in spite of the firmness evidenced for good parcels, the market is the lowest in the world, and, judging from the fact that absolutely no more Continentals are available, that all choice American growths are scarce, and that the bulk of the better English have already passed into consumers hands, it would seem not unlikely that London and foreign parities should more nearly approach; but, on the other hand, the large stocks of in-ferior quality have to be reckoned with, and these may prove too unwieldy to admit of appreciably enhanced figures being
